FOUR REALTY DEALS TOTAL FIVE MILLION

Four real estate transactions involving a total of nearly five million dollars were announced by the Owl Drug Company in Oakland today. The retail locations have been purchased outright for a total of $975,000, and two other retail buildings have been leased for long terms of years. The two transfers of real estate concern the Uhl Estate property at Fourteenth and Washington streets, and the four lots at the corner of Sixteenth street and Telegraph avenue.

The Uhl Estate property, 75 feet on Fourteenth street, and 60 feet on Washington street, was purchased at a reported consideration of $475,000. The corner building, a two-story structure, is occupied at present by the Owl Drug company.

COMPANY TO ERECT CLASS A BUILDING.

The four lots at Sixteenth street and Telegraph avenue front 105 feet on Telegraph and 100 feet on Sixteenth street. The property, formerly owned by Frank H. Proctor, was purchased from him, through Edgar A. Jones, realty operator, at a price of approximately half a million dollars. It is the plan of the Owl Drug company to erect a Class A building on this property, the ground floor of which will be occupied by one of their retail stores, and the other floors of which will be leased.

One of the largest lease deals ever made in Oakland was consummated yesterday by the Owl Drug Company, when it signed a 99-year lease on the northwest corner of Fifteenth and Franklin streets, for a consideration that will amount to three million dollars. The property, on which stands at present a one-story structure, is 100 feet square. The lease was negotiated by Edgar A. Jones and the Alameda Investment company.

WILL USE SITE TO HOUSE RETAIL STORE.

The Owl Drug Company plans to erect a large modern building on this property also, but definite plans are still undecided. It is certain, however, that the location will be at least partly used to house a retail store for the company. For the present the seven tenants occupying the property will not be disturbed.

A long-term lease on the entire building at Thirteenth street and Broadway, for which the total rentals will amount to more than half a million dollars, was also concluded yesterday. The Owl Drug Company operates a retail store in the building at present. The property fronts 61½ feet on Broadway and 90 feet on Thirteenth street. The company will remodel the building in the near future.

CANADA TO MEXICO PLANE REFUELED

Champion Army Pilots Form Flying Filling Station Over Eugene, Ore.

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 25.—Traveling at a mile a minute speed, an army airplane piloted by Captain Lowell Smith and Lieut. John T. Richter was refueled in the air above Eugene this morning.

The plane was refueled here by a second army plane piloted by Lieuts. E. W. Seifert and Virgil Hines, who arrived last night to take charge of the arrangements for the refueling. The four flyers are the pioneers who first achieved refueling in mid-air last August at San Diego.

Passing over Salem, Ore., at 9:32 this morning, word was flashed here to the aviation field southwest of the city and at 9:45 the refueling plane took to the air. It met the racing plane above Irving, Ore., at 10:02, and by the time the northwestern part of Eugene was reached, at 10:07, the refueling had been completed and the planes broke contact.

With the tank refilled with gasoline, the speeding airplane, which left the Canadian border early today, hoping to make a non-stop flight from Canada to Mexico, about 1700 miles, continued on south, its engine purring steadily and maintaining the schedule laid out for it.

The aircraft will be refueled again at Sacramento, Calif., this afternoon and is expected to reach the Mexican border late today.

Smith and Richter are using the same plane in which they set the new world record for continuous flying when, in August, they remained aloft 37 hours.

STATE CAPITOL, OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 25.—Representative J. W. Callahan, a farmer-labor member of the Oklahoma house of representatives, was beaten and thrown bodily out of the house chambers this afternoon, when he made charges against the character of his fellow members, and declared that Grand Dragon N. C. Jewett, of the Oklahoma realm of the Ku Klux Klan, dictated to the majority what legislation should be adopted and what should not.

Instantly Representative Jess Pullen leaped for him with the cry: "That's a black lie!"

Pullen caught Callahan by the throat and bore him to the floor, as a score of enraged members crowded about.

They lifted Callahan to his feet and dragged him to the door, literally throwing him out.

The action was so unexpected that the sergeant-at-arms could not reach the scene, but half a dozen of the members succeeded in restoring order.

The members, pale and trembling, returned to their seats, and under command of Speaker Pro Tem Harper the sergeant-at-arms took charge of the membership.

EX-PREMIER SEES HOPE IN U. S. ACTION

By L. C. MARTIN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—There is no doubt of the "complete readiness of the American people to support any step their government may take" toward bringing about a European settlement, Lloyd George asserted on his arrival here today after a tour on which he has talked with men of every shade of political opinion.

"The American public mind is ripe for whatever action is deemed wise by your government," he said. "I've no doubt at all of the people's complete readiness to follow their government in that regard."

Just what steps the United tSates should take, Lloyd George said was not for him to say at this time. He obviously wished to save any suggestions of that sort for his conference with Secretary of State Hughes.

SAYS U. S. COULD INFLUENCE FRANCE.

"There are ways," he said, when asked how the United States could get Franee to give favorable consideration to the Hughes plan for settling the reparations problem. "I think I could find a way."

American intervention to help save Europe might bring certain difficulties to this country, Lloyd George admitted.

"With nations, as with individuals," he said, "nothing worth while is accomplished without some difficulty."

But American action could not possibly involve this nation in danger of war, he said, emphatically. "Who would fight you?" he asked.

COULD HAVE ENDED WORLD WAR QUICKER.

"We thought in 1914 that war was impossible," someone told him.

"Did you? Well, we didn't, and if you over here had realized that sooner the war would have been over quicker."

Lloyd George went to his hotel, where William J. Bryan called on him. They are old friends.

Lloyd George arrived at the White House at 1 p. m. for the luncheon arranged in his honor by President Coolidge. The entire cabinet was present.

U. S. Offers Aid To End Tangles On Reparations

Hughes Note Promises Co-operation in Immediate Practical Solution.

LONDON, Oct. 25 (By the Associated Press).—By common consent the state department in Washington and the British foreign office, will issue tonight for publication two important telegrams exchanged between Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, and Secretary of State Hughes, concerning an international conference on reparations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (By United Press).—Secretary of State Hughes has despatched a note to the British government with reference to the reparations problem, it was learned today from a source usually reliable. Among other statements the note is understood to make these points:

1. The United States regards the European situation as most grave.

2. It is imperative that some practicable plan be put into effect immediately to solve the reparations problem.

3. The United States government stands ready to aid in such a settlement in any possible practicable way.

The note, it is understood, stated that in the opinion of this government, the reparations controversy is at the bottom of the whole trouble in Europe today and that it must be eliminated before Europe can go forward to recuperation.

As yet it is not known definitely whether any actual detailed step is proposed by the American government for a reparations settlement.

However, it is understood that the communication gives a complete exposition of the American attitude toward the European crisis and makes known definitely the willingness and readiness of this country to aid in a settlement.

The step comes simultaneously with the arrival in Washington of Lloyd George, who is seeking cooperation of the United States in the settlement of Europe's ills.

KAISER'S HEIR ASKS TO RETURN

Berlin Cabinet Is Debating Question; Holland Gives Her Consent.

By CARD D. GROAT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The former German crown prince has urgently requested that he be allowed to return to Germany, it was learned today.

After vigorous correspondence between the prince and Chancellor Stresemann the chancellor laid the matter before one of the recent numerous sittings of the cabinet for a decision.

Socialists are considerably embarrassed by the appeal and no decision has been reached yet. Some members of the cabinet admit, however, they cannot advance any especially good reason why the prince should not return.

The Dutch government has agreed to the prince's request to leave Holland, it was understood, on condition he will not ask to return to his refuge in Wieringen.

The prince, as he still is called by most Germans, urged consideration of his former arguments. As a German citizen, the prince argued, he cannot be refused a shelter in his home land.

The prince said he would enter Germany quietly by motorcar, avoiding any ovations. In addition, he said in substance:

"In these trying times, as a loyal German, I want to be in my home country to participate in the reconstruction of the fatherland."

Foreign observers said it was conceivable the application might be acted pon favorably, although it was admitted the prince's presence in Germany might be hailed a rallying signal for the monarchists.

Bones of Men Centuries Older Than Indians Found on Coast

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Indians resembling the Cro-Magnon man inhabited the shores of the Pacific at an age earlier by many centuries than ever yet established by archaeologists, according to claims made here yesterday following the discovery of important specimens in excavating Burton Mound, early home of the Santa Barbara Indians. The explorations are being made by J. P. Harrington of the Smithaonian Institution of Washington, D. C.

The skeletons unearthed by Harrington are asserted to be remains of an age that dates beyond that of any other specimens uncovered during the excavations, which have covered a period of six months.

Lying on the surface of the hardpan beneath 44 inches of an aeolian deposit of loam, which shows no signs of having been dug into by the Indians during the period of the century-old graves hitherto excavated, was found a skull, with brow abthick, the various plates of the normally retreating and very skull, coming apart, showed the thickness. The brow ridges are prominent; the face is very long and the jaw massive. The profile is almost gorilla-like.

The skeleton accompanying the skull was very fragile, the bones almost dropping to pieces, and had to be removed with the greatest care because of their disintegrated condition.

Beside this skeleton was found another of the same type, also resting on the hardpan at the same level. The skull of this second skeleton had crumbled, but was very thick. The accompanying bones were in powdery condition.

Accompanying the first skeleton was a beautiful black obsidian spearhead, four and a half inches long and one and five-eighths inches wide, square ended. With the other skeleton was found a similar spearhead, but having notched end and measuring with tip broken off three and a half inches in length and one and five-eighths in width.

Both skeletons were prone with head to the east and are of a distinct type of Indians, antedating those of the later cemetery.

New Irrigation Plan Offered At Tulare

HANFORD, Calif., Oct. 25.—An alternative for the plan proposed by the Tulare Lake water storage district now in process of formation was evolved here at a meeting of landowners in the Tulare Lake basin who desire to "protect their present water rights," and suggest a method of organization that will retain the identity of each of the several reclamation districts designed for inclusion in the conservation district which virtually all landowners agree is a desirable engineering project.

Under the original plan upon which a hearing before State Engineer W. F. McClure is fixed for December 7, in this city, there would be a general consolidation of reclamation districts, embracing approximately 176,000 acres. A reservoir would be constructed in the center of the lake bottom to impound the freshet waters of Kings, Kern and Tule rivers. The impounded water would be used as a source of supply for a general irrigation system.

By the plan proposed today each reclamation district would remain intact as a unit with representation in the storage district organization. Each unit would elect its own representative, whereas with the original plan the controlling board would be elected at large. The new plan will be submitted into the definite proposal to make to the meeting set to be held here December 7.

BRANDER SAYS MRS. STOKES WAS NOT AT HIS HOME

Manufacturer Declares She Never Visited Bethel With or Without Wallace.

By JACK CARBERRY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The defense assault, directed by Helen Elwood Stokes against the divorce evidence built up against her by her 73-year-old millionaire husband, William Earl Dodge Stokes, continued today.

Thomas Brander, millionaire brush manufacturer, at whose home at Bethel, Conn., six of Stokes' negro witnesses swore they saw Mrs. Stokes in company with Edgar T. Wallace, San Francisco oil man, was the first witness this morning.

"I knew Mrs. Stokes before her marriage—she is a friend of my wife and myself. General Nelson Miles introduced us.

"I can say positively that Mrs. Stokes was never in my home in Bethel, either with Wallace, alone, or with anybody else."

The negro witnesses for Stokes swore they saw a picture of Mrs. Stokes on the wall of Brander's home.

"The picture identified as that of Mrs. Stokes is a photograph of a Mrs. Ross, now dead, and her two children—a woman who does not even resemble Mrs. Stokes," Brander said.

He produced the photograph to the dismay of Stokes' counsel.

"I never saw Mrs. Stokes and Wallace together in my life," the witness said, adding that he had known Wallace for a long time and that he also knew W. Leon Pepperman.

ONE BANK BANDIT SUSPECT HELD AS OAKLAND GUNMAN

Policeman, Robbed, Beaten by Five, Identifies Colle as Thug.

Guido Colle, age 29, one of the four men arrested in Portland, Ore., Tuesday night on suspicion that they recently robbed the West Oakland branch of the Oakland Bank of more than $16,000, was identified today by Patrolman A. D. Pierce of the local department as one of the gangsters who on September 30 held him up and robbed him of his valuables, handcuffs and pistol.

Pierce today was shown photographs of the four men, and told Captain of Detectives Richard V. McSorley that he recognized Colle as one of the highwaymen.

The efforts of the police to connect the men with the Oakland Bank robbery, however, met with little success, when employees of the institution who faced the guns of the robbers declared that they did not look like the men who perpetrated that crime.

McSorley today wired Police Chief L. V. Jenkins of Portland to hold Colle for return to this city, and declared that he would secure "John Doe" warrants for the other three men until Pierce arrived in Portland and more closely scrutinized them. The other men held in the northern city are Leslie and Robert Owens.

Pierce was held up on the night of September 30, while patroling his beat in East Oakland by five men, who, after relieving him of his handcuffs, pistol, star and valuables, locked his hands behind him with his own handcuffs and drove away.

Example Best Aid to Europe, Says E. H. Gary

By H. P. MALKUS,
International News Service Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Painting a gloomy picture of Europe, whose fate he declared a "merciful God had not yet disclosed," Elbert H. Gary, president of the American Steel and Iron Institute, declared today America could help only by example. In this desperate situation, Judge Gary said, speaking at the annual dinner of the Iron and Steel Institute, the United States is independent so far as business and prosperity are concerned. The business outlook for this country, he asserted, is excellent.

Of Europe, Judge Gary said:

"Reparations have not been made; international enmities are at fever heat. Governments have been overthrown and still others are threatened. Multitudes have been and are starving.

"National money has become valueless. Countries are drifting—some toward destruction. Suspicion, hate, revenge, brutality and crime are in evidence throughout Europe."

It is doubtful if the United States government can, at present, be of much assistance in attempts to restore the equilibrium of Europe, Gary declared.

"Voluntary advice or sympathy just now would not be acceptable," he said. "Practically, we can benefit only by example."

Fortunately, he added, European atmosphere and conditions do not dominate affairs of America, "although the seas are not wide enough to separate us from the influences of disaster in Europe."

PARIS, Oct. 25.—France will ignore Germany's latest request for resumption of conversations for a settlement of the reparations problem, Premier Poincare told the cabinet today.

There will be no weakening in the French attitude of uncompromising firmness toward the German Reich, Poincare indicated.

Despite the grave internal situation in Germany, France will hold to her program of complete enforcement of the treaty of Versailles.

With France in complete controls of the reparations commission, there seems little doubt that the commission will reject the German appeal, declaring Germany's inability to pay at present and asking appointment of a commission of experts to determine her future capacity.

PAJAMAS ENJOY SUPREMACY; DUST COVERS 'NIGTHIES'

Youth Demands Modern Slumber Apparel, But Age Spurns Change.

By FRANCES MONTGOMERY.

Seeing is believing, but the next best way to find out is to ask the man who sells 'em. All of which means that Mrs. Goozlems' husband told Mrs. Blah's husband that old man Hokum had read in the trade journals that night shirts were coming back fast and that pajamas were doomed. The report said nothing about what the pajamas were doomed to, but we take it to mean that as a sleeping garment for the male contingent the pajama is bound to be nix. In other words—yes, we have no pajamas.

And so there was nothing to do but ask the "gents' furnisher." Old man Hokum certainly must not have been wearing his best reading glasses, or else it was this year's trade journal, for in most every nightwear department the pajamas were in the showcase, their pastel shades glimmering for the world's benefit, while the nightshirts were buried on the topmost shelf under mountains of dust.

UNDER THE DUST.

"Nightshirts?" smiled one local dealer, "pointing to the vicinity of the ceiling, "the boxes of nightshirts on that top shelf have not been disturbed for two years. The only fellows who come in here for nightshirts are funny old men, or some guy who's being rushed to a hospital. We can always tell the nightshirt customer. The next fellow who comes in for one will have to wait till we blast the dust off of them."

It is the younger generation who parades the pajamas, and the grandpas usually who perambulate the nightgowns. So says another dealer, who also sells them.

"The nightgowns are behind the counter, what few there are, but the pink, blue, yellow and lavender pajamas repose conspicuously in piles of a dozen in the best lighted showcase."

ANOTHER VIEW.

I guess that settles the question of demand for the nightshirt. At least, in Oakland it just isn't being done. However, there is an element of trade we find when statistics are further perused, which differs with the trades places. For instance, H. L. Alkus throws a ray of light on the tale of the night shirt.

"The demand for nightgowns and pajamas—it's 50-50," said Alkus," because, while the younger generation are sure to demand the pajamas, the foreign element make the demand even, for they invariably buy the old-fashioned nightgown."

Viva la nghtshirt, anyway, even if it isn't goodnight for the pajamas!

Episcopal Bazaar Featured by Play

JOHNSON CHARGES STATE NEGLECT

FRESNO, Oct. 25. — Taking the Richardson administration to task for its attitude toward the state institutions for the blind and maimed and bitterly opposing entering the league of nations by "sneaking in the back door," or any other way, United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, in an address before members of the Fresno Exchange clubs of the city at hotel Fresno yesterday, commended the state institutions to those who would work for relief of human suffering at home as having a prior claim over Europe for aid.

"There have been some ghastly mistakes made in this state," Senator Johnson said. "I speak neither politically nor personally. I recently visited the school for the blind in Berkeley, where the state has been caring for those little children who are most unfortunate. I saw the work that was being done, and I find that this state institution is marking time, is unable to make the progress that it should make, and is unable to take care of the blind and deaf and dumb little children because of lack of funds.

"The institution in Berkeley has a prior claim for aid over Europe, for it is a blot upon the escutcheon of this great state.

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 25.—Extensive highway improvements at Aptos are under consideration by the County Board and if plans go through as outlined, the road at Aptos will be straightened out by cutting a tunnel through east of Aptos on Valencia creek to straighten the creek out, after which a fill, from dirt which will be available will be made over the creek. The bridge and railroad crossing in town, with the dangerous curve leading to the Valencia bridge, will be entirely eliminated.

The new line of highway will follow the old highway used about 30 years ago, according to the County Engineer's office.

BAY REGION AT MERCY OF ENEMY, GENERAL STATES

Coast Defenses Powerless to Resist Attack. Todd Charges.

With only a few guns capable of more than 18,000 yards range, with those few guns undermanned and the men undertrained, with practically no air defense worthy of the name, the San Francisco bay region would be practically defenseless today in case of an attack by a foreign naval or air fleet, according to a statement issued from army headquarters, Presidio, yesterday by Brigadier-General Henry D. Todd Jr., recently appointed commander of the Ninth coast artillery district, which comprises all the coast defenses of the United States on the Pacific coast.

General Todd's statement emphasized the necessity of defending great seaports like the bay region, Boston, New York and Puget Sound, where unusual amounts of industries, banks, railroad terminals, warehouses, etc., are located. He pointed out the necessity for immediate action by saying: "While the international situation is such that it does not appear probable that the United States will engage in war for a number of years, the time required to plan, construct and put into operation a proper system of defense is so great and required so many years that this subject should receive immediate and serious attention.

"The construction and arming of batteries sufficient to give the bay region safe defense against a hostile naval attack would not exceed one-half the cost of one dreadnaught."

U.S to Replace Maps Lost by Japanese Navy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(International News Service.)—As an evidence of the entente cordiale existing between the two governments, the American navy has undertaken to rehabilitate the Japanese navy's hydrographic department with valuable charts, maps and equipment of all sorts.

The Japanese hydrographic department was the most fully equipped on earth, and was destroyed by the fire that recently visited Japan.

Canary Sings Duet With Mary Garden

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—A bold little canary lifted up its voice and trilled an uninvited obligato when Mary Garden, opera singer, sang for radio listeners-in at KHJ, the Los Angeles Times broadcasting station here last night, but the diva was not offended. Instead, she exclaimed: "How marvelous! I wish he could sing with me always."

GIRLS HELD AS ROBBERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Glen Williams of Bakersfield last evening went to 793 O'Farrell street where he says two young women were dispensing intoxicating beverages. He was induced to take a drink or two and became sleepy. After leaving the place he missed $30 and promptly notified the police. Detectives Kelleher and Brown later arrested the two women, Myrtle Woodward and Marjory Taylor, charging them with grand larceny.

BIG DAM ACROSS SAN PABLO BAY URGED IN TALK

Speaker Tells of Project to Stop Advance of Salt Water Up River.

RICHMOND, Oct. 25.—W. A. Beard, president and general manager of the Sacramento Valley Development association, addressed the Richmond Industrial association at the noonday luncheon yesterday noon, on the feasibility of constructing a dam across San Pablo or Suisun bay to retain the fresh water in a large, artificial lake.

The project of building the dam was first called to the attention of irrigators of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys by the United States reclamation service, on a minor project in the upper stretches of the Sacramento river, according to Beard. The government experts have found that the salt water from the ocean is creeping up the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers at the rate of about forty miles a year. Already 300,000 acres of delta lands at the mouth of the Sacramento river, former exceedingly rich, have been destroyed by the action of the saline water.

The more the plan of the giant dam across San Pablo bay is broached, the better it looks, according to Beard. So hopeful is the government reclamation service that it has appropriated $20,000 toward the preliminary survey, asking the state to do likewise. The state has appropriated $10,000, and private interests have voted $5000, leaving only $5000 more to be appropriated for the preliminary work of obtaining costs and testing for feasibility. The commission pledged itself unqualifiedly to the preliminary survey.

Further discussion turned to the proposals to be voted for at the coming election. The Harding memorial hospital association announced that it has secured a publicity man to handle its cause until the special election of November 4, when $150,000 in bonds will be asked for constructing a Harding memorial hospital.

Boy Scouts addressed the meeting, asking the body to aid in the vote upon a municipal swimming pool, for which $50,000 worth of bonds will be offered the voters.

Several speakers led by Former Mayor E. J. Gerrard united in urging that the voters be awakened from their apathy and shown that the good of Richmond demands that this city vote in favor of annexing itself to the Eastbay municipal utility district.

L. Richardson, chief engineer of the Southern Pacific railway and R. M. Bryant, his assistant, discussed the possibilities of Richmond obtaining spur tracks along the waterfront. They made a trip through both inner and outer harbors after the meeting, escorted by a committee of the commission.

LIBERALS NEEDED IN COUNTRY SAYS NOTED EDUCATOR

President Suzzallo Warns Teachers of Issues Now Before Nation.

"This country needs liberals more than it needs anything else," declared Dr. Henry Suzzalo, president of Washington University, in an address given yesterday before the Loyal Knights of Ye Round Table at the Hotel Oakland. "The breakdown of the two party system of government was a very serious thing for this country."

"Under two party government we were able to take two complete cross-sections of the opinion of the country. Solutions of problems represented not the opinion of a bloc, or an individual or of a group, but of the complete cross-sections of the opinion of the country. Solutions of problems represented not the opinion of a bloc, or an individual or of a group, but of the complete cross-section of the country," Dr. Suzzalo said.

"A liberal is one who faces the future with a past. A liberal is never a reactionary nor a radical but a blend of these two things. The luncheon clubs in these days of blocs and factions represent the most wholesome growth toward liberalism."

"The present paramount issues of the country and of the world are economic issues. It constitutes a responsibility for all thoughtful citizens to study economic questions. We must have a body of substantial idea of welfare and of government. There is nothing so dangerous as idealism that has no feet upon the ground. Realistic idealism should be cultivated. Of all subjects the ones we deal with most by the assumption of ignorance and prejudice are subjects of economics. Frank Vanderlip was right when he said 'The American people are economically illiterate.'

"Elections have been turned again and again because lack of prosperity has been ascribed to political actions when as a matter of fact politics had nothing whatever to do with it. At the present time it has been proposed to make farming profitable by fixing the price of wheat and by taxing the public to pay for the additional price. Economic leaders are universally opposed to such political treatment of a purely economic situation.

"A democracy is no more powerful than King Canute, when it deals with economic forces. The voice of the people is no more powerful or sanctified than the voice of one when economic conditions are in question."

MAN DODGES ILL LUCK BUT GETS HIT BY MOTOR

Superstitions Rules Victim Who Knocks Wood After Being Injured.

By BASIL WOON
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Jules Tallandier, sergeant-pilot in the French army during the war, learned to worship the various fetiches of luck.

He never spoke harshly of any particular German pilot, for that was a sure means to be shot down by that pilot within a week. If his instruments were lost in the air he spat thrice. If he spilled his coffee at breakfast he drank no more from that cup, but called for a new one. If he spilled the salt he went solemnly outside and cast some salt over his left shoulder. Never did he approach his machine so that his shadow should fall on the motor.

In 1919 Jules Tallandier, having survived the thousand and one dangers of warfare in the air, was demobilized and immediately thereafter fell from his high estate to that of collector for a bank. He still maintained his wartime superstitions, however, and never failed to put his right leg into his trousers before his left one, and avoided quarrels by never under any consideration placing his shoes or slippers on a table or chair.

SUPERSTITION HITS.

In September, Jules, the superstitious, was striding, in the course of his work, along the Rue Baudin, Paris. The sidewalks of that street are narrow, so much so that a painter's ladder had to be placed one end in the gutter.

To walk underneath the ladder was unthinkable, so Jules stepped in the roadway, where a motor-omnibus ran him down and broke one of his legs and three of his ribs, besides slicing off a portion of his left ear.

Jules was taken to the Hotel Dieu, which is a hospital, not a hotel, and put to bed, unconscious. When he awake a friend asked him how he felt.

"Much better—I shall be well soon," said Jules, confidently. And then he realized that he had committed the cardinal sin of the superstitious—he had boasted. There was but one thing to do, and he did it.

Jules dragged one arm painfully from beneath the blankets and reached slowly for the wooden table beside the bed. This he knocked twice. Then he relaxed.

The man who related the story to me affirms that it was this effort of the former pilot to touch wood which opened his wound and caused the hemorrhage from which he died.

MANY CURIOUS PHASES.

Superstition has many curious phases in France. French peasants will not eat blackberry jam, for instance, because blackberries are supposed to be cursed by the devil and give one fever.

A hunchback's life is a hunted one in Paris, for every woman wants to be insured of luck in her love affairs. This she insures by running after the hunchback and touching his hump.

You do not see many war souvenirs in French houses, for the possession of a German helmet, for example, may bring on another war in which some member of the household will be slain.

France is the greatest gambling nation on earth, and players at baccara and roulette all have their personal fetiches to chase away the evil spirit of bad luck.

Felix Zouboussof, who is one of the biggest baccara gamblers, had a supremely lucky night at Deauville in August when he won close on a million francs. He attributed his luck to the violent mauve of a handkerchief he wore. So, despite the fact that he had a cold, he continued using that handkerchief for the remainder of the season.

Baroness Erlanger, formerly Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, who is the heaviest woman plunger in France, has a luck charm in the shape of a tiny dog-doll. Just before the big week at Deauville she lost the charm. Croupiers wondered why they saw her no more in the Casino.

Sir Edwin John now a bankrupt but formerly one of the greatest gamblers invariably played with his hat on. Gregory Vagliano heaviest baccara banker in the world carries cigarettes with a bad-luck charm inscribed on them in Arabic. These he gives to his opponents and never by any chance smokes himself.

But the most curious charm displayed at Biarritz this year was displayed by Jane Renouardt the actress. She placed it under her stack of chips. It was a signed photograph of Henri Desire Landru the guillotined bluebeard.

Rich Cache of Booze Sought in Arizona

(By International News Service.)

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Oct. 27.—Two barrels of good old Kentucky whiskey, several cases of rare old wine and an assortment of Jamaica rum and cordials lie buried beneath the ruins of old Fort Mohave, on the Colorado River, a few miles below Hardyville, according to a statement from Peter R. Brady of Flagstaff, who was told the story by his father, who bore the same name.

According to the tradition, which many brave men will now doubtless attempt to verify, the fort was abandoned during the Civil War, but before its abandonment all valuables were secreted by Brady, the elder, in an excavation under the main building, which was then set afire.

Farm Auto Drives Road to the Wall

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—The fact that every afrmer along the lines of the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Street Railway Company owns an automobile is given as one of the reasons for the abandonment of that enterprise by Gaylord Thompson, its president. The abandonment was recently approved by the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission after it was shown that during 1922 the trolley road, which connects Bristol and Doylestown, in Buck county, lost $26,000.

HUSBAND TAKES UP POETRY TO REGAIN WIFE

(By International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Art and literature devotees have added another Chicagoan to their ranks. The new member is James C. Ellington, connected with the realty department of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad.

Some months ago Mrs. Carol Ellington divorced him on cruelty grounds, charging that her husband was all wrapped up in his business and wouldn't allow her to read poetry or books or any periodicals of modernistic tendencies. But according to Phil R. Davis, her attorney, Ellington wooed his former wife persistently, and the couple were remarried, after "eloping" to Atlanta, Ia.

Chicago's literati were set a trifle agog upon receipt of the news.

Ellington won his ex-wife the second time, according to Davis, by promising to foster her love for good literature, and to prove it he bought for her a wedding gift a copy of Vincent Starrett's volume of sonnets, "Banners in the Dawn."

BACCHUS SEEN AS GOD OF TOURISTS

By BASIL WOON
By Universal Service.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—It's impossible to translate French poetry into newspaper English, but the following by Jehan d'Albis, published prominently in Fantasio, will give an idea of how Frenchmen regard American tourists:

Blond Yankees, like young beefsteaks, have crossed the Atlantic again.

Happy to flee New York and its dry regime, they have arrived, their faces flaming tropically.

The same emotion seized them before our shores as when, full of frantic ardor, they marched with kit on back.

But this time they see the docks crowded with barrels, and the taste of good red wine returns to remembering palates.

They hasten to visit Cornucho (the master of Deauville), where they throw away their millions to drown their thirst.

Meanwhile the faithful shadow of great Lafayette agitates his shrouds in anxiety to the sound of the emptied bottles.

But Americans have ceased to look to Lafayette.

And they bless the name of Cornuche, who, with the dollar high and the franc low,

To bear out this picture the paper elsewhere gives the information that one of the Deauville banks cashed American letters of credit during August to the amount of eleven million dollars.

Oh, Man!
Oh, Boy!

U. S. SURRENDERS LEADERSHIP, SAYS SEN. UNDERWOOD

Alabama Candidate Finds Fault With Versailles Treaty Rejection.

DALLAS, Tex., October 25 (By the Associated Press).—America has surrendered leadership in world affairs, declared Oscar W. Underwood, United States Senator from Alabama, who has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President.

"We surrendered the leadership in world affairs which our great sacrifices had won for us," the Senator deplored, speaking of his views on foreign relations in the course of an address at the State Fair of Texas today.

He traced the general drift of sentiment in the civilized world before the war, aside from Russia and German empires, toward liberal and democratic forms of government, of the high ideals actuating the allies in engaging in the war, up to a present governmental drift in Europe, "back to autocracy control and away from our form of government."

SURRENDER ALLEGED.

Sounding the ideals for which America fought, the Senator declared:

"Our government abandoned the high and unselfish position the American people took during the war. We surrendered the leadership in world affairs which our great sacrifices had won for us. We refused longer to sit in council and encourage the peaceful settlement of the difficult problems that confronted Europe. We deserted fields made forever sacred by the blood of our heroic dead."

"What has come of it?" Senator Underwood asked his audience.

"Half a decade has rolled by since the armistice, and we already know the story. We have lost the confidence of the people of the world, because when the time came we failed to play our part."

So detailing step by step America's rejection of the treaty of Versailles, withdrawal of membership on the reparations commission, abandonment of contact with European affairs completely, "we did nothing," he summarized.

EUROPE STILL IN ARMS.

"And with what result?" the Alabama speaker asked.

Europe still in arms, standing armies greater than they were in 14 petty wars, racial jealousies, national hatred the order of the day, war debts increased, unemployment, sickness and poverty the common lot of many peoples, was his answer.

"We have a plain duty that lies ahead of us," he concluded.

"To return to the principles guiding America in the great war, to pave and exercise a definite governmental policy in Europe" that will function by peaceful means aiding in the establishment of stable government, re-establishing of stable financial and business conditions and suggesting and aiding in the international understanding that will close the door to war.

Two Organizations Not To Boost Ford

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Two of the national organizations of farmers and labor invited to attend a national conference in Detroit on December 12, at which plans will be launched for the Ford-for-President movement, announced here today they will not participate. These are the American Federation of Labor and the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

G. O. P. CONGRESS CONTROL MAY BE GIVEN INCREASE

One Vacancy in Senate and Ten in House Remain to Be Filled.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—One vacancy in the senate and ten in the house remain to be filled before the convening of congress. In most cases the contests will be decided on November 6, the general state election day.

Former Representative Porter H. Dale, Republican, and Park H. Pollard, a first cousin of President Coolidge, but a Democrat, are contestants in West Virginia.

There are four vacancies in the New York delegation, and one each in the Illinois, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina and Vermont.

Counting a Republican victory in Vermont, the majority party will have solid delegations in the house from only ten states—Idaho, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, North Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming—as against 12 solid state delegation in the Democratic column—Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

In the last congress the Republicans had solid house delegations from 23 states, and the democrats from only nine states. Should the republican candidate be elected in Vermont the republicans will have 51 members of the senate and democrats 43, with two Farmer-Labor senators. The republicans' plurality would be eight as compared with 21 in the last congress, while their majority over the other two parties would be only six.

Sixteen states will have solid Republican delegations in the senate, and twelve will have solid Democratic delegations. In nineteen states the delegations will be divided between the two parties, and one state, Minnesota, will have a Farmer-Labor delegation.

The states having one Democratic and one Republican senator are: Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Worker Is Fatally Burned By Explosion

MARTINEZ, Oct. 25. — An explosion Monday at the Selby smelting works of the American Smelting & Refining Co., which caused the death of one man and injuries to several others was revealed today following the death in Oakland last night of Joseph Reyes, 42, an employee at the smelter for the last six years. Reyes was taken to an Oakland hospital. The other men injured suffered only slight hurts and were back at work again today.

Company officials declared that the explosion occurred when a quantity of hot metal dropped in a vat of water. The explosion threw the hot metal over Reyes body, setting his clothing afire. He is survived by his widow, Ruperta, and three daughters and four sons. The funeral will be held Friday at 1:30 o'clock from the Rodeo Catholic church.

Jury Asks Pastor To Prove Charges

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 25.—Rev. N. C. Carpenter, pastor of the Capitol Hill Church of Christ, was under subpoena today to appear beofre a grand jury November 7, and submit evidence to support his assertion that various city officials were not suppressing vice. The minister has announced his willingness to testify.

Among the charges made by Rev Carpenter were the assertions that more than 1000 unmarried couples were living together here as man and wife and that many co-eds in local colleges were "week-end brides" lamely through laxity of the police department.

BUDGET DECISION ECONOMY VICTORY SAYS RICHARDSON

Governor Claims "Progressive Squanderers" Should Seek Private Jobs.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Governor F. W. Richardson issued the following statement after he had received word that the supreme court had sustained his veto of the budget appropriation relating to the allocation of funds allotted by the legislature to the department of education, of which Will C. Wood is the director:

"The supreme court has sustained the position I took on the budget in every particular. The most important cases were the ones involving the recurrent appropriations and the Wood suit. In both cases a signal victory was won. The recurrent appropriation decision was particularly vital as an adverse decision might have made it necessary to call an extra session of the legislature.

"The Wood suit involved the right of the superintendent of schools to take one per cent from the teachers' colleges to build up and sustain his political machine. If the teachers' colleges need money as badly as Wood says they do, then surely he should not take one per cent away from them. Even the secretary of the progressive squanderers ought to be able to earn an honest living in private employment.

"All the hurrah against the legality of the budget is now ended by the sweeping victories in the supreme court. When the first decision was rendered, the opposition tried to make it appear that they had won. The reading of the decision shows how complete is the victory for the budget and the economy it represents.

"I want to give full credit to Attorney-General Webb, who drew the budget bill.

"Now that the enemies of economy have been worsted in the courts, they will have to rely upon abuse and prevarication, as they have no arguments."

FROM STAFF WRITERS AT HOME AND ABROAD

By LOYD MELLETT,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 25.—This and other cities of Indiana are in grave peril of losing the Hoosier reputation for literary and political activity, fine homes and erudite population.

The danger lies in the influx of big business in a new and sinister —or benevolent—form, whichever way you may view it.

Instead of the fine boulevards and new skyscrapers, the most obtrusive characteristics today are chain stores and filling stations.

There are plenty of both.

Almost every corner has a filling station, and some blocks have two syndicated groceries.

Both have advantages and some things can be said against them.

The filling station's best point is that it really does help the appearance of many street intersections, and a filling station is often most convenient. However, we have failed to note where in the course of passing years the price of gasoline has been materially reduced by the improvement in the distribution.

Chain stores are making the competition very difficult for the old-time grocer who puts it down on the books until Saturday night or thereabouts. As a rule they keep a few cents under the price of their competitors because of their superior buying facilities. The centralized buying gives them undoubtedly a wide margin, and this margin is made greater on many items by the fact that some brands are of their own manufacture.

All this presages the passing of an era in American business, it appears. More grocers are being forced out than other business men, court records here show.

The ultimate effect of the chain stores probably will not be detrimental. They can reduce prices. After the competition from the regular grocery keeper becomes negligible the various systems of chain stores undoubtedly will make competition between each other a beneficial factor to the public.

The landmark that distinguishes Indianapolis from the standpoint of one who sees it hurriedly is the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument. In the heart of the city it occupies an area equal to that of a city block.

The old monument was erected to the Civil and Mexican War veterans. Another, to the World War veterans, is to take the shape of a Memorial Plaza, at a cost of $10,000,000. When complete five city blocks, beginning with the Federal building and ending with the Riley Memorial Library, will be embraced in parks and public edifices. The American Legion is to have a permanent home in the plaza for its national headquarters.

Indianapolis has grown, however, and is anxious to get its head up in the population class of Buffalo, Milwaukee, Cincinnati and others. One indication of continued growth is that utilities here are making their plans for fifteen years hence on a basis of half a million inhabitants—not counting the chain stores and filling stations.

"I've Got to Do Something with These Old Floors"

SHE looked at her wood floors ruefully. They were battered and bruised and dusty and shabby. "I've got to do something with these old floors," she said. Her thoughts ran back to years of scrubbing and staining and painting, and her heart sank at the prospect.

Then suddenly, like an inspiration, came the really worth-while thought: "Why not put down linoleum and have a floor that will never need to be refinished?"

The next day she saw the merchant who sold linoleum. She examined samples and she gave her order. The linoleum layer came and pasted a lining of builders' deadening felt to her shabby wood floor, and in each room the particular linoleum design selected was cemented down firmly and waterproofed around the edges.

Armstrong's A Linoleum

Look for the Circle "A" trademark on the burlap back

Like dusting furniture

Immediately her disreputable floors were transformed. She had a smooth, solid, waterproof floor from that instant. She had a floor that was easy to clean, for the dust that collected on it was only surface dust. Cleaning it was like dusting furniture.

She had a floor, moreover, whose looks improved with time; for the two coats of wax she put on in the beginning built up a polish. And with the aging of the waxed surface, the floor became soft and mellow in tone. Her rugs never looked so well as they did on her linoleum floor.

A daily brushing with a dry dust-mop keeps a waxed linoleum floor bright and beautiful

Anyone can improve old wood floors by new linoleum floors. Linoleum is made of powdered cork, linseed oil, and burlap. And it is springy and durable, like cork. A linoleum floor lasts for years and looks well in any room.

Write for free sample and booklet

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old," containing a score of colorplates of distinctive designs that you can see at good stores—Jaspés, carpet inlaids, tile inlaids, and printed patterns; linoleum rugs, printed and inlaid; also information on laying linoleum and on how to care for your linoleum floors.

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 25.—F. E. Haggerty, a new comer here, who recently located on Branciforte drive opposite the Happy Valley hotel, has discovered a valuable medicinal spring on his ten-acre ranch, which he has named the "Blue Diamond Spring."

The late Dr. Bangs was called to analyse the water and has pronounced it as excellent for kidney disorders.

Following out the late doctor's instructions, he tunneled into the granite about 13 feet and has constructed a concrete reservoir that holds twelve barrels, which he has lined with wax, over which he has put a roof.

Non-Paying Boarder Loses Suit For Pay

RICHMOND, Oct. 25.—That there was no justice in John Muso suing his brother-in-law, John Bruno, to get pay for painting Bruno's house, when he owed Bruno for board and lodging, was decided by Judge John Roth yesterday, when he refused to allow a bill claimed by Muso against Bruno for $299 as labor in improving the Bruno home.

The story was an echo of a former lawsuit when Bruno sued Muso in the superior court of California for $750 and obtained judgment. The beginning of their family troubles was staged in sunny Italy, when Bruno sent Muso, his brother-in-law, $750 to bring himself, and Muso's wife, sister and their mother from Italy to Richmond.

Three years afterward, according to the court records, Muso wanted to pay back the $750 in Italian lires, which had shrunk thirty-three and one-third per cent. But the superior court of Contra Costa county ordered Muso to pay Bruno back the $750 in American money at par.

TOO MANY LAWS CAUSE CRIME IS VIEW OF EXPERT

Captain of Police Tells Lions How Lawbreaking Can Be Curbed.

"Is the system correct? Are we traveling along the right line, when every public institution in the state of California and in the country is full to overflowing?" asked Captain Duncan Matheson of San Francisco, in addressing the Lions' Club yesterday noon at the Hotel Oakland on the subject, "Crime and Its Prevention."

"The trouble today is that we have too many laws. Do you realize that at the last legislature of California, 2100 laws were proposed? The legislators simply could not study these laws if they worked night and day for three times the length of the legislature session.

"Are the people more lawless today? I don't think so. Does the passage of such an overwhelming number of new laws tend to increase lawlessness? Yes, because people lose respect for the laws created so hastily and with so little consideration. Today our federal courts are merely bootleggers' conventions. There are 75,000 criminal cases today in the federal courts of the country.

"Every one who sees anything wrong immediately wishes to pass a law, or to establish a bureau. Every bureau wants more power and larger appropriations. Ten years ago there were 3000 federal employees in California. Today there are 63,000. No wonder taxes are high. The people have a right to complain.

"In a recent case in Chicago 379 citizens called for jury service evaded that duty by deliberately committing perjury. How can people respect laws when there are more than 225 new statutes passed every day? We are governed to death. We are losing all our ambition.

"There must be a remedy. There is a remedy. In the last analysis good citizenship is based on three things, good education, proper home environment and training, and proper religious education. Since the Boy Scouts wer organized in an Francisco there has not been one Boy Scout in the police courts. We have never had to arrest a graduate of a Sunday School, nor a boy whose home training, and school and religious education had been properly watched."

Gerald Austin entertained the Lions' Club with two selections on the piano.

Check Passer Given Sentence To Jail

CHICO, Oct. 25.—C. B. Bryan, who confessed in the superior court to passing fictitious checks in Chico, was given a sentence of thirty days in the county jail yesterday by Judge H. D. Gregory. County Probation Officer E. S. Bybee appeared before the court and reported a recommendation that probation be denied, stating that after a careful investigation of the circumstances surrounding the acts of Bryan that probation would be a miscarriage of justice. Bybee recommended that a penitentiary sentence be suspended in favor of a term in the county jail.

Four Poultry Farms Visited By Caravan

MODESTO, Oct. 25.—Four poultry ranches of Stanislaus county were centers of interest today to a large group of poultrymen of Stanislaus and Merced counties, who conducted a tour of these points of interest. The ranches visited were those of J. C. Taylor, Oakdale; Modesto Poultry Farm; F. C. Bartlett, Modesto, and P. C. Richardson, Hughson.

All of these ranches use modern methods. The tour was conducted by W. H. Brooks of the extension service. Many ranchers from Delhi were in the caravan.

LUXURY DEFINED IN NEW LAW AT FRENCH CAPITAL

$4.50 Listed as Enough for Woman Anywhere to Pay for Hat.

By BASIL WOON.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Four dollars and fifty cents is plenty for any woman to pay for a hat. On the other hand, a man who spends $9 for a pair of pajamas is not being too extravagant, while the musician who practices on a grand or even a baby grand piano instead of an upright one is committing a sin of henious character against the laws of luxury.

The authority for all these rules, destined to make a considerable difference to the Parisian's pocketbook this winter, is the French government.

"A definition of luxury" is the title of the section of the new tax laws just signed by President A. Millerand and promulgated by the Daily Official.

Good tailors resent the fact that $35 is simple in the view of the government, for a suit. As nothing even moderately good can be obtained for this price most Frnchmen will have to pay a luxury tax this year.

Many Americans in Paris would like to know where the government assayer gets the idea that "a solid mahogany dining room suite should not cost more than $275." Housewives are indignant at the injunction that they may, for instance, pay but 50 cents for an eggcup. An elegant woman must be elegant on less than 600 francs, of $40, for each of her gowns.

In a land where machines are still held in aversion, the sewing machine, the automobile and the carpenter's lathe are subject to tax. Agricultural implements are exempted, which was to be expected, for France's government is all for the farmer.

CHATEAU FOR ATHLETES.

When the American competitors for the Olympic games arrive in France next year they will find an organization of welcome all ready and waiting for them.

Colonel Thompson, president of the American Olympic committee, has accepted the offer of the Chateau of Rocquencourt and barracks to house the athletes will be erected in the grounds of the chateau, while the Olympic officers will reside in the chateau itself. Every day the athletes will drive to Colombes Stadium, where the games will take place, for training.

Approximately 1,300 American competitors will come to France for the games. They will include experts at winter sports, equestrianism, football, tennis and all track sports.

The winter sports competitors will arrive early in January to take part in the contests at Chamonix. The track athletes will leave the United States June 16 and arrive in France June 25.

Elaborate arrangements are being made here for the games. The special Colombes Stadium is being built to contain 300,000 spectators and special railway lines will link the stadium with Paris, trains taking twelve minutes.

AUTO SALES TAKE SPURT.

Since the sale-on-credit system was inaugurated in France sixteen months ago the number of car owners in France has been increased by 70 per cent.

Especially remarkable is the increase in the sale of light cars of from 5 to 10 horsepower. More than six times as many of these were sold during the last eighteen months than in the corresponding period before.

WHEELED SHOES FOR TOURISTS.

The "paticycle" is the newest mode of locomotion to make a bid for popularity in France.

Invented by a constructor named Leblanc, the "paticycle" consists of two wheels fastened independently to each leg, the wheel's diameter rising to two inches above the ankle. Motive power is derived from a pocket battery.

Tests of the contrivance show that its average speed on good roads is eighteen miles an hour.

PARIS DRINKS LESS.

Paris, the gay city, despite its Montmarte and its Quarter Latin and its multitude of American bars, is drinking less.

Considerably less, in fact. Statistics show that in 1913 3,300,000 gallons of good hard likker were downed by the thirsty Parisian. Last year there went down their throats only a little more than 2,000,000 gallons, or a third less.

Incidentally, the statistics reveal interesting facts about prices. Alcohol was hit so hard by the after-war inflation period that at one time it was priced at nine times its pre-war figure, and right now it is sold at 650 per cent more than it sold for in 1914.

By "alcohol" the statistics do not include cider, beer or wine. They refer to brandy, whisky, creme-de-menthe, benedictine, brandy, marnier, chartreuse, anisette, absinthe (now forbidden) and other name to make American mouths water.

But the consumption of wine is falling off, too. Two hundred and twenty-five quarts per head per annum was the pre-war figure. Last year it had fallen to 173 quarts.

Temperance propaganda in the schools is believed to be the cause.

All horse-carriages plying for hire in Paris are to be replaced by automobiles, according to a decision of the taxicab companies.

"Bobbed Hair and Bobbed Skirts," is the slogan of the Paris Woman's Emancipation League, league, composing 600 girls, declares that short hair and short skirts are "saner, more sanitary, increase good looks and are more practical."

First photographs to reach Paris of the Japanese earthquake were consigned by the International Newreel Corporation of New York. Fast automobiles took them to the capital from the ports of arrival.

Tall velvet hats with cockades are being shown in many Paris millinery shops. Favorite colors are black, gray, suede and brown, and cock's feathers are used for ornamentation. They are worn with morning street dress.

Sixty-seven acres of buildings in Paris are at present undergoing exterior cleaning as the result of the coming into effect of the new properties' cleaning act.

Argenteuil, France, is celebrating the thousandth anniversary of its "little wine," the earliest of which there is any record in French history.

SCIENTISTS WILL DIG FOR SECRETS OF OLD YUCATAN

Carnegie Institute Plans to Lead Expedition Into Maya Ruins.

By A. L. BRADFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHIGTON, Oct. 27.—(United Press.)—One of the most important scientific explorations probably ever undertaken and one which may resurrect a civilization antodating that of ancient Egypt will begin soon, in accordance with a contract recently signed between the Mexian government and the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

This will be a complete exploration into the ancient civilization of the Maya race of Mexico. The Maya civilization flourished in Yucatan, Mexico. The impending exploration is regarded as of the greatest importance and significance to the scientific world.

The group of scientists who will undertake the exploration probably will be headed by Dr. S. G. Morley. Dr. Morley has lived and studied many years in Yucatan and is the possessor of the most profound knowledge on the Maya race. It is expected that at least he will be in charge of the archeological phase of the exploration.

WORK IN PROGRESS.

Work is now in progress in Yucatan to clear away the woods and brush that have grown up around the ruins of the Maya civilization in order to facilitate the investigations of the scientists.

A great human aid for the impending exploration has been discovered in Yucatan—a Maya boy, who is a direct descendant of the last Maya king, according to word received here. It is said that this boy is able to read some of the ancient Maya writing and he will be employed to aid the scientists in their efforts to translate these thoughts of the hidden centuries.

The world has been unable only to guess at the achievements of the Maya civilization. But now the scientific exploration led by the Carnegie Institution is to make the most complete investigation of all phases of the civilization of the Mayas.

SCIENTISTS INVITED.

The great Maya cities will be in part restored, the lives of the people will be delved into and the conditions under which they flourished will be studied to determine how this mysterious race was able to achieve its progress. The Maya treasures will be salvaged, and after the work has been completed this ancient resurrected civilization will be preserved for posterity.

As an example of the great attainments which the Mayas developed, it is said at the Carnegie Institution here that the so-called ball court of the ancient Maya city of Chichen-Itza, on which the coming explorations will center, was constructed in such a manner and its acoustics so arranged that the voice of ordinary pitch spoken in one corner of the court could be distinctly heard and understood opposite, about 60 yards away.

The greatest scientists in the world on the subject of the Maya civilization will be asked by the Carnegie Institution to take part in the explorations.

In New York from 1854 to 1859 of about 1,000 infants boarded out every year only ten out of every 100 lived.

GROCER'S "EGGS" CONTAINED BOOZE

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Attaches of one of the municipal courts here were jolted out of their customary phlegmatic attitudes recently when a unique method of bootlegging was disclosed.

Tim Hanrahan, grocery store proprietor, appeared before Judge John R. Newcomer for alleged violation of the prohibition law.

"Hanrahan sold moonshine in eggs at his store," William Shoemaker, police lieutenant, testified.

"What's that?" asked Judge Newcomer.

"Well, I was in his store," the lieutenant continued, "when a customer saunters in and asks for one dozen fresh eggs. That was all right, only he winked at the boss when he said it.

"I took some of those eggs, and would you believe it, the original contents of the shells had been blown out and moonshine squirted in and the shells sealed. Tim was getting 15 cents a piece for those fresh 'eggs,' too."

Hanrahan paid his fine and was released.

OLD CROOK IN JAIL AIDS FIRST TIMER

(By International News Service.)

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 27.—The spirit of Haroun al Reschid, caliph of Bagdad, found its way through jail corridors into the cell of Jack Ryan, internationally-known pickpocket, and today, a rustic youth who experienced the metallic ring of a jail door behind his back, for the first time, is wandering country-ward toward his home, a sober and more reflective youth.

Cast into the same cell with Jack the boy, who faced a minor offense, lacked $4 in meeting his bond. Ryan ordered the jailer to turn over his entire roll to the lad, which consisted of $4.02, and with this parting message sent him on his way:

"Take that money, boy, and get out. I'll never see you again and I don't ever expect to get it back. But some day you may find somebody like yourself today who is spending his first day in jail. Just loan him the $4 and mark off your debt to Johnny Ryan."

YOUTH TAKES BIG TRIP ON 35 CENTS

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 27.—(United Press.)—Nathan Pierce, 19-year-old El Paso youth, with a half dollar in his jeans, grew tired of his job in his brother's garage and set out for parts other than southwestern Texas. Kansas City was his ultimate destination.

The youthful traveler rode passenger trains—blind baggage—as far as Amarillo, Texas. The sheriff housed him for one night and Nathan started out afoot the next day.

He worked for farmers for his board and room while his brother, A. L. Pierce, garage owner, had posses hunting the desert wastes west of El Paso for some trace of Nathan.

Finally, Nathan's employer, a farmer, learned that the big brother in El Paso was hunting for Nathan. So the farmer notified authorities and Nathan was returned to his old job. He arrived in El Paso with 15 cents of his original half dollar capital and had traveled 1,000 miles during the four weeks he was gone.

BAY REGION PRAISEA TO EDUCATORS

Guy W. Wolf of Chamber of Commerce Outlines Industrial Activity: H. F. Grady Tells About San Francisco

Illustrative material in the bay region for teaching world geography, and the necessity and duty which confronts the public schools of preparing students to participate in the development of this community as a commercial and industrial center, were presented before the Geography group of the California Teachers' association, Bay section, by Guy W. Wolf, Oakland Chamber of Commerce; Henry F. Grady, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and Earle G. Linsley, director of Chabot university, yesterday afternoon.

ROMANCE OF BAY REGION.

The auditorium of the Young Women's Christian Association was crowded with teachers who listened to thrilling exploitations of the bay region as a strategic point of trade and industry, and a center about which a romance leading to practical understanding of world surfaces and conditions might be built up.

Wolf, after presenting a word picture of the bay region, reviewing the richness of its back country, which is capable of supplying two and one-half millions of people with all foodstuffs, said, in part:

"The bay district comprises the most thickly populated section of the coast. More than 1,250,000 people live in this district, more than one-third the population and nearly one-half the wealth of the state.

"The bay district is the geographical center of the Pacific coast, and the four great transcontinental railways which come to the Pacific coast all have their western termini on San Francisco bay. The bay is the only sea-level break in the mountain chain that reaches from Canada to Mexico, and offers the only natural harbor on the entire seacoast of 1500 miles.

DEEP WATER WHARFAGE.

"There are more than 150 miles of waterfront on San Francisco bay fronting the Golden Gate which can be converted into deep water wharfage space to care for shipping trade, and as the wants of the Orient develop the tidelands around San Francisco bay will develop into the greatest manufacturing and shipping center in the world.

"America's supply of raw materials is rapidly diminishing, and we must draw upon the vast resources of the Orient for materials to feed our factories. Today raw products from the Orient come through San Francisco bay ports and are shipped across the continent to eastern factories. After manufacture they come back across the country to Pacific coast and Oriental markets.

"This practice must and will stop; high freight rates will compel the location of factories around San Francisco bay to feed our western and foreign markets.

"With more than two-thirds of the world's population living in the Orient, whose wants are just beginning to increase, the centers of world trade will shift from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and the bay district will then come into its own. Fifty years hence it will be a greater production and distributing center than metropolitan New York is today."

COMMERCIAL AREA.

San Francisco bay region is primarily a commercial area, according to Grady.

"Give the children an international outlook," he pleaded. "We have not learned yet to think along these lines. We do not understand international commerce and trade conditions. If the children of the bay district could have their imaginations fired to realize their position in relation to the Far East and think of the ships that come through the Golden Gate in relation to the community and world trade, they would go a long way in acquiring a practical knowledge of geography and international understanding."

Miss Marie E. Kinell, University Elementary School, Berkeley, demonstrated classroom procedure in teaching geography along the lines suggested.

J. David Hauser, director of the Bureau of Management Research in San Francisco, discussed "Human Values in Industry" before teachers of the Part Time school in Technical High school, yesterday afternoon.

ASTRONOMER TO TALK.

"The Starry Universe in the Light of New Astronomy" is the subject of an address of Dr. Ralph Baxter Larkin to be delivered at the luncheon of the Commonwealth club in the Palace hotel, San Francisco, Friday. The address will be illustrated with stereopticon pictures taken with the aid of the telescopes at Yerkes observatory and on Mt. Wilson, the greatest instruments of the kind in the world.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 25.—Governor Small today signed extradition papers for Norman Edward Williams, arrested and held on the House of Correction, Quincy, Ills., and who is wanted in San Francisco for violating his parole. Williams served time in San Quentin prison for forgery and is now charged with extorting money from the wife of a fellow convict.

Wife Begins Suit For Second Divorce

Nicholas Goossen would boast before his children of the money he spent in disorderly houses, and falsely accuse her of associating with other men, asserts Mrs. Teiny Goossen in a complaint on filed today in which she seeks to be divorced from her husband for the second time. Mrs. Goossen says she was divorced from her husband on January 10 last, and that they remarried on August 26 last, his actions causing another separation on October 15.

500 GALLON STILL TAKEN BY OFFICERS

Monster Moonshine Making Apparatus Is Destroyed; Said to Be Largest Ever Seen Here; Youth Held

Otto Anderson, 19, arrested yesterday in a raid by the morals squad on an alleged bootlegging establishment at 1070 Eighty-fourth avenue, in which the largest moonshine still in the prohibition annals of Oakland was confiscated, was arraigned before Police Judge Tyrrell today. The case was continued until Saturday, when Anderson will be permitted to enter his plea. Anderson is now at liberty on $1000 bail.

After following various clews for more than a month the morals squad, under the direction of Sergeant E. A. Brock, yesterday discovered the still in a tiny two-room cottage which was barely large enough to contain it and the incidental moonshine apparatus. The still, of 500 gallons capacity, almost completely surrounded by a jacket of brickwork, occupied one room of the cottage and kegs containing 2000 gallons of mash filled the second, according to police reports.

The raiding squad found it necessary to demolish a part of the cottage in order to remove the still.

Anderson was the only person on the premises when the police arrived, according to Sergeant Brock. Search is being made for others believed to have been involved.

The officers seized as evidence 500 gallons of whisky, said to be of a high quality, according to moonshine standards.

PIRATES SHOOT CAPTAIN; LOOT CHINESE SHIP

HONGKONG, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sixty pirates, heavily armed, Tuesday night held up and looted the Chinese steamer Sunning, en route from Hongkong to Kowloon, seriously wounded Captain McKechnie and Chief Officer Spittlerobb and robbed more than 300 Chinese passengers, many of the latter having just returned from America with the savings of many years.

The vessel had just entered the channel near Hongkong when the pirates, who were aboard in disguise, overpowered the engineroom crew and disarmed two Indian guards. Captain McKechnie and his chief officer put up a gallant fight but fell before a fusilade of bullets.

The pirates maintained control of the steamer during the night and in the morning compelled the Chinese crew to row them ashore, where they made their escape. The two wounded ships' officers were taken to a hospital where their condition is said to be critical.

Two Seek Damages After Auto Crash

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 25.—Two suits were filed by Attorney E. R. Vaughn involving damages aggregating $10,963 as a result of a collision on the highway at Glenwood. One who sued is a minor, who, before the complaint was filed, had a guardian appointed.

In the case of William C. Martin, a minor, by guardian, ad litem, H. J. Martin, against John J. Hyde, the plaintiff alleges he was permanently disabled when he was thrown from an auto he was driving when it collided with a car driven by Hyde. He alleges Hyde had failed to have the tail light of his car burning and that the defendant stopped without giving any warning.

The second suit, which was for $5963, was brought by Herbert Hubback, who alleges his shoulder bone was broken and dislocated and his left shoulder was permanently disabled.

AOSTA DUCHESS TRAINS COLORED BOY FOR MASCOT

His Mistress Is Big Game Hunter and Has Been on Lion Hunts.

By LADY DECIES,
Universal Service Special Correspondent.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Duchess of Aosta has a mascot in the shape of a black boy called "Sambo," nine years old and very clever. He speaks English, French and Italian, and was adopted by the Duchess when six. The Duchess is a big game shooter and every year hunts the lion, elephant and giraffe in Central Africa.

Viscount Lascelles is a real "dirt" farmer and is rapidly winning praise as an agriculturist, from his fellow farmers, taking an active part in the direction of some of the big farming organizations. He owns a magnificent herd of Guernsey cattle, and his prize cow, "Bosistow Marigold," won first prize in the late Harrogate Show as the best milker.

In the new autumn hat shapes one sees Directoire bonnets, both in velvet and felt-trimmed fur. The Breton sailor shapes are also prominent.

There are a great many novel designs in skirts. I have seen some cut circular shape, springing into sudden and definite fullness below the knees. Others are very narrow and tight around the ankles, very much like the hobble skirt of the olden days.

Some of the newest winter cloaks have landscapes painted on them or embroidered in gold or silver outline.

Have you seen the new Picot Petticoats? They are lovely: are cut on the same lines as an evening dress, finished at the edge with a deep flounce of picot-edged material or scallops.

Lady Mercy Greville, the beautiful daughter of the Earl and Countess of Warwick, has taken up acting as a profession. She is a clever actress and has had plenty of practice at the "Barn Theatre," at her home, at Little Easton, near Dunmow, in Essex, where the Countess has fitted up an old barn as a theatre for the benefit of the village.

Princess Ileana, of Roumania, is now in London. Though only 16, she is formally betrothed to Prince Boris, of Roumania. She is a wonderful dressmaker and designs a good many of her own frocks. She is also an enthusiastic girl guide, frequently taking her company out camping in the forests around Bucharest. She wears bobbed hair, and looks like a smart American girl.

Postage on Mark Basis Runs Into Many Millions

At the German postage rate of today it would have cost before the war over $3,000,000 to send a registered letter from Berlin to Oakland. John Paul Edwards, well-known photographer, whose exhibits are displayed annually in the European salons, is in receipt of a letter from Berlin, the postage of which amounts to 16,000,000 marks. At the pre-war rate of exchange this amount of money would have been sufficient to make three millionaires. Now it pays the normal postal rate based on the value of a dollar.

Edwards, who resides at 1347 Cavanaugh road, recently returned from Germany, where he went in the capacity of a buyer for a San Francisco department store. He said the American dollar's purchasing power was greater than a truckload of marks in popular denominations.

VON BRINCKEN GETS LICENSE TO WED IN L. A.

Trial of Alleged Murderess Delayed

Oesterreich, will go to trial December 5, instead of tomorrow as had been planned, according to the district attorney's office today. Mrs. Oesterreich is at liberty on $50,000 bail. The murder of Oesterreich took place a year ago in the living room of his fashionable home.

MEXICAN SLAYER CONVICTED.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 25.—P. Alvarez, Mexican, was found guilty of manslaughter last night by a jury in Superior Judge C. O. Busick's court. ## YANKEE BEAUTIES JUDGED EQUAL OF PARISIENNES

Prevalence in America of Silk Stockings, Snappy Styles Thrills Critic.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—"Broadway has as many pretty girls as the Paris boulevards," says Maurice de Waleff in the Paris Midi.

"Le Boulevard" in Paris indicates a group of elegant streets where one is likely to encounter more pretty women than in any other street in the world. It is the great attraction of Paris. Not that this city has a monopoly upon all the pretty ladies, but they seem to dress with more chic, and in the street beauty is largely a question of clothes.

"But take care," continues Monsieur de Waleff, "New York is fast becoming a dangerous rival of old Paris. Summer is so much warmer on the other side of the water that the girls on Broadway are clothed in the daintiest transparent blouses without sleeves, which allows the gentlemen in the street a chance to see some lovely forms just as the Creator made them if he would stoop to lower his eyes. And it is due to just this admirable respect of the American man for woman that the most coquettish summer garments can be worn without any provocation.

"Then, too, the high salaries permit the New York girls to spend more upon their laundry. White blouses, very thin ones, give an exceedingly fresh aspect. The skirt is worn a little shorter than here and silk stockings are the rule. On Broadway I spied not more than one pair of cotton ones in one hundred. This is not the percentage in Paris.

"The American woman who wears French models does it with indescribable charm. Venus is still with us, but the Dianas on the other side, more beautiful and more sportive, have no cause for envy."

Breaking Pile Throws Man to Death in Water

ALAMEDA, Oct. 25. — Two minutes cost the life of Peter Jensen, an employee of the General Engineering company, at the north end of Schiller street, when he was catapulted into the bayby the breaking of a pile upon which he was leaning at 4:58 last night. Jensen, who has been employed by the company for several years, was watching the work of a pile driver moored by a heavy rope to the pile upon which he was leaning, when the strain of the weight broke the pile.

Police Officers A. P. Olson and Sidney Norton rushed to the scene and searched 20 minutes before the body was recovered. Efforts to resuscitate the man failed. It is believed that Jensen was seriously injured by striking the pile when he first fell into the water. At 5 o'clock he would have left work for the day. He is survived by a widow and three daughters.

Screen Version of "Zaza" Is Declared Year's Best Picture

GLORIA SWANSON, who adds another screen triumph to her career through her portrayal of the title role of "ZAZA," an adaptation of David Belasco's most notable stage success.

American Theater Presents Celebrated Film for Extended Engagement

Moving picture devotees familiar with stars and their characteristics can conceive no finer screen combination than the casting of Gloria Swanson in a film version of what has long been one of the most notable of stage successes—"Zaza."

For years it has been the ambition of every great woman of the drama to portray the temperamental, great-hearted Zaza. The public has always demanded a roguish, vivid and strong-minded interpretation of the role, and in all of screenland no one is more aptly qualified in these characteristics than Gloria Swanson.

The fire and charm of the Parisian entertainer that won the love of a French diplomat are splendidly offered by Miss Swanson. In addition, her ability to wear wardrobe creations makes of "Zaza" an interpretation destined to be remembered as glorious Gloria's great triumph.

H. B. Warner, the eminent actor, is cast in the leading male supporting role, and several other Paramount stars of the first order are also included in the cast.

"Zaza" is playing at the American Theater for an extended engagement, continuing into next week, ending November 2d.—Advertisement.

Woman Gets Cash Of Son Who Quit Romance for Her

By International News Service.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 24.—"No, even if I love the girl we won't be married. My life is dedicated to my mother, and I'll never marry anyone so long as she's alive."

With these words, Charles E. Clapper, 23, of No. 24 Munsell street, pledged his troth to his mother and renounced romance. That was several years ago and he kept the vow as long as he could. Then his mind snapped; he was committed to the Binghamton state hospital for the insane. Now his mother has obtained through the supreme court the right to share in the $4000 estate which she believes he would want her to have if he could speak sanely again.

After hearing her story Justice Leon C. Rhodes granted her $40 a month for her support and an additional $50 to pay debts.

Mrs. Nellie Van Demark, an aunt of the young soldier, adds her testimony to that of the mother. It was to her that Charles confided he would never marry so long as his mother lived.

When the youth returned from France and got a job he gave his mother his earnings. Even affection for a girl could not take the image of his mother from the foremost place in his mind.

Then suddenly he lost his reason. His case was violent and hopeless, it developed. It was impossible for the mother, who loved the boy as much as he loved her, to keep him at home. He had to be committed to the asylum.

Booze Blamed For Slaying of Couple

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 25—Moonshine whiskey is blamed for Denver's latest tragedy by A. H. Mitchell, Denver plumber, who early yesterday morning shot and killed Mrs. Georgia A. Bryan, wife of an assistant fire chief, and Andrew J. Sherie, in the bedroom of Sherie's ranch house 15 miles west of Denver.

Mitchell, urged by his former wife, Margaret Mitchell, to whom he poured out the story of the slaying in the early dawn, made a clean breast of the killing to a minister, who in turn, urged him to confess to the police. Yesterday morning, accompanied by the former Mrs. Mitchell and a minister, he appeared at police headquarters and told of the double murder.

COMEDIANS WILL CAPER FOR WAIFS IN TRIBUNE SHOW

Eastbay Orphans Will Be Given Theater Party at Century.

Patsy Bolivar, Jack Russell's celebrated character of the silly kid, will entertain orphans of the Eastbay region Saturday afternoon at the theater party arranged at the Oakland Century theater through Herbert A. Harris, general manager of the playhouse, by The TRIBUNE. The comedian will give the first performance of his latest musical farce comedy, "Patsy's Pig."

Orphans will be brought from the various orphanages of the region by the theater management on aSturday to witness the matinee performance of the vehicle, which is said to be one of the best staged by Russell at the local playhouse. The affair will be invitational, and the general public will be admitted as usual, Harris announces today.

Among the institutions invited to attend the matinee are the Fred Finch home, 3670 Peralta avenue; the West Oakland home, 907 Campbell street; The King's Daughters' home, Thirty-ninth and Broadway; the Alameda convent, San Jose avenue, Alameda; the Oakland home, 936 Campbell street, and the San Leandro convent at San Leandro.

The scene of "Patsy's Pig" is laid on a typical farm of the old type. Patsy Bolivar (the role played by Russell) is the little farm chore-boy, who makes friends with all the animals on the place and has as his pet a tiny pig. Shortly after the opening of the comedy a theatrical company is stranded in a nearby town and the farmer invites the players to stay at his homestead until they can receive assistance. The girls of the company fall in love with Patsy.

Assisting the comedian in the various roles of the vehicle will be Florence Spurrier, Jackie Brunea, Lou Davis, Ira Robertson, William Connors, Evelyn Du Frain, and William Ruhl. Harris has arranged a delightful program of music for the comedy. Specialties will be given by Valerie Noyes, Millie Pedro, Jackie Brunea, Evelyn Du Frain, and the Century Four, composed of Med Anderson, Ray Baldwin, William Ruhl, and Chet Williams.

The California Transit Company will attend to the transportation of the children.

New styles in Fountain Pens

The best known makers of Fountain Pens and Patent Pencils are all in an interesting race for popularity, bringing out new models and new ideas constantly in order to meet competition.

One fountain pen maker has invented a pen point that is practically indestructible; others come out with miniature pens, small enough to go into a coin purse; while on the other hand another firm sends us pens to sell that seem big enough for the giants of our childhood imaginations.

Gift Boxes containing a pen and a pencil decorated to match, like peas in a pod, are offered; while gold, silver, and enamel are combined in effects that practically make jewels of otherwise ordinary pens and pencils.

Of course, we have them all—Waterman, Wahl, Parker Duofold, Swan, Conklin, Dunn, Craig pens and Eversharp, Listo, Pal, Waterman and Schaeffer pencils in every style and shape and size imaginable.

No larger stock in any store around the bay, and nowhere better repair facilities.

What Is Neuritis?

Neuritis is an inflammation of the nerves that produces sharp, darting pain very similar to that of rheumatism. In fact, the disease is often mistaken for rheumatism and treated as such, with the result that the sufferer gets no lasting benefit. Neuritis is usually brought on by colds, injuries, bruises, nervous exhaustion, malarial poisoning or infectious diseases. The pain may be confined to one spot or it may move from place to place. Sometimes it is accompanied by soreness in the muscles, numbness in the hands or feet, lame back, stiff joints, eye strain or severe headaches. The only way to obtain permanent, lasting relief is to heal the affected nerves—get rid of the inflammation. Eopa Neuritis Tablets are compounded for that very purpose. Harmless, pleasant and effective. A trial package will convince you. Price $1. For sale by the Owl and other druggists. # ERIN'S ILLS LAID TO OVERDOSE OF HEROICS BY SHAW

Still Want to Storm Dublin Castle Even After Its Surrender, He Says.

(By International News Service.)

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Ireland is suffering from an overdose of heroics, according to the diagnosis of George Bernard Shaw.

"Now Ireland is at this moment a regular rag and bottle shop of superseded ideas, or superstitions, as they were accurately called when words were something more than reach-me-downs from the newspapers," writes G. B. S. in the revived "Irish Statesman," which is destined to be the organ of intellectual Ireland.

"There are formidable vested interests in our huge national stock of junk and bilge, glowing with the phosphorescence of romance," continues Shaw. "Heroes and heroines have risked their lives to force England to drop Ireland like a hot potato. England, after a final paroxysm of doing her worst, has dropped Ireland accordingly. But in doing so she has destroyed the whole stock-in-trade of the heroes and heroines. The heroes and heroines cannot realize it. The rallying of the Irish against English tyranny has long since become a reflex action with them; and they cannot control their reflexes. They will die calling for a forlorn hope to storm Dublin Castle. It has surrendered; but even were it demolished as completely as the Bastille they would never notice it. . . .

"Let it be made a misdemeanor for any man or woman to allege or imply that the Irish race is any better than any other race. Let all romantic ladies be engaged compulsorily as actresses in a national theater, and all the drunken doctors be transported to America. . . . Then Ireland will have a chance at last."

MINING WORLD IN BRAZIL BETTERS

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27.—(By Mail to United Press.)—Mining operations are steadily increasing in development every year in Brazil, chiefly in the state of Minas Geraes, which is one of the richest regions of the world in gold, iron ore, manganese and diamonds.

In 1920 Brazilian exports of mineral products amounted to 277,044,130 kilograms. Diamonds to the value of about $1,000,000 were exported during the course of the year.

The gold and silver output does not figure in the mineral export statistics for the past few years, as the entire production of the mines has been taken under contract by the federal government.

CHANGE OF LIFE LOSES TERRORS

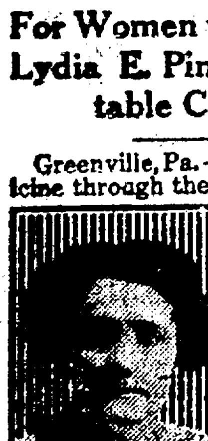
For Women who Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Greenville, Pa.—"I took your medicine through the Change of Life and it did wonders for me. I was down in bed when I started to take it and weighed 95 pounds. I had hot flashes and was so nervous and weak that everything would get black and I could not see. I would sit and cry and did not know what I was crying for. Since I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework for a family of seven now. I will be glad to answer any woman who writes me in regard to my case."—Mrs. JOHN MYERS, 55 Union St., Greenville, Pa.

Many letters similar to this have been published testifying to the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They are sincere expressions from women who describe as best they can their feelings before and after taking this well-known medicine.

T. & D.

The deliciously daring Elynor Glyn love story, "Six Days," now at the Oakland T. & D. theater, will remain until Friday evening along with the current Fanchon & Marco revue, "The Artists' Ball."

For the week starting Saturday Harold Lloyd will be the principal drawing card in his latest six-reel comedy, "Why Worry," which is said to be funnier than "Safety Last," although it has none of the sky-high thrills. It is a satire on the revolutionary strife of republics to the south of us, and a new leading lady and the giant of the movie world will be seen in Lloyd's supporting cast.

The popular musical troupe, which includes Johnny Perkins, The Diehl Sisters, Helene Hughe and the dancing chorus, will present another frivol called "Pep."

FULTON

"Alias Nora O'Brien" will be the next fine play in Maude Fulton's repertoire during her starring season at the Fulton. It will see the light of day for the first time on the Fulton stage next Sunday afternoon. The role of the merry Irish girl, who is the heroine of the story, fits Maude Fulton like a glove, and she should romp home a great winner in the comedy.

"Alias Nora O'Brien" is the story of a madcap Irish lady, the mistress of Donoughmore, who, through the press of circumstances, finds it necessary to drop her titled identity and masquerade as a waitress in a country club. A young blackguard steals an inventor's papers and elopes with his daughter, but through one of the cleverest tricks ever manipulated in the history of the theater, "Nora O'Brien" spoils his plans and saves the girl.

The manner in which this is worked out forms a highly entertaining climax to a highly entertaining play. It may be said that there isn't one single idle moment in all the action of "Alias Nora O'Brien," and the play also merits unusual attention by virtue of the presence of more than the customary amount of wholesome and rollicking comedy situations.

Maude Fulton in "The Goldfish" is the play this week. Capacity houses proclaim it a laughing hit.

CENTURY

Thrilling with its mystery and pleasing with its wealth of beautiful song and dance novelties, "The Killer," Jack Russell's current mystery thriller at the Oakland Century theater, is attracting capacity houses to the playhouse this week, where Russell is playing the part of Judge Crutchfield, an old man.

The comedian's midget chorus of tiny tots, a special added attraction for the kiddies, is receiving the plaudits of the audiences. Russell's work as Judge Crutchfield is far above anything he has ever done. Lew Davis, newcomer, gives a well balanced performance; Jacie Brunea creates an artistic role, and Ira Robertson also scores. Other favorites are Evelyn Du Frain, William Connors, Florence Spurrier, Ernest Young, Ray Baldwin, Med Anderson, William Ruhl and Chet Williams.

Musical numbers include "Hold Up Rag" and "The Sneak" by the Century girls, "Away Down South" by Evelyn Du Frain and Jackie Brunea; "Chinese Love Song" by Ernest F. Young, "Sippy Moon" by Millie Pedro, "It's a Lotta Bologny" by the Blossom Sisters, and a specialty by the Century Four.

Coming to the theater for a week's engagement on Saturday is "Patsy's Pig," a new musical farce comedy, with Russell in the role of Patsy Boliver, the famous silly kid.

CHIMES

"Rupert of Hentzau," coming to the Chimes theater tonight for a run of three days, is acclaimed the largest production of the year. It is a sequel to "The Prisoner of Zenda," and all of those who remember that picture, will be delighted to know that they can now see the sequel in a very elaborate and fast-moving production. The picture abounds in thrills and action, it is said, with a cast that is well known and loved by every picture fan in the world.

The cast includes Elaine Hammerstein, Bert Lytell, Lew Cody, Claire Windsor, Hobert Bosworth, Bryant Washburn, Marjorie Daw and a score of other stars as well known to the picture public. It is said to be the biggest cast ever assembled for one production, and was almost a year in the making.

STATE

James Oliver Curwood's most interesting book has been filmed and is the attraction at the State for the balance of this week. Under the able direction of Dell Henderson and with a splendid cast including J. Barney Sherry, Zena Keefe, Robert Elliott and others, this production ranks with some of the biggest pictures of the year. To those who like outdoor stuff, the great snow country, dog teams, the mighty forests and many thrilling moments this picture will prove a gold mine of entertainment.

The vaudeville includes a most delightful act in "The Cromwells," a pair of clever chaps in a pot pourri of real novelties. Frank Rogers is a ventriloquist of unusual entertaining ability. Walter Fenner and company offer the comedy play "Show Me," which is full of rich humor and Keefer and Alberts are genuine eccentric comedians. May Foster and company present a beautiful posing novelty, "The Girl in the Frame." This show closes at the State Saturday night and Sunday brings as the screen attraction Katherine MacDonald and Milton Sills in "Why Women Re-marry."

NEW FRANKLIN

"Playthings of Destiny," a stirring drama of adventure and love, laid in the woods of Canada and in the romantic tropical island of Jamaica, is the current offering at the Franklin theater, featuring Anita Stewart and Herbert Rawlinson.

The play will continue until Saturday night, to be followed on Sunday by the famous crook melodrama, "The Woman With Four Faces," in which Betty Compson and Richard Dix carry the stellar roles.

"Playthings of Destiny" recites the story of a man and a woman caught up in an unusual web of circumstances, and shows how they work out their problems with all the cards of destiny seemingly stacked against them. It opens in a striking setting in the woods of Canada, shifts to England and then to Jamaica. The ending comes in the midst of a storm, one of the most thrilling scenes in motion pictures. Anita Stewart adds to her laurels as a great emotional actress and is ably supported by Rawlinson in some of the best work he has done.

"The Woman With Four Faces," coming Sunday, is regarded among critics as the outstanding melodrama of the season.

AUDITORIUM

The second season of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra concerts in Oakland will be inaugurated in the Oakland Auditorium Opera House Saturday evening, November 3, with Alfred Hertz wielding the baton.

Having spent the summer in Europe buying new music and arranging orchestrations, Director Hertz has promised music lovers some extremely interesting programs for the winter. The first concert of the series of ten which are to be given here at intervals throughout the winter, is to be a popular one. One of the especially interesting numbers will be "La Boutique Fantasque," which was brought from Europe by Hertz last summer. Another will be Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois," which the symphony director orchestrated while he was in Paris. The program for the first concert is as follows:

1. Overture to "Der Freischutz" .......... Weber
2. Symphonic Poem, "Vltava" .......... Smetana
3. Selection from "La Boutique Fantasque" .... Rossini-Respighi (First performance in America.)
4. Overture, "Raymond" ..... Thomas
5. (a) Aubade .......... Luigini
(b) Serenade .......... Moskowski
(c) Caprice Viennois (arranged by Alfred Hertz) ...... Kreisler
6. The Preludes .......... Liszt

LURIE

"The Covered Wagon," with its tales of adventure, love and romance linked to a period of history more colorful than war and more lasting than bloody conflict, stands out distinctive in literature and drama. It will be presented in Oakland for the first time and for one week only on Sunday at the new Lurie theater. The cast is an exceptionally strong one including Lois Wilson, J. Warren Kerrigan, Tully Marshall, Ernest Torrence, Ethel Wales, Alan Hale, Charles Ogle, Johnny Fox, thousands of Indians and the never-to-be-forgotten "prairie schooners." A special score is played in accompaniment by twenty selected musicians from the adaptations of Hugo Reisenfeld who supervised this detail of the production. It is the narrative of the hardships and adventures of those early pioneers who followed the Oregon trail westward in 1848 and in Utah reached a dividing line some going to the goldfields of California and others northward to Oregon and Washington.

Neptune Beach

Every day this week will be a holiday for the children and the rides and everything are all at 5 cents instead of 10 cents.

Many little picnic parties have been arranged and much fun is promised the picnicers.

Mrs. Jack T. Walker, of the Fruitvale Parent Teachers' Association has arranged a big party of children who are to spend Thursday at the Beach.

Sunday, October 28, will be a big day at Neptune. The Oakland Fireworks Company, managed by the Sousa Brothers, have arranged a day and night program of fireworks.

The evening ball will be called a Hallowe'en balloon ball and much fun is promised.

The whole day is given by the concessionaires of Neptune Beach and the program of entertainment is one worth attending.

FOX-OAKLAND

For many years attempts were made to induce David Belasco to allow the use of his phenomenally successful productions to be adapted to the films, without result. It remained for Warner Brothers to finally induce the wizard of the stage to allow his productions to be permanently recorded in the films—and one of their first and most entertaining productions—"The Gold Diggers"—will be the featured attraction at the Fox Oakland theater for the week beginning next Saturday.

A most notable cast appears in the production, written by Avery Hopwood and produced under the personal direction of David Belasco, that includes Hope Hampton, Windham Standing, Louise Fazenda and many others. "The Gold Diggers" should prove to be one of the most entertaining film presentations in many months.

In addition there will be offered a new edition of the Fox News Weekly, a new comedy, organ recitals and orchestral concerts in addition to stage features.

ORPHEUM

Oakland will be the first city in the United States to see the most stupendous vaudeville production ever attempted in the persons of Theodore Kosloff and his superb Russian ballet of thirty artists at the Oakland Orpheum starting Sunday, October 28. Kosloff has been a star of the screen during the past four years and his engagement in Oakland will mark his first personal appearance, at the head of a production since 1919. Very Fredova is his premier danseuse and each one of the thirty artists in the spectacle is trained as only Kosloff can train them. The production is entitled "A Legend of Tartary." Frank Van Hoven, "The Mad Magician," is as famous and unique a comedian as there is on the stage. His spontaneous wit bright satire is always a signal for enthusiastic laughter. Joseph K. Watson, the popular character comedian, has a rib-tickling monologue which he calls "A Disarrangement of Facts." Miss Jean Middleton presents a varied routine of musical numbers. The H. G. M. Lima Trio are a recent importation from Europe and they present an eccentric novelty "The Gollywog."

"East Side West Side" is the title of the feature photoplay which is a story of New York life featuring Eileen Percy, Kenneth Harlan and Wally Van.

The usual topics, Aesop's Fables and new reel, orchestral and organ concerts complete the bill.

AMERICAN

Gloria Swanson, heroine of scores of dramatic photoplays, has never appeared to better advantage than in the Allan Dwan screen version of "Zaza," which is now in an eleven-day run at the American theater. She has the natural appearance befitting the famous Zaza with her brunette beauty and knows how to bring out the fiery temperament that has for three decades made this role the most celebrated of many leading actresses.

Dwan has taken slight film license in giving the story a sweeter ending than that of the original play. Miss Swanson wears another charming wardrobe of clothes especially designed for her work in Zaza. She is supported by a clever Paramount cast with H. B. Warner in the leading male characterization.

Other film features and a special concert by Owen Sweeten and his orchestra are offered by the American theater in conjunction with the showing of "Zaza."

TITO SCHIPA

One of the most important musical events of the year in the Eastbay district will be the appearance in the Oakland Auditorium Opera House of Tito Schipa, premier tenor of the Chicago Opera Company, who will give a concert there on Tuesday evening, November 6 under the management of Zannette W. Patter. This will be the second of the Artists' Concerts Series booked for Oakland by Miss Potter, who has secured seven of the most celebrated artists on the operatic and concert stage for the 1923-1924 season in Oakland.

Tito Schipa (pronounced Tee-to Skeepa) is a name that has been on the lips of opera-goers for the past three seasons. The brilliant young tenor was the idol of Spain and was worshiped by the people of that country for the marvelous beauty of his voice and the perfection of his art, before he came to this country. He made his debut as premier tenor of the Chicago Opera Company with Mme. Galli-Curci in "La Sonnambula." In America today Tito Schipa stands as one of the most popular artists before the public and his present concert tour, it is predicted, will go down in musical history as monumental.

700 MILES OF CANADA-MEXICO ROAD IS OPENED

Ceremony Marks Dedication of Pacific International Highway.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 25.—Under the spell of an azure sky and the warm greeting of a friendly sun, the great Pacific international highway, extending from Vancouver, B. C., to the Mexican border, was formally dedicated yesterday and 700 miles of the pavement thrown open to travel. With the paving of 113 miles in Northern California, the road will be 1828 miles long.

Hundreds of persons, including delegates of the Washington State Good Roads Association, and representatives from California, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, participated in the ceremony.

As the wide gates carrying the colors of Great Britain and the United States swung open, Governor Hart of Washington declared: "May these gates never close to progress, to prosperity and to good will between the nations represented."

Governor Walter M. Pierce of Oregon and A. D. Pattison of the British Columbia parliament stood with Governor Hart during the dedication.

As a closing chapter in the history of the construction of the Pacific highway a caravan of hundreds of automobiles started southward this morning. After a stop at Longview for lunch the caravan was to proceed to the interstate bridge at Vancouver, Wash., where final rites will be performed for "old man detour." Portland will entertain the visitors tonight and tomorrow the journey will end at Salem.

Harvey M. Toy of San Francisco, chairman of the California Highway Commission, declared in an address this afternoon that California would lose no time in closing the gap of 113 miles at the northern end of the Pacific highway, thus completing a ribbon of pavement from Vancouver, B. C., to Tijuana.

Incorporation For Hughson Again Up

HUGHSON, Oct. 25.—The subject of incorporating Hughson, often debated here, is up again for consideration. At a meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday a committee was appointed to take a census to see how much territory would have to be taken in to obtain the required population.

The board also appointed a committee to see to street improvement and another to see that the city park is improved and maintained.

It is presented by an unusually strong cast including Wyndham Standing, Grace Darmond, Derelys Perdue, William Conklin and several other stars well known to the theater-goers of Oakland.

"Daytime Wives" will open at the Broadway theater today for a limited engagement of two days.

New Safety Truck Is Perfected To Haul Explosives

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 24.—Explosives can now be carried over the highways of the state without danger.

Fire Marshal George C. Neal recently approved a specially constructed motor truck for the safe transportation of explosives over the highways. The truck is provided with many safeguards. Smaller trucks of similar design also are being built.

The state department of public safety demands that all vehicles transporting explosives must first be approved.

The truck approved by Marshal Neal has a compartment protected from fire from the exhaust, there being three air spaces and three inches between the under floor to the top of the frame of the machine.

There is an opening between the cab and the body and the machine is equipped with three locked doors which work automatically. The doors cannot open under ordinary conditions while the motor is running, and the opening of the door stops the operation of the motor.

In case of an accident causing the motor to stop there is an emergency key, which cuts off all electrical connections. The gas tank is protected by wire screen to prevent fire.

On the rear is a steel bumper covered with rope to prevent any sparks in case of a collision, and on the front and rear are red flags, 15-30 inches, with the words "Danger" in white letters 10 inches high. The flags are only displayed when the machine is carrying explosives. The words "Explosives" are also printed on all sides of the body.

LOVE IN PUBLIC IS UNDER GRILL IN KANSAS CITY

Petting Parties Must Be Halted, Declares Censors of Youth's Morals.

By W. F. SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27.—War has been declared on public "mugging" and "necking" by moralists, and the issue is being met by the flappers and modern Romeos and "sheiks."

Women's clubs are leading in the assault on the conduct of young couples in motion-picture theaters. Hugging, spooning and kissing in public places is disgraceful and must stop, they decree.

The Woman's Round Table of Club Presidents at a special meeting held a heated discussion which ended in a vote ordering that such "petting parties" must cease. A committee was appointed to investigate conditions in the theaters.

LOVE FINDS WAY.

"But," say the flanner and her ardent and amorous admirer, "love must find and will find a way." The young people of today won't do anything in private that they won't do in public, hence the public cooing.

Then, too, they add, interrogatingly, What's a little "mugging" and "necking" among friends? We mean no harm.

Here, however, is where the moral uplifters dispute the younger folk and declare that what might appear to be "innocent pleasure" leads to worse violations of the code of morals.

The situation created by the discussion has elicited expressions from leading citizens of this city.

"Public spooning is not only sickening, but it leads to worse things," Judge E. E. Porterfield of the juvenile court declared. "It is demoralizing and foolish. If conditions are found to be alarming a general cleanup certainly will be advocated by many citizens, I am sure."

Numerous women, prominent in club activities of the city, have expressed "disgust" with conditions which they term "disgraceful" and declare that they intend to show by investigation that conditions warrant a cleanup of the theaters and a stop to such practices in public places.

WARNING SPURNED.

Meanwhile the flapper and Romeo continue to show their devotion in their own way and in places of their choosing.

Catch-as-catch-can holds, cheek-to-cheek dancing and other bold, modern methods of tripping the light fantastic must cease in Kansas City dance halls this winter.

The board of public welfare has so decreed, and a set of rules regulating the position of dancers while in motion, their relative distance while dancing and other provisos on their conduct on the dance floors is being drafted.

Dance hall inspectors and proprietors and managers of the halls will be furnished with a set of the rules, and strict enforcement will be demanded.

Recovery of Auto Victim Predicted

MODESTO, Oct. 25.—Earl Marks is expected to recover from serious injuries sustained early yesterday morning when his car was struck by a passing truck when he was returning with D. L. Ginter, an employee, from Stockton. Marks is a jeweler here.

Both men were thrown to the pavement unconscious and lay thus probably for half an hour before passing autoists picked them up. The truck did not stop to give aid.

Marks' car, an inclosed one, is believed to have turned over twice. Marks has a probable basal fracture of the skull. Ginter has a fractured collar bone.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN SLAIN.

ELY, Minn., Oct. 25.—William Ayres, captain of the local high school football team, was found dead yesterday on the school's athletic field, a revolver clutched in his hand. Whether he committed suicide or was accidentally shot has not been determined. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ayres of this city.

U. C. THANKED FOR AID GIVEN JAPAN

BERKELEY, Oct. 25.—A letter from Japan to the students of the University of California has been received by Graduate Manager R. W. Cortelyou. The message is from Matsunaro Naoki of Tokyo, an officer of Keio University.

Naoki is acquainted with many of the college students as a result of the tours he arranged for the university baseball team three years ago, and the glee club last year. In his letter the Japanese thanks the Californians for the relief funds being sent to Tokyo and Yokohama, and assures them that those cities will be rebuilt. A postscript to the letter contains the information that Kei university was not destroyed by the earthquake and fire.

Mother Says Bride Neglects Her Son

(By International News Service.)

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 27.—An elderly woman, calling at the office of Prosecutor Herbert W. Mitchell, complained that her son was "being slowly starved to death" because his bride "won't cook the same way" the mother-in-law does. Mother-in-law wanted prosecutor to step in and "save" her son's life.

Prosecutor Mitchell told her that the young man "should speak for himself" to the bride. Being married himself, the prosecutor knows what an outsider might expect if he intervened.

"That's just the trouble. The poor boy seems to like her cooking, but I know what's good for him. Didn't I cook for him for 26 years?" asked the indignant mother-in-law as she left the prosecutor's office.

Son Hurt by Mule; Wife Is Under Knife

He is the son of B. L. Blackmore, whose wife underwent a serious operation in the Lane hospital, San Francisco, yesterday. Her condition is critical.

(By International News Service.)

COLERAIN, Ohio, Oct. 27.—A huge moonshine still, mounted on a flivver chassis, was confiscated by Sheriff Dunphee and two deputies before daylight near here recently on a public highway. The driver, a foreigner, was arrested.

The 150-gallon still was bolted to the chassis beside the tank which held about 400 gallons of mash. An acetylene tank on the side of the truck provided fuel for heating the mash. A container at the rear of the machine caught the liquor as it passed through the coils.

STATE TO FURNISH BERKELEY TREES

Resources of the state nursery will be available for the reforestation of the burned over areas of the Eastbay hills, State Forester M. B. Pratt assured the Contra Costa Hills Fire Protection committee, which met at the Oakland Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon. Pratt also offered the services of a steel construction worker now connected with the State Forestry Division for the erection of any steel observation towers the Eastbay cities may decide to erect on the hills.

Chairman Paul I. Daniels named a committee including Prof. Emanuel Fritz and Prof. F. X. Schumacher of the Forestry Division of the University of California, and Secretary Charles Keeler to prepare a report embracing all suggestions so far tabulated for the prevention and control of fire in the Eastbay hills.

57% of all Retail Stores are Poorly Lighted

Is yours one of these? Good store illumination increases sales—pays you a real profit—because well lighted merchandise is already half sold. It creates an impression of cleanliness, neatness, and up-to-dateness, upon even the least discriminating shopper. Clerks and customers alike enjoy the cheerfulness which it radiates.

Also, in properly lighted stores every foot of floor space may be utilized, because the light penetrates to the farthest corners. Customers can determine the true value of the merchandise, and thus the sales force is able to make more sales with fewer exchanges. In short, the store's earning capacity is increased without adding to rents and sales over-head.

If your store is one of the 57% losing profits through poor lighting, call on your local dealer or the P. G. and E. lighting specialists TODAY! They will be glad to advise you on your individual lighting needs.

CONCRETE WHARF FOR MONTEREY IS URGED ON COUNCIL

Many Lines Promise to Call at Port if Facilities Are Provided.

MONTEREY, Oct. 24. — Construction of a steel and concrete wharf will be urged upon the city council here at its next meeting by a committee named by the Chamber of Commerce Monday night. It was declared at the chamber meeting that at least two lines were convinced that sufficient tonnage to warrant making this place a port of call could be secured. These lines, it is said, have made their preliminary surveys on the matter, and are convinced that if a large and commodious wharf were built, at which ocean-going shipping might dock, that they would be justified in placing the port of Monterey upon their list of sailings.

The chamber was told that still another line — an inter-coastal one—plying between Ensenada and San Francisco bay, desired to call here whenever dockage facilities would permit. It was stated that the additional freight charges between Monterey and bay city ports, where produce for the Orient was trans-shipped for the Orient, was a great handicap to local canners, and would eventually mean the death of the industry here, if something were not done to bring ocean-going vessels into this port, from whence the product of "Cannery Row" might be shipped direct, without the extra haul to San Francisco over the railroad, or by local freight boats.

The chamber, at Monday's session, declared in favor of the city council calling a bond election, at which time the people of Monterey would be asked to vote the funds for the erection of a suitable and adequate municipal wharf.

WATSONVILLE NEWS

WATSONVILLE, Oct. 25.—O. H. Whiteman has bought the H. W. Judd residence property in Center street and plans to occupy it soon. G. E. Oppel has purchased the new bungalow of W. E. Phenice in Lincoln street. He has already removed with his family into the new home.

Dr. P. K. Waters, pioneer physician of this city, who retired from active practice several years ago, has completed a post-graduate course in modern medical methods and has re-opened his office, being located for the time being with his son, Dr. Henry G. Watters, in the Lettunich building. Dr. Henry Watters plans to remove his office to the Watsonville hospital as soon as extensive additions to that institution now under way are completed.

Native Daughters from Salinas, Santa Cruz and Hollister joined with the Watsonville parlor in a reception to Mrs. Amy McAvoy of Pittsburg, grand president of the order, Tuesday night. The recently installed officers of the local parlor exemplified the ritualistic work. A banquet followed the ceremonial.

A joint reception to Miss Myrtle Byrd and Fred H. Kane, district deputies of the Catholic Daughters of America and the Knights of Columbus, respectively, for this district will be held Friday night in Odd Fellows' hall. Miss Lotta Allison and Vincent Anderson are co-chairmen of the committee on arrangements.

OROVILLE

OROVILLE, Butte County, Oct. 25. — Within the brief period of two hours father and son, Henry V. Russell and Oscar Russell, died from pneumonia at their home near Wyandotte. The family had been in Wyandotte only six days, having arrived there six days ago from Otis, Oregon, to engage in the olive harvest. The widow and eight children survive. The deceased had been ill only a few days.

Frank Stiller, colored, was arraigned in the justice court before Harry S. Hills Tuesday and canged with the murder of Will Jones, also colored. Stiller is declared to have shot Jones with a shot gun about two hours after the two had an altercation at a party attended by colored people on October 13. Jones lived about five days after the shooting.

The Oroville-Chico county road, which has been reconstructed into an oiled macadam surface, will be thrown open to public use this week, according to announcement made to the board of supervisors by M. C. Polk, contractor. The road is 15¼ miles in length and connects with the state highway at Durham. By this road the distance between Oroville and Chico is shorter than by the state highway.

That men dislike to pay alimony and that all men are alike in this respect was the sum and substance of a lecture delivered by Superior Judge H. D. Gregory with Charles M. Corbin, of Sacramento, before him for failure to pay. "You are like all the rest," declared Judge Gregory. "You don't want to pay it and you won't unless the court forces you to do so."

Beautiful Christmas cards picturing California scenes, are now being prepared at the instance of the newspapers and chambers of commerce throughout the state, and Miller asked for local co-operation in support of the plan, which was endorsed by members present.

Areliano is alleged to have attacked the injured man at an early hour Monday morning, and to have beaten him over the head with a stick. Whether the attack was the result of a brawl or something else has not yet been determined, but Areliano is said by Sheriff John M. Boyes to have confessed, and if the unconscious man dies he will be charged with murder.

To be acquitted by a jury in the superior court here on a charge of stealing a revolver, only to be rearrested on a charge of violating the firearms law, was the experience Monday of Jack Flynn, who is again in the county jail after once fighting his way to freedom. When the prosecution failed to prove to the jury's satisfaction that Flynn stole the revolver, he carried from a local gun store, the sheriff's office immediately ordered him rearrested for having possession of the gun in question without a permit.

Pleasanton Notes

PLEASANTON, Oct. 25.—The Pleasanton Post of the American Legion has been very active the past week in offering two social attractions which were very well patronized and which proved enjoyable affairs. A dancing party in the Foresters' hall, followed some evenings later by a card party in the clubrooms, have assisted in augmenting an interesting social calendar of the post. At the card party almost a hundred persons attended, making it one of the biggest ever given in this city and prizes were awarded Mrs. Peter Koopman, Mrs. Charles Chicazola, Miss Bernice Blair, and Messrs. Joseph Leitch, Wilfred Nevis and Charles Church. The proceeds of both affairs will help to swell the clubhouse building fund, which the post is very much interested in.

The success of the Alameda County Farm Bureau Federation's first big picnic and "get-together" meeting at the Pleasanton training park last Saturday was such a success that local business men and others interested in Pleasanton's prosperity are starting work toward bringing the affair back again next year. Several hundred persons from all parts of the county attended the "doings."

One of the largest auction sales ever conducted in this section took place here on Tuesday, when the personal property of August Pierags was disposed of at his place near this city. Pierags, who has been interested in farming in this valley for more than twenty years, recently lost his sight, following an operation, and his retirement from his ranch was imperative. The occasion brought together friends from all over the county and practically everything was disposed of. Both Mr. and Mrs. Pierags will continue to make this valley their home.

Crawford Letham of this city, who was injured last Thursday evening in an automobile accident near San Mateo, is recovering steadily from the injuries sustained and expects to be moved to his home in San Mateo within the next few days. Letham is at the Mills Memorial hospital and yesterday attending physicians gave out word that he would be able to leave the hospital before Sunday. He will not be able to return to this city for another couple of weeks.

The main social attraction of the month will take place Saturday evening with the A. K. Cs. hosts at a Hallowe'en ball. Several hundred invitations have been distributed to friends throughout the county and a very large guest list is being anticipated for the affair. An extensive decorative scheme, which has taken the club more than a month to prepare, will transform the I. D. E. S. hall into a gay setting. William Leitch and Andrew Jorgenson are president and secretary respectively of the club, with Gus Schneider in charge of the decorations for the hall.

MARTINEZ C. OF C. BACKS DISTRICT MOSQUITO FIGHT

Organization of Area to War on Pests Indorsed by Body.

MARTINEZ, Oct. 25.—Indorsement was given by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night of a proposal by the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce that a mosquito eradication district be formed in the territory extending from Martinez to Antioch and extending as far inland as Pacheco and Concord.

Four representatives of the Pittsburg chamber laid the proposal before the Martinez organization last night. Their proposal met with immediate endorsement and promises of hearty co-operation.

Petitions asking the board of supervisors to approve formation of the proposed district will be circulated immediately in Martinez, Pittsburg, Bay Point, Antioch, Concord and other smaller communities. Organization of such a district would permit of a tax not exceeding 10 cents on 100 to provide funds for eradication work.

The Pittsburg delegation, consisting of City Manager R. M. Dorton, City Attorney R. N. Wolfe, Otis Loveridge and J. M. Kelly, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, declared the proposal has met with approval in every community affected.

Various methods of eradication were explained by Kelly, including importation of Australian minnows and use of oil.

The mosquito has been a persistent pest in sections proposed to be included in the district while no locality has failed to receive a bit of unwelcome attention.

WOODLAND, Oct. 5.—At a special meeting of the city trustees yesterday, Dr. Francis L. Newton was elected city health officer. There were several applicants. One case of infantile paralysis has appeared in Yolo county and the civic authorities believe that it was best to make an immediate appointment in order to keep watch upon the health of the city. Mayor Joseph Jacobs stated that the health conditions warranted the naming of a special officer aside from the county health department, to look after the health of the city.

San Jose to Vote On Annexation of Three Districts

Greater San Jose Leaders Announce Election in December.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 25.—W. T. Rambo, among the most active leaders of the Greater San Jose movement, announced today that a special election on the proposed annexation of College Park, Hester Park and several other sections adjoining the western city limits of San Jose will be held between December 1 and 15.

The area covered by the annexation proposition which is to be voted on is occupied by about 10,000 people. Rambo states that a canvass of the section which it is proposed to annex has been most encouraging. Practically all of the residents, especially those who have moved in recently, have expressed themselves in favor of annexation.

The proposed annexation of the territory just west of the city has been agitated here for the past two years. The entire district affected by the annexation movement is without fire protection, although some of the most costly and beautiful homes in Santa Clara county are located in the Hanchett, Hester and College Park tracts. Aside from the protection of the office of Sheriff George W. Lyle, the area is unpoliced except for one special watchman who patrols the various districts after dark.

LONG BATTLE OF WITS IN HENEY SUIT IS ENDED

Both Sides Rest Case After Most Bitterly Fought Contest on Record.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 25.—Both the plaintiff and the defendants in the suit brought by Francis J. Heney against Mary A. and Edwin Heney for legal possession of the $200,000 vineyard estate, "Chateau Ricardo," of the late Richard Heney, Jr., rested their case before Superior Judge F. B. Brown yesterday after a month of the hardest fought legal battling ever seen in a local courtroom.

Arguments in the case will be held on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Testimony of Seth Heney, nephew of the well-known graft prosecutor, who is the plaintiff in the action, featured yesterday's session of the trial. Seth Heney testified that his uncle Francis J. Heney, had never once mentioned, before August 4, 1922, that he intended to take possession of Chateau Ricardo if he had to borrow money to hold it. Francis J. Heney had previously testified that he had repeatedly over a period of years warned his nephews, Edwin and Seth, that he intended to take over the estate. Seth Heney also testified that Francis J. Heney had said at that time, August 4, 1922, that he had not thought of putting Edwin off the ranch, which was contrary to the testimony given by Francis Heney several days ago. Seth declared from the stand that he first heard the statement that Francis Heney intended to put Edwin off the ranch when the plaintiff made the statement from the stand in court last Wednesday.

He turned around and hurried to Santa Clara where he reported the incident to Marshal George Fallon and Constable Tom Maloney. The officers went to the spot indicated, searched the vicinity but found no one.

Azzarello claims he has no known enemies who would shoot him, and believes that he was mistaken for another personage.

WALTON IS IMPEACHED

Now that Oklahoma has acted to unseat its Governor one may expect to hear from Governor Walton and his friends a charge that Government in the state has been turned over to a secret organization, and that the mask and the hood are more powerful than constituted authority.

The charge may or may not be true. There is more evidence to support the belief that the people of Oklahoma have grown tired of dictators, whether the dictator be a Governor or a fraternity. With Walton out of office they will have the opportunity to show to the rest of the country whether or not they place state and nation ahead of the invisible empire.

It is idle to say that the opposition to Governor Walton was all from one source. The Farmer-Labor group which put him in office is now against him; the recent election showed that the mass of the people are against masked orders and Jack Walton at the same time.

Walton, it must be remembered, forbade a meeting of the Legislature; he attempted to interfere with a public election, hired gunmen to intimidate voters, and then sought to prevent the counting of ballots. Leaving all question of the secret order aside, Governor Walton's program in Oklahoma has been objectionable to a large number of voters who were anxious and emphatic in repudiating him at the polls.

According to Bruce Bliven, who has been in Oklahoma to report the situation for the New Republic, "a majority of the plain people of the State are unquestionably against both Walton and the secret society." They know of charges that Walton was denied membership in the order, they recall that his fight against masks is of recent origin and that the instances of brutality he cites are two years old. Correct or not, the sentiment is, according to Mr. Bliven, that Governor Walton has made political capital out of the fight on the order just as the order itself has played politics.

The situation is comparable only to that which developed in some states immediately before the Civil War was precipitated. There were armed camps in Oklahoma and repeated predictions of bloodshed. Through it all the people have acted with remarkable restraint. They have insisted upon their American privilege of the ballot and with the ballot they have repudiated their Governor.

Governor Walton impeached by his legislature, will seek by court action to hold his chair. Until the question is settled and until the people of Oklahoma indicate how they are to deal with that other problem which is before them the whole country will continue to be interested keenly in a situation that is unique.

APPROVAL FOR WOOD.

Secretary weeks' message to Governor-General Wood, declaring that "You are entitled to the support of the administration and you have it," is timely and emphatic. There can be no question now in the Islands but the prestige and authority of the American Governor is upheld in Washington.

At the same time there are indications that the wild talk of revolution indulged in by Filipino politicans has lost for them a large part of that position they held, for the moment, as self-styled martyrs. Governor-General Wood has gained in strength while the weeks of inactivity upon the part of Quezon and the rest have proved that they are not indispensable to Philippine government.

The Weeks letter treats the controversy as a legal dispute and ignores the politics which Quezon has sought to inject. It will be remembered that the Filipinos have claimed that American interference with department heads and the Mayor of Manila was in violation of certain sections of the Administrative Code. It replied that the Filipino Legislature has passed laws which violate the organic act and therefore null and void. No [illegible] a law without consent of the Governor-General, or, if passed over his head, of Washington.

Behind the whole argument is a question of politics which had its start in the Wilson administration when the Islands were given a lax government and when politicans were accorded an almost free rein. Restoration of the Constitutional government and the application of system and law has meant a curtailing of the powers of the Island politicians in office. The job had to be undertaken by someone and Governor-General Wood was the man for the place.

DEMOCRACY AND DICTATORS

Perhaps the most notable of the Lloyd George utterances in this country are those devoted to the trend toward dictatorship in disturbed European countries.

The dictator in Europe has not proved his claims. The very fact that a dictator can step into power is evidence of too great a strain upon democracy, of a public over-burdened with debts or inured to governmental ills. When a dictator is the best way out, no way is a pleasant one.

As dictators go, Europe has the examples of Russia and Italy. Without question, Mussolini served a purpose in placing upright a tottering state. He used severe means and exercised cruel authority upon his neighbors but he re-established Italian credit. At once he was great and despotic, able and ruthless. Upon his ability to alter his methods with changed conditions will depend his political life. It is the Mussolini example, despite the critics and the many occasions for criticism, which is raising the hopes of other nations for a remedy in a temporary experiment with one-man power.

In Russia the dictatorship of Lenin and Trotsky has done wonders for certain classes in the larger municipalities. It has done worse than nothing for the large mass of peasants in whose name the soviet state was erected.

Mussolini was wise enough to base his claims for power upon the democratic hopes and aspirations of the people. The bolshevik government is now frankly anti-democratic and anti-liberal. It makes pretense of nothing but a representation of the city proletariat and has retreated so far from its original stand that the Soviet of today is in few ways like that of four years ago.

Lloyd George is convinced that in the long run the democratic institution is the only one capable of producing the wise and unselfish leaders, the big men who are equal to emergencies. He agrees with historians that there are times when the appearance of a dictator is the only means of saving democracy. Then it is that the people take thought, rally around the healthy and constructive elements of their endangered nation, and start anew to build a government upon their wills and their hopes.

So Lloyd George asks why it is so many nations are turning their hopes to dictators. He wonders what will come of the experiments in abandoning popular government and how the dictators can be expected to do what parliaments and ministries have failed in doing.

He is not the only one who is wondering.

AWAY BRUSHING UP

Thousands of California teachers including those of Stockton and San Joaquin county, are this year attending institute sessions in Oakland discussing educational problems, gathering new ideas and methods to be used perhaps, in their own work and generally getting such inspiration as will improve the schools and the educational standards of California. It was decided locally by a vote taken some time ago that on alternate years the teachers would go out of town for this annual refreshment of mind and broadening of pedogogical methods. The gathering in Oakland this year has, besides our own city and county teachers, the teaching forces of San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Richmond, Martinez, San Rafael, Napa and the counties in which they are located. This aggregation of many men and especially many women of many minds is sure to provide a quickening impulse as individuals of the group compare notes or listen to gifted speakers and enter into discussions.

One of the advantages in going now and again to the large centers of education instead of having the institute sessions at home is that by concentration of finances big speakers may be secured to address the teachers. With modern methods of projecting and amplifying the voice it is as easy to address and be heard by thousands of listeners as by a few hundred or a few score—and much easier to pay the speakers. An interesting program is scheduled in Oakland and some lively discussions are on. Many of them are of interest, or should be, to parents as well as teachers.

Meantime the children of this section are doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.—Stockton Record.

The LANTERN

PARIS.—I wish I had a mint of money. I know what I would do with it. I would have cast in metal that extraordinary thing which Rodin left behind him, called The Gate of Hell. He worked on it for twenty years; the model was completed, and several of the figures have been cast in bronze on the scale which he projected for the entire work, notably that famous one The Thinker, or The Poet. But there are nearly two hundred other figures which remain in miniature. How overwhelming The Gate of Hell would be, merely physically and as an assault upon the nerves, one may conjecture from the size of The Thinker; but bulk is, naturally, the least of the attributes which make it what Clem Hawley, the historian, would call "one of the seven wonders of the world."

* * *

The conception is based on Dante; and it is interesting that Rodin worked it out only a few blocks from the place where Dante lived when he attended the university in Paris. But what Dante puts within his Inferno is, to me, almost an anti-climax after looking at the tremendous entrance, over which broods that sad Thinker—lost, perhaps, in contemplation of the question (more modern than Danesque) as to how here can be both an eternal hell and a loving deity in the same universe.

* * *

Let me digress briefly to say a word concerning another artist; When Louis Wolheim as "Yank," in Eugene O'Neill's great play, "The Hairy Ape," sits at the gate of his own peculiar hell, sweating and suffering with the unaccustomed agony of thought, he unconsciously becomes Le Penseur; so much so that Rodin might have modeled the figure from this splendid actor.

* * *

But if La Porte de l'Enfer were to be cast on the magnificent scale projected by Rodin, what is there on earth that it might open into? Not, by the very nature of the thing, into a church! What could it give entrance to that would not be less terrible and less real than itself? Perhaps Rodin's Balzac, who looks out from his cloak and hood of shadow like an owl with something of a demon in him—an owl who has flown to far and seen too much ever to be happy on the roost again—might have given the answer. But it would take the author of The Human Comedy to advance a fitting suggestion for placing this terrific illustration of The Divine Comedy; it is a flight beyond me. All I can suggest is that it could be placed nowhere except, literally, at the entrance to a veritable hell.

* * *

Speaking of Rodin's Balzac, it is hard to understand the controversy that spluttered around it some years ago. For the thing stands there in its twilight like a monstrous bird—not merely an owl but a bat who has known the catacombs of human existence, a condor who has known the peaks, and also a curious pigeon of the eaves who has listened and pried into what goes on under the roofs of both palaces and garrets—in short, Balzac himself.

* * *

Rodin did Hugo a number of times, and attempted to do him heroically. But it never quite comes off, to my notion. Hugo, attempted heroically by Rodin, is always merely Hugo rather lumpily naked and somewhat obesely dead. But one has a suspicion that Hugo liked being done as a titan and a demi-god. Well, he was a titan and a demi-god, but he should have contrived to be somewhat less conscious of it himself.

* * *

In Hugo's house, in the Place des Vosges, there is a table to which are solemnly fixed four ink wells and four pens, the ink wells and pens of Hugo, Lamartine, George Sand and Dumas; and with them are letters testifying that these are the very pens and these the very ink-bottles with which certain of their masterpieces were written. Hugo probably took this pretty seriously; it is conceivable that he carefully saved each notable pen from the time of "Hernani" on, for he would be quite capable of reflecting that there must inevitably come a day when the public would wish to worship these pens.

* * *

And George Sand would be sufficiently impressed to make sure that an authentic pen, a pen that she had actually used was put on exhibition. But Dumas, the cheerful old liar, has scrawled something which may be freely translated: "This is the pen with which I wrote my last fifteen or twenty volumes."

* * *

And you know it is a lie just as well as if you had seen and heard what happened when he got the request for a pen. "Hand me a pen, my boy," he would say to one of his collaborators, "there, that one will do—any one will do; the thing I want is a pen, the first one that comes to hand. And that ink bottle there is empty, is it not? Any ink bottle that you are not using! Send them along; send them along! But wait! First I must write a little document testifying to the authenticity of this material, and I shall be generous to this pen and credit it with twenty volumes. I have never yet disappointed the expectations of my public."

* * *

I can imagine him giving away a pen once a month, and swearing each time that it was the very pen with which he wrote every word of "The Three Musketeers," and wondering, perhaps, if one of them might not really be the pen. How should he know which one it was? And how could he understand anybody wanting to save pens, or time, or property, or money, or anything else?—the generous old liar!

ONLY TWO MONTHS MORE

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

New York Sun: "Until today there has been nothing to suggest any possibility of an actual physical outbreak in the Philippines. It is difficult to believe that the population has outdistanced Quezon; and it is unlikely that a statesman who is on the whole getting on very well with his political practice should give the word for a resort to the greater uncertainties of military action. We may have been misinformed, but it has been noticed before that isolation at the other end of the Pacific breeds an unnecessary nervousness in the American colony."

---

Louisville Courier-Journal: "We have ventured the opinion that a conference between the president and the several governors with the enforcement of the laws as their thesis—not a single law but all laws—could accomplish a great deal of good. We regard this as particularly true because President Coolidge has himself been the governor of a great state and as such was jealous of its historic rights under the constitution, and has been too recently removed from that political office to have imbibed new ideas on the subject."

---

New York Tribune: "Paragraph 280 of the disciplinary regulations of the Methodist Episcopal church, which requires abstention from dancing, playing at games of chance, attending theaters, horse races, dancing parties or patronizing dancing schools, was adopted in 1872. There have been a number of efforts within the church to repeal this paragraph on the grounds that it is too stringent and as it reads neither enforced nor enforceable. In 1908 the bishops urged the general conference to drop the reference to specific amusements, and in 1916 a motion to this effect at the general conference was beaten by the comparatively narrow margin of 434 to 360 votes."

---

Portland Oregonian: "Those people who carry opposition to American membership in the league of nations to such an extreme that they wish the league to die would be unpleasantly surprised at the evidence of active life shown in the 'Third Year Book of the League of Nations.' The league has become the instrument by which many things are done wherein all nations have a common interest, and in order to have a part in what is done regarding such matters as public health, white slavery and the opium traffic, the United States has participated in its proceedings unofficially."

---

Detroit Free Press: "The American Automobile Association suggests an official milestone in every city in the United States from which distances to that city shall be reckoned on all roads. There will be an amen to that suggestion from thousands who motor over strange roads in this country. As The Free Press has remarked, it is possible to be ten miles from Detroit according to a roadside marker and then, after traveling toward the city for a period to discover by another that it is still ten miles to Detroit."

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CLEVER.

Sometimes I think it were better if never
We'd heard of or uttered the little word "clever."
Though clever means skill of a certain degree,
There are so many things it is better to be.

Now clever's a word that is sweet to the ear;
It flatters our pride and misleads us, I fear.
It tells the young fellow who's tempted to shirk
That if he is clever he won't have to work.

It tells the young fellow unwilling to wait,
That if he is clever he needn't go straight;
Full many a wrong deed it tempts him to do
By saying if clever he needn't be true.

But better it were to have patience to wait
And little by little to grow to be great,
And loyalty harvests more friendship and joy
Than just being clever can gather, my boy.

Be honest, be cheerful, be kindly, be brave,
Be willing to work and be willing to save;
It is fine to be clever, but take this from me,
There are numberless things it is better to be.

Tribute to Diablo.

A writer signing himself "Blacksmith" has just published in the Contra Costa Courier of Walnut Creek the latest tribute to Mount Diablo. It is entitled "The Seer and Sentry," and is as follows:

THE SEER AND SENTRY.

He stands at guard, our sentry grim;
Brown hills around him sleep.
He stood his watche through ages dim
Beside a mighty ocean's rim
While years and storms passed over him,
A vigil stern, to keep.

As down the fleeting years agone
He saw the ships of Spain,
What changing scenes, as time draws on,
This mount shall see. What lives in pawn
As mankind marches toward the dawn—
What labors, and what pain.

Our back-coast land around him lies,—
Around Diablo's base.
O may glad hearts and laughing eyes
That view his summit in the skies
Be moved to deeds of high emprise
As fits his stern old face!

20 YEARS AGO TODAY

Cragie Sharp, representing the Alameda commission to the St. Louis Exposition, was in Livermore yesterday for the purpose of arousing interest in a Tamray township exhibit.

Rev. Dwight E. Potter, pastor of Union street Presbyterian church, acted as toastmaster at a recent "at home" given by the Christian Endeavor society of that church.

The motormen and conductors who have been transferred from the Oakland transit lines to the new ferry system were recently given special instruction in operating the new type of cars.

ONE MAN CAR NOT SAFE, SAYS WRITER.

Editor of The Tribune:

Robert Cummings, you say truthfully that Mayor Davis is the most efficient Mayor Oakland has ever had. Now, let's you and I an all others stand back of him in his fight for what he deems best for our city. That the one-man cars are dangerous I know from a hair-raising experience of my own and I have never ridden in one since. Oakland is a city, and an old-time horse car is just as much in place on our downtown streets as these "Toonerville" horrors, and far less dangerous. Let us stand by the man whom we have put in office and, letting the "Toonervilles" go bobbing on their way, take passage in our old, safe and sane antiques, even if we do need a block and tackle, almost, to get into some of them.

Isn't the O. & S. F. T. always dinning into our ears the slogan, "SAFETY FIRST," and now, they get peeved because we want that very thing.

LADY LYON.

HERE IS VOLUNTEER FOR BOOSTER JOB.

Editor of The Tribune:

Dear Sir: Having lived in Los Angeles 12 years and seeing it more than double in population during the 12 years. During the ten months that I have resided here, I have noticed many substantial improvements; but nothing in comparison to the foundation for a big metropolis. I shall not at this time undertake to enumerate any of nature's endowments; but if there are a few good substantial men interested sufficiently to join hands to make it a city known over the world to be progressive, while I am here, I would like to be one of the horses in the team to drag it into the live column.

We shall need a first-rate manager and assistants. Who is ready to pull in such a team? Let us get together. Certainly you must have better leaders than I am? I seek only to do my mite.

J. M. FIX.

WOULD HAVE COURTS SETTLE ONE-MAN CAR.

Editor of The Tribune:

I do not believe that the action of the council of Oakland in operating motor busses in opposition to the Oakland Traction Co. is good judgment or meets with the public approval. Because this company does not comply with an ordinance recently passed barring one-man cars from its lines, the council is not justified in expending seven thousand dollars, or any other sum, in motor busses without the consent of the electorate. It would be more sensible to have the validity of the ordinance determined by a court of jurisdiction. Surely in this controversy the city is not just or right in putting on opposition busses. It is against its best interests so to do, for the progress and prosperity of Oakland is dependent upon its transportation facilities.

There is another important matter to be considered, and that is the small investor, who has put his savings into this street railway enterprise; of these investors there are thousands, and very many are Oakland's own citizens.

The fact is, Mr. Editor, there is altogether too much political interference with business these days, especially against public service corporations. These should be left to work out their own problems, to the end that the public may get better service and fairer rates.

J. W. NELSON.

CITY WINS LAKE TAHOE CAMP SITE

Government Approves Oakland Application for Land North of Famous Resort; Tract Boasts Fine Beach

Despite a hitch that threatened Oakland's chance to acquire a site on the north end of Lake Tahoe for a municipal camp, Superintendent Jay Nash of the recreation department, today received official notice that Oakland's application was approved by the government.

Oakland gets the last federal reserve site on the lake. This site has been held inviolate for years by the government. Nash and a party last summer explored the country and decided that here was a place for a municipal camp. There is plenty of government land on the rocky hills behind Tahoe, but Nash found that this was so heavily timbered that no view of the lake was afforded. The site alongside the lake, including a sandy beach and a swampy lagoon, was considered ideal.

But high government officials demurred when they heard of it. The matter even went to Washington. Finally a party of the heads of the forest reserve visited the lake. They admit that they strove to find a camp site for Oakland, away from the treasured beach, but at last they were forced to admit that this was the only possible place.

"You are right," said the government officials. "There is no other place you can go. So we will have to give you this spot, which you must love, honor and cherish as long as you have it."

The government also agrees to drain the swamp in the lagoon, which Nash plans for a kiddies' boating and bathing beach.

WOMEN WILL PLAY CARDS TO BENEFIT AILING CHILDREN

That scores of little children now at Del Valle Farm, Livermore, under the care of the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association may be comfortably quartered for the winter in the new Preventorium for little children, scores of Eastbay women will play bridge or mah jongg tomorrow afternoon at the Hotel Oakland. The mammoth card party is being given under the direct supervision of the Sunshine Doll committee, with Mrs. Robert Wright directing the plans.

In August hundreds viewed the formal laying of the cornerstone of the new Preventorium, and now the dream of the Association is to be realized in the furnishing and proper equipment of the home for the winter.

Among the active women who have banded together in bringing about the benefit card party are Mrs. Sam Bell Wakefield, Mrs. Frederick Page Cutting, Mrs. Robert Wright, Mrs. Walton Norwood Moore, Mrs. Horace P. Brown, Mrs. Edward Haug, Mrs. Harvey Lindsay.

The work of caring for the children is under the direction of Miss Annie Florence Brown, president of the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association.

Furthering the work will be the annual Christmas Seal sale, the campaign for which was launched recently.

Phillips said that impending disgrace because of his arrest on a statutory charge led to the formation of the suicide pact. He pleads that he was insane at the time.

Armistice Day Message Is Given Out by Coolidge

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A message from President Coolidge, calling the attention of the nation to the deep significance of Armistice day, was made public last night by the League of Remembrance.

"It is now quite apparent," said the president, "that the observance of Armistice day is destined to be, for many years, one of the national sacramental occasions of deep significance. So long as the generation of young men who served in the world war, and those who supported them behind the lines, shall continue to color the national thought and interest, this occasion will be in no danger of losing its place in public thought. When they are gone it will just as surely be held sacred in the memories of those who are to come after as the other national memorial days have been. Observance of Armistice day will always be a reminder of the great part our nation took in the fraternity of the world in a time of overshadowing crisis. Already it has become a peculiarly significant world memorial day, celebrated on every continent by people who feel its special appeal because they were participants in the tremendous events which it celebrates. Such universal observance must tend to draw closer together the great communities in whose keeping are the destinies of our civilization, and to make them realize more and more the essential unit of human society."

The League of Remembrance was organized to obtain simultaneous and world-wide observance of Armistice day by two minutes' silence at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month.

The social manners of the typical Turkish gentleman are faultless.

FUNERAL SERVICE IS ARRANGED FOR MODESTO WOMAN

Funeral services will be held at St. Francis de Sales church tomorrow morning for Mrs. Donald E. Campbell of Modesto, who formerly lived in Oakland. Mrs. Campbell was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Altamont Pass Tuesday night while on her way to Oakland to visit her mother, Mrs. L. Kehoe, 861 Twentieth street.

The automobile in which Mrs. Campbell was riding with her husband ran into a truck which Campbell said was running without lights. Campbell is vice-president and general manager of the Woodtite laboratories in Modesto.

ALL EASTBAY TO JOIN FOR FIRE GUARDS

City Officials to Confer With Utilities District Heads to Devise Uniform Plans to Protect Entire Region

In order to reach some general and uniform plan to combat fires from any quarter, the officials of all the Eastbay cities will meet tonight with the directors of the Eastbay Public Utilities district, at the request of the latter organization. The session will be held in the civil service examination rooms at the city hall at 8 p. m.

The public utilities district, obligated to handle the water situation for all the Eastbay, recently investigated the causes of the Berkeley fire, and started certain moves toward forestalling any such disaster in the future. Chief Engineer Arthur P. Davis was empowered to deal with the water company concerning the laying of additional fire protection mains.

But at the latest meeting of the directors doubts were raised as to their jurisdiction in such a strictly local matter as the protection of the various cities. On the other hand, it was admitted that the cities are so closely connected that a danger to one is a danger to all. The utilities directors, therefore, decided to invite representatives of the cities to the general conference.

The ideas of mayors, commissioners and fire chiefs will be placed on record, it is admitted, and this may be the first of several inter-city conferences on the subject.

Rosalie, She Takes in 503 Nickels on Streets in Day

"Rosalie," the municipal one-man jitney, took in 503 nickles yesterday, on its initial working day, according to a report tendered General Manager W. J. Moorehead this morning by Fred Davie, motorman, conductor and chauffeur-in-chief of the new municipal gasoline transportation system. It was rumored that nearly $35 was taken in yesterday by noon, but this was found to be a canard. The day's income was $25.15.

General Manager W. J. Moorehead turned the account over to Auditor W. J. Moorehead of the municipal traction lines, who missioner W. J. Moorehead, head turned over the nickles to Comof the city department of finances.

The running expenses came to $14, according to Auditor Moorehead, while the $25.15 income insured the city a net profit of $11.15 yesterday.

The maximum seating capacity of "Rosalie" is 30, but on one trip it was reported that 38 rode, while there were 42 on another trip.

"Rosalie" is working on an hourly schedule, one round trip every 60 minutes.

Meantime several committees visited Moorehead today to inquire about the intentions of the city council Tuesday, when the council may or may not give final passage to the ordinance which lifts the punishment for any violation of the anti-jitney act. Many would-be jitney drivers assert they are ready to go into action along all the main streets of the city as soon as the penal clause in this act is revoked. Inquiries from jitney men are flooding the city hall.

Residents in the Foothill boulevard section today sent in a petition for a bus line along the Boulevard, from Fifty-fifth avenue to the golf links. This, it is admitted, will be considered with the other bus transportation questions.

SAND BLAST MANICURING AGED EGGS

Eggs, sailing under false colors, are the latest things to arouse the suspicion and ire of the city food department, according to Food Inspector Harry Smith.

Smith asserts that the sand-blast, the same as is used to clean big buildings, has been hit upon by clever minds as a means for improving the exteriors of eggs. An egg whose outside has been sand-blasted looks so white and clean that university experts have always picked them out as the freshest in any basket, according to Smith.

Sand-blast machines, says Smith, will be closely watched.

DANCE, SMILE TO SUCCEED, WOMEN URGED BY EXPERT

Mrs. Blair Tells Her Secrets of Health, Beauty to Another Throng.

Once more Ebell clubhouse was thronged last night with women who wanted to learn the ways to be slender, to be fat, to be young, to be well, to be beautiful, to be happy. The OAKLAND TRIBUNE presented Mrs. Margaret Josephine Blair, 60-year-old authority on these matters of importance to women, in the fourth of a series of complimentary demonstration lectures.

Hundreds of Eastbay women eagerly embraced the opportunity to share the secrets of the lovely woman who refuses to believe in age; who confesses that at fifty she was an invalid, and that by exercise, diet, careful care of skin and hair and dancing she remade herself into a healthy, happy normal, human being.

The system is simple. It offers an exercise for each defect, physical, mental and spiritual. It claims to banish worry, and wrinkles. And Mrs. Blair is the living example of the success of her theories.

"Life is a game," she declares. "Lift up your soul; dance; smile; be a success," she admonishes. "Bad nerves, dark outlooks, unhappy thoughts, never brought anything good to anyone. Bad nerves are ant to be bad stomachs. Exercise and dance. It will cure you if you do it right."

The dust rag polka, the dish-washing waltz were demonstrated by the attractive gray haired woman as a means of making housework a joke.

"Why be a drudge," she asked. "Be happy about the things you have to do. Put on a record and do them to music. You forget to be cross."

"Don't watch the clock," she cautioned the business woman. "Make efficiency your special game and you'll be surprised when it is time to close your desk."

"Women of 45 and 50 are the persons holding the responsible positions in the world today," she consoled those who felt they were growing too old to continue work. "Employers offering positions of trust are not seeking the foolish young miss with painted lips and plucked eyebrows. Put nature's color in your cheeks. Brighten up your eyes. Keep your waist line limber. Never let your knees grow stiff. Keep your skin soft and good to look upon. Ten minutes in the morning and ten minutes at night will do it. Why forfeit success in the world because you are lazy?"

PREPARING FOR BED.

How a woman should prepare herself for bed, giving attention to her feet, her hair, her neck and arms, her skin were demonstrated by Mrs. Blair. She showed, too, the methods which she used in arising in the morning. A short time was allowed for questions from the audience.

Mrs. Blair is holding two classes daily in Akhmes Temple for women who desire to study her methods and take her private lectures. The sessions are held at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. An hour of exercise and dancing is followed by an hour talk. Care of the skin will be considered in the classes tomorrow.

Because of the press of her personal work, Mrs. Blair has found it necessary to refuse invitations to appear before clubs that have sought to honor her. Engagements in other cities makes it imperative that she leave Oakland the middle of next week.

BULGARIA BANS REFUGEES.

SOFIA, Oct. 25.—The minister of the interior yesterday announced that no more refugees except Bulgarians would be allowed to enter the country because of the serious housing shortage. This is the first time there has been a general ban on immigration.

This Shows How Time Flies

Six hours at a time is its speed when it is being hoisted up the side of the new 20-story TRIBUNE building. Few Eastbay residents realize that the familiar TRIBUNE clock is so large that it has to be lifted in sections. The picture shows one of these ready to be fitted into place on new tower.

LARGE CITIES IN RUSSIA WILL BE WORLD'S RICHEST

They Own All Real Estate and Revenues to Be Unlimited.

(From a Staff Correspondent of the United Press.)

BERLIN.—(By Mail to United Press.)—Moscow, Petrograd and the other great Russian cities I have visited, will within a few years be the richest cities in the world. They are, right now, literally pulling themselves up out of the mire of distress and bankruptcy through the revenues they get out of the rents and the street railways.

Think of the Astor fortune! Think of the Vanderbilt fortune. Remember half a dozen other fortunes in New York and London, built up on city real estate, and then remember that these big Russian cities OWN ALL THE REAL ESTATE! They collect all of the rents, either direct or through leases, and to date they have expended most of their efforts toward keeping rents down.

Just wait until they start raising rents! Think of the revenue in rents from a town of over a million and a quarter.

In addition, the city administrations own all the theaters, the big stores, the banks, the gas, electric light, fuel depots, etc. They operate the big gambling casinos and, while warning all good workmen against the evils of gambling, they cheerfully take their percentage if he will gamble.

CLOSELY INTERWOVEN.

The city administrations are, of course, very closely interwoven with the central administration, or the federal soviet administration; they are not 100 per cent efficient, but considerably more efficient than under the old regime. They are fanatics on public service and they will have all of this tremendous revenue to devote to civic progress.

Already, they are building schools, hospitals and a number of other civic institutions, looking toward educating the people either technically or generally, looking after the health of the people, etc., but in their program this is merely a start.

The big men in the soviet government have convinced themselves that all money spent on exterior propaganda is money wasted, until Russia itself is its own best selling argument—until all they have to do to put their idea over in a capitalistic country is to point to Russia and say: "Look what we did in Russia!" From an American standpoint, that will be a long time, but from the German, for instance, it won't be so long.

PEASANT IS GROUCHY.

The city man right now in Russia is in pretty good shape. The peasant is grouchy—not at the political system particularly, but at the economic disabilities under which he is working. In brief, the Russian farmer is up against the same thing the Minnesota farmer is fighting—low grain prices and high cost of manufactured produce. Times aren't so good with the peasant, but the peasant has no alternative program than that offered by the soviets, which, in brief, is pretty much the same advice that the American government is giving American farmers—simply to stick it out, better times are coming.

The Russians are exporting some grain—seven shiploads to France while I was in Moscow, and I read the announcement of a big rye contract being signed with the Dutch. If the export business picks up, this will stiffen the grain price.

Moscow is infinitely more Russian than Petrograd and, being the capital, is infinitely more busy. With a million and a half inhabitants, there are barely 500 non-Russians in Moscow.

Veterans Plan Big Armistice Day Fete

RICHMOND, Oct. 25.—Elaborate plans are underway to give Richmond a fitting Armistice Day celebration. A committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will unite with other war organizations in staging a celebration here November 10. The committee consists of Aalph Woods, Ed Seger and Fred A. Heegar.

The organizations invited to participate are the American Legion, Spanish War Veterans, G. A. R., and their sister auxiliaries, together with the Veterans of Foreign Wars. A musical program will be given at Red Men's hall, and talks will be made by department commanders of the various organizations. These details were worked out at a meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars last night.

ONLY CHILD COMES INTO DEBATE AGAIN TO GRATIFY FOLKS

THE "ONLY CHILD" has been talked of so often, because folks are INTERESTED, and not because I "drag it before the public." This is not MY column, but YOURS, and the Only Child idea must have meant a great deal, for nearly every day a letter or two comes in, either for or against.

The writer of this letter objects to the argument—and writes defending her views to the tune of about eight typewritten pages.

Dear Geraldine:

Some time ago while taking the rest cure I read some of your letters and advice along lines of adjustment in home affairs, and for a little while I enjoyed it.

Since then I have been lucky to find some light occupation, with enough income to keep me from starvation. This in itself was a healing balm and in addition I have chosen some mental therapy in the form of a lecture course, preparing myself a new line of work. To come back to your "home section," I wanted to say, I am still glancing over it once in a while to see what the subject is. And I have observed that you are still hammering at the "Only Child." I thought perhaps you have been short on material for writing, or may be this is your pet subject, because you have happened to hear of so many selfish "only children," who were crippled through their lack of social contact. But that is no reason that the one child was the cause of the deficiency.

Some times the parents see their own shortcomings in the first child so plain, so they don't want any more. Or they realize their incompatibility and prefer to have one rather than to bring more into their unhappy home. And then there is the economic reason. Among these parents I have found more "only" unspoiled children than I have seen in a large percentage of homes where there are groups of children.

Subject of Social Contact Considered.

Whoever it is of your staff that is so down on the "only children" is lacking in experiences and better get a job as nurse somewhere to satisfy his or her yearning to mother or father some one-half dozen youngsters. Maybe he or she has missed his real vocation in life and is afraid the world is going into race suicide.

A friend of mine told me the other day she used to follow up your column at one time and she thinks you are writing all your own letters. She, too, has an only child and a mighty fine and perfect child. She is pretty sore at you for picking out a few exceptional defective ones with abnormal parents and blame it on to the "only child." If those "only children" that you have in mind had been raised among groups of children perhaps they would have died or else shown greater deficiencies. Many fine, great men and women were "only children" and some of them were raised on farms or in great solitude.

A normal human being does not need to have social contact forced onto him and especially not a child; it will seek it whenever it wants it, according to its individual needs. But it may be greatly injured by too much sociability, as children are subjected to in these days.

That "superficial culture" will be developed at the expense of the heart and of character building. Examples: Sunday schools and church feasting, called "religion."

Academic high schools in the form of preparatory institutions for smoke and harem evils. Did you ever hear of the large number of illegitimate children born of high school students? One year it was sixty in one of San Francisco's institutions. It is time that educators should realize that co-education between 12 and 20 is a failure. A nice young girl told me the other day that three-quarters of the B. high school boys smoke and a large number of girls (she had tried it, too), and they took something to prevent the odor so their parents could not find it out. She could not tell me anything about the dope evil. She was only a freshman.

I wonder how many parents of only children watch their son or daughter to find out where they spend their time and how many proud fathers and mothers of several children "don't bother" to find out.

Selfishness Develops On Sister's Birth.

And now I want to say a few words about myself (not that I want to jud[illegible] myself by the majority), but it counts. For instance: I was an only child up to the age of 10. I had cousins on each side as neighbors and later, schoolmates. I hardly ever walked to school alone. But when my sister came I had little time. I gave her all the care and attention, while before that I divided it among all the babies of the neighborhood. They said I got real selfish. Just "another form" of selfishness.

I never played with dolls (even when under 5 years old). I used to throw them away under the apple trees. And money I used to plant like beans. If the pennies did not grow I had no value of them.

Yet I loved real live dolls all my life, and I have value of money, as much as I should have, but I don't love it. I never played with boys. Just think how abnormal. When I was about 5 the boys used to make mean faces at me because they knew I was a cry baby. They loved to tease me and I used to run and cry for my mother. It crippled me so much that I never played or talked with boys except the most essential things with neighbors' boys when I needed to. But was I crippled? No, I was normal enough to outgrow it.

At the age of 16 I fell in love with a handsome young chap just because he was kind to me. He told me he was engaged. So I tried to forget him by nightly cryings. It cured it. At 17 and 18 I had other puppy loves. Although I had lost mother by that time and had no one to teach me the fundamental teaching I had in moral and character building had taken deep root. I belonged to no church. I was alone in the world, except some relatives who tried to make a slave out of me. I had temptations by the dozens, but they were not real temptations, because I did not love money—and the moral training I had as a child left in me a test for only fine moral young men. So the tempters did not tempt me to fall in love with them. And without love it was no temptation. And without being in love with money, I had no commercial passion to sell my soul. But that fable of the only child or sensitive child of the anti-boy and anti-doll habit never affected me badly. It didn't leave me crippled. I am well qualified to propose to a man if he is too shy (if he only would answer it). And I am well able to keep a man's friendship and chum with him, provided I have the right environment. I am not in favor of exhibiting my feelings before the curious public, who would sneer at it or misrepresent it. I could not give my best and at the same time fight the other side. My nerves were not made that way. Confusion would be the result. Some would call it neurotic or hyper-sensitive or selfishness of an "only child."

Specialty Shown In Bossing Line.

Did you ever study the only strong, or smart, or best child among one-half dozen sisters and brothers? Or the group? Who all remain unmarried? What is wrong there?

To come back to the only smart one of the lot. He is generally so spoiled that he becomes a chronic egotist and tyrant in spite of all his good qualities and hard work to boss his sisters and brothers and to be the sole support of his parents. Those that did not die from the tyrannic treatment of the smart of the oldest brother have been stunted by the knocks, the teasing, the domineering of this selfish smart brother or sister. And he or she have been stunted by his own domineering force. He has become a specialist in the line of bossing. He is ever ready to force himself onto others with his superior knowledge to humiliate those he loves, makes friends with enemies because he is afraid but torments and manages his friends' affairs without being employed by them or asked for the favors. And if he is not appreciated he condemns them as ungrateful. If he is a doctor he will treat everyone as he would a patient. If he is a court reporter, he would treat every one as a criminal, ever ready to hunt for faults and defects, but blind to his own, and if he has married he is always showing his power by making his wife jealous or tyrannizing her in one way or another or show her that he has her under obligations to him. If he kills her he eases his conscience by declaring it "Nature's law." He may be an office angel and a house devil. He may preach for women's freedom, but make a slave out of his own wife.

He may preach the gospel from the top and invite the devil from beneath. He thinks everybody is to like what he likes or be efficient for the things in which he is efficient, but he cannot see why he should be a blacksmith or a prizefighter or some other hercules, because he is only a small man. His nerves were not made that way.

Suggestion Offered For Married Woman.

And now a few words more about the high school girls. What a blessing we have begun here with the industrial and intermediate high school, so America will produce some working men and women, and not all kings and queens. But what about the poor married woman whose husband refused to let her go back to the office? Is there not a happy medium to settle this fight? Woman is not man's equal physically, then why should she be allowed to work eight hours per day? I would like to see a law that forbids all girls under 21 to work more than four hours in an office or do a clerk's work and all married women during the child bearing period to work, neither physically or mentally more than four hours outside of her home or in outside earnings.

This would please all men better, make more healthy and happy women and leave plenty of eight hours' work for matured and self-supporting women. I know you will say: "They need the money." Schools are paying 40 and 50 cents per hour to untrained women to run cafeterias. Why not arrange hours for laboratory work for domestic science students and let them earn their board and pay some of them 10 cents per hour and up? Nurses are paid while learning. And most untrained domestic science teachers for whom the taxpayers are spending enormous sums every year. What good does it do, if they are too superior to carry on their work for the good of the public except for entertainments and fancy affairs?

Children over 15 should learn to work and to be paid while going to school. The stores and factories and the private homes all make good work center to co-operate with the school for a few hours of field work per day.

Now I must stop. I am getting erratic. Thank you.

A. B.

My plea for the Only Child has been echoed time and time again by the children themselves.

They WANT brothers and sisters. They want the companionship, and I BELIEVE THEY ARE BETTER FOR IT. Of course it means pulled braids, and fights, but they are learning life at first hand.

I have never said that only children were ALWAYS SELFISH, SPOILED AND IMPOSSIBLE. Such a thing would be absurd, for there is many a mother and father who KNOW HOW TO RAISE ONE CHILD—OR HALF A DOZEN. It's the lonely boys and girls themselves who want brothers and sisters.

I am going to leave it to the Gang to answer whether co-education between the ages of 12 and 20 is a failure. You might as well say life is a failure because a certain number of people die in the poorhouse, or that aviation has failed because lives have been lost.

But I want you to answer that question. Will you?

WISE gold-diggers may save time by studying the domestic habits of their prospects.

Tess, the gold-digger, is neither an enameled saint nor a self-nominated candidate for a medal. In heroics she does not bid for even a bronze plaque. But at renunciation she can be one effective little renouncer when she sees something she wants to renounce.

Tess may deal in sentimentalism as a side line, but it is not the all-compelling characteristic of her nature. Let it be known that her heart is in a large part regulated by a head capable of assimilating and juggling figures with almost the unruffled bearing of an adding machine.

Somewhere in her head she carries a cross-reference filing system on the cash and credit ratings of the men she knows. Furtively she consulted her dope on a playful married man and found it satisfactory.

She let him play around now and then. He was generous in providing her with inocuous entertainment, dinners, shows, and rides—and the reliability of her dope-sheet was confirmed in a degree.

He proposed something that might have been construed as audacious. Tess recognized its suit that had obviously been made over, shoes that had seen too much service and a hat that was not in keeping with the season.

Tess, the gold-digger, thought of the man's reputed means, of the sums he had laid out on her at their few dinners and shows, and she was furious. It was the deficiency in his sense of consideration, the poverty of his imagination, his disregard for the eternal fitness of things, that enraged her, although Tess is somewhat like the adding machine even in her rages.

Right there Tess conscripted her roommate to answer all telephone calls at their apartment. When it was the married man that liked to play around, Tess could never be reached.

"Keep the dumbbell away from me," Tess would say. "He doesn't know how to be a sport with any one but himself, and I'll not put my time against his."

Revelations of a Wife

THE THING TO WHICH MADGE AWOKE FROM UNCONSCIOUSNESS AND THE PART HARRY UNDERWOOD PLAYED.

Out of the mists which had closed in on me when the shot that rang close to my ear had crumpled the yashmak-veiled woman who had held me, and other hands had drawn me backward—my head striking metal so hard I was rendered unconscious—I came to with my first thought, strangely enough, a distinct sense of relief. It was as if all trouble had been brushed away, though I could not in that instant conceive of the reason for this wave of inexpressible relief and rest. And then—I knew.

Weakly I struggled to sit upright, but even as I raised myself upon one hand there came from back of me the hand of a man, and I was gently, but nevertheless forcefully pulled back upon what I now realized was a chaise longue. Startled, I turned my head and gazed into the eyes of Harry Underwood.

Still in his bizarre costume, looking every inch the Spanish grandee, with his curious but immaculate clothes and his exquisitely-cared-for beard, Harry Underwood stared at me with inscrutable eyes. Had I not known that he was indeed renegade to his country, even to his race, itself, as well as recreant to his wife, Lillian, I should have understood his cryptic silence.

For there were still sounds in the hall beyond the closed door of this silken and perfumed boudoir, which plainly told me that the fight which had raged in the big music room when the lights had been switched off as my father stood in jeopardy of his life, had been carried up the broad stairs and was even now dying out down the upper hall. A succession of rapid knocks—obviously a code—sounded on the door.

Harry Underwood leaped to his feet, slid back the heavy bolts which secured this sinister door, opened it wide enough to permit one person to slip in—who it was I could not see because of my position on the chaise longue—and then, after a whispered colloquy, admitted one other man—my father.

He strode across the room and swept me into his arms, which trembled in a convulsive clasp.

"Praise be that you are safe, my dear," he crooned. "I feared that all our care had failed and you had been wounded or worse. If it hadn't been for—"

He tuned to clasp the hand of Harry Underwood, who was talking with the other person he had so carefully admitted, a short man of powerful strength and keen roving eyes, which proclaimed the fact that he was one of the service men who had rushed the great house at the psychological instant. It was becoming clearer each moment that the service men had waited until the last possible second to make sure of catching every person involved in the conspiracy.

"UNDERWOOD, WELL DONE."

And with this realization came the flashing comprehension — patent the instant my father had entered the room—that ont only had I misjudged Harry Underwood's loyalty to his country and its cause, but I had—there was now no time for thought, however, no second even to put my hand into Harry Underwood's hand in thanks for what he had done for me and mine. For the service man had again opened the door, and in walked Allen Drake, Dickey and Lillian Underwood.

"Hello, Harry," Lillian spoke with the nonchalance that had been hers in the years before he had fled with Grace Draper, before he had done the things against Dicky and to save Dicky which made even seeing him again so perplexing a problem to everyone of us. "Congratulations. You turned that nicely."

"Underwood, well done." Allen Drake was eyeing him with the imperturbable twinkle which even the terrifying events of the last half hour could not chasten. "As you, yourself, would say—'you done noble.' But," his womanish lashes for an instant veiled his eyes, and then disclosed them keen and cold, "that was too close a margin. If you continue in this game for the government, old man—"

The rest of Allen Drake's words were lost to me in the embrace with which Lillian was assuring herself I had not been seriously injured.

"You need not talk," she said with her wonderfully helpful understanding. "Although the doctor when he arrives undoubtedly will demand that you rest without even the strain of listening, I know that you could never rest without knowing—"

"To paraphrase," Dickey's voice came with forced jocularity from the other side of the chaise longue —and now I leaned back in his arms, which until that instant I had thought were those of my father, who, seemingly, had stepped aside to give place to Dicky, "you were in the hands of the enemy until we came, we saw, we conquered."

"Where d'you get that 'we,' Dicky-bird?" Lillian's cool voice interrupted.

"You will admit," Dicky was patently nettled, "that it was I who brought you the news that Madge's wrecked car had been discovered in the Ticer gravel—"

"Madge," Lillian spoke as imperturbably as though Dicky had not been there. "Jerry Ticer went to the pit for gravel, found your car reposing in his favorite spot for digging, drove to the farmhouse, found Dicky raging up and down—you needn't send me high signs, Dicky-bird, I know all about your row with Madge. If I only had the gentling of you, my lad—"

LILLIAN'S STORY.

"Can it!" Spluttered Dicky, but as gently as he always retorts to anything Lillian may say. "Katie overheard Jerry, and she let out a wail that shook the roof. She thought you dead. I tell you, Madge, it shook me to the marrow, but—"

"Yes, Katie gave me your note," Lillian interposed. "But without telephoning Mrs. Durkee, I knew you could never have arrived there. Then Harry telephoned, and—you know the rest."

"Katherine—" I said through lips which for the first time I realized were swollen.

"Safe!" Lillian exclaimed. "So is everyone you love." And then swiftly she sketched, as only Lillian can compress, the incidents which had occurred after I swooned.

"You may be sure that when your father was lured here by a false message supposed to come from you, he and Allen Drake well knew what was doing. Harry was looking after you, and they would have raided this gang one minute after you entered the house or before had your father not been summoned, and if Allen's men inside here hadn't tipped them off to wait, hoping to catch the money head of the movement, but he got away. He's an enormously rich man, recently arrived from overseas, who has quadrupled his wealth by grace of the opportunities everyone may have in our too hospitable country. He is a monomaniac, and his obsession is to overthrow the government for his own.

"But that can well wait," Lillian interrupted herself. "The man you knew as Smith, the ex-royal personage who so charmingly tried to stab you in your own home with that poisoned poignard—yes, Tom Chester is still at the farmhouse at Dicky's special invitation—well, my dear, your friend, Smith, will trouble you no more. Brave when everything went his way, he was a coward at heart, for he passed out while his men were dying for him by the poison from the ring he wore for use in just such a defeat. The last man to try to escape was captured in this hall before Dicky and I entered this room."

"CAN YOU FORGIVE—?"

"My dear," I thought her eyes were tender with some strange pity, "I must tell you something I learned but a moment ago.

"The yashmak-veiled woman who held you as the lights went out was killed, but she—was not Grace Draper."

I could hardly believe my ears, which buzzed with shock and the weakness that I strove to overcome so I might speak. With understanding, Lillian put her arms closer around me as she said:

"Grace Draper led you downstairs. Harry is sure of that, but this other woman must have changed places with her. Can you remember? Just nod your head yes or no. Was there a change of women?"

Through my mind swam the memory of that one free instant when Smith had shot the man, Joe, and I nodded in the affirmative.

"I thought so!" Lillian exclaimed. "I must tell Allen to start the pursuit at once." Then she tenderly kissed me and released me into Dicky's arms, which closed about me convulsively, his voice whispering in my ear:

"Oh, my darling, my darling," though his lips were near his voice seemed from afar. "When I feared I should never again hold you in my arms, never again have the chance to beg your pardon for the miserable words with which I drove you so wild that you fled from your own home—in that instant I vowed never again to make my son's mother, my own adorable and adored sweetheart, jealous. For then I knew the pangs of jealousy. But sometimes you have, my own, been unjustly jealous of me."

The touch of his hands upon my hair, his lips upon my cheek, roused me to turn my head so that his eyes gazed into mine. The reproach which still must have shadowed my tense look caused Dicky's eyes to soften with agonized pleading as he murmured:

"Hard as it may be for you to believe, I never had a thought but for you. Yes, I know you're thinking of Bess Deane, but then I deliberately tried to make you jealous. And do not think that I didn't see through Claire Foster's ruse. At first when Claire Foster and I met in the mountains before that unfortunate airplane accident caused such notoriety and brought you so much unhappiness—how proud I was of you when you put aside your own feelings and rushed to our aid! —I will admit that Claire Foster interested me. But she interested me only as a model for those new illustrations. But then I tried even harder than she to prove to you the truth that we never had any real thought of each other. Can you forgive—"

What Dicky saw in my eyes must have swept from his mind and heart all doubt, for his lips met mine in a pledge I pray may know no breaking.

Danger!

by Hazel Deyo Batchelor

Marian Colby is in love with her employer Aleo Holden. Holden is forty-two, married and has one daughte, Eleanor, aged eighteen. Harriet, Aleo's wife, has for years lived a life almost apart from him. The thought occurs to Aleo to make a fresh start, but when he suggests this to Harriet, she laughs at the idea. Her ridicule fills him with rebellion and that day when he goes to the office he sees the attractiveness of his secretary for the first time. His best friend, Richard Endicott, at a loss to understand Aleo' mood, wonders if some woman is responsible for it. Shortly afterward when Marian is home ill, Aleo sends her a box of flowers.

CHAPTER XXII.
BACK AT WORK.

Marian's cold was very much better the next day, but she did not go to the office. The hours drawwed interminably and it seemed to the girl that she had never realized before just how dreary he home was. Certainly she had never before spent so much time in it, for on Saturday afternoons she usually stayed downtown for a matinee and Sundays she was never home.

"This is the way it would be if I were married to some one like Jim," she said over and over to herself, "We'd have a home just like this and after I'd finished my housework I'd have nothing to do but sit and look at the wall paper or perhaps get up to flick some dust from my mission furniture."

That night after dinner, she went to her room early and spent an hour trying on a new dress. It was a very lovely dress, and Marian had spent a great deal more for it than she should have, but the temptation had been too great for her to resist. She had been trying on different models in one of the department stores when the saleswoman had brought forth the gray gown.

"If this fits you, and you happen to like it, you can have it at a bargain. It's the original model. Our buyer brought it back from Paris intending to have it copied, but we discovered that it wouldn't pay. The dress has been handled a good deal and it's a bit mussed, but you can have it for $60. It cost $200."

The gray dress was simple, and the lines were exquisite. The skirt was draped and caught at one side with a silver buckle drawn through the soft gray crepe. Another silver buckle fastened the waist at the drew the sleeves tight at the wrists. shoulder and tiny silver buckles drew the sleeves tight at the wrists. Marian had paid the $60, satisfied that the dress was indeed a bargain. At home she had pressed it carefully and since then it had hung in her closet waiting for a chance to be worn. Now, as she stood before the mirror with the soft gray folds falling about her, her eyes sparkled and her cheeks flamed. The dress suited her personality as if it had been made for her and tomorrow she would wear it to te office. Would he like her in it? Would he notice the difference between this dress and the simple blue serge with its organdie collar and cuffs?

At breakfast the next morning her appearance did not escape comment.

"For goodness sake, Marian, what are you wearing that dress to work for? I think Mr. Holden's flowers must have gone to your head."

Marian smiled [illegible]ably, although her mother's words angered her. Why wasn't it possible for her to dress as she pleased without comment of any kind? Just because she was a stenographer must she be condemned for ever to regulation office dress? It wasn't fair.

She regained her spirits, however, once she had left the apartment behind and was on her way downtown. She forgot everything in her joyous anticipation. She might have been a woman on her way to meet her lover instead of a stenographer on her way to work, although upon her arrival at the office she wasted no time in admiring herself and was sitting at her typewriter busily at work when Aleo Holden entered some time later.

He was conscious of a sudden leap of his pulses at the sight of her seated in her accustomed place. Two long days had dragged away since he had seen her, two interminable days, and now she was back again, all in gray with the sun coming from behind turning her hair into a nimbus of flame.

Marion spoke first, her usual calm, collected little greeting.

"Good morning, Mr. Holden."

Aleo came forward quickly, and at her desk he paused and stood there for a long moment looking down at her.

PLAYING ON SUPERSTTION.

Ignorant and superstitious people are easy prey to the swindler. Most of this class are foreigners or negroes.

Mexicans newly arrived in the United States are particularly gullible. Immigration officials recently exposed a faker called Dr. Juan de Dios, a "healer," who operated a bunco game that would deceive only the most ignorant person.

He gave "treatments" through the mail for every ailment from a broken leg to asthma. A sample of his charlatanry was contained in a letter which he wrote to a victim who did not get results from his cure. Dr. de Dios said:

"Referring to your favor of the 17th instant, I beg to inform you that you made a mistake in keeping up my treatments too long, for you had already reached a point where you were completely restored to health."

But he did not stop at making "cures." He claimed that he could endow the patient with all sorts of miraculous powers.

He charged $30 for treatments that would make the victim fortunate in business. "You can obtain success at whatever you undertake," he pledged. The payment of $30 was all that was necessary.

For a like amount he could make a love wizard out of any man or woman, girl or boy. In writing to a man he said, "that no girl can resist you after you have received these treatments."

It cost more to become a successful gambler, Dr. Dios charged $75 for the "secret of luck." He promised that his students would win tremendous fortunes gambling after treatment. "Seventy-five dollars is an insignificant sum if you take into consideration that as soon as you begin to play you will get this money back," he said.

Dr. Dios offered to endow the gullible with other wonderful powers at a lower rate. His schedule of charges follows:

"The power to make yourself visible or invisible, $20.

"Power to communicate with the dead, $20.

"Power to get thin or fat, $20."

But when it comes to finding treasure he raises his rates again. The universal secret of treasure finding costs $75. People who take the treasure hunting course can find lost gold, diamonds or jewels easily. Fabulous wealth lies at their hand. Such was the claim of Dr. de Dios.

People who will spend money on frauds of this kind, are the most difficult to protect against fakers.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE

Once upon a time there were two boys. Teir names were James and Harry. Harry was very rich but James was not.

As they were walking along the road they saw a sign which said $1000 reward for anybody who would explore the haunted house on top of the hill. When the two boys saw that they said let us go and try our luck. So they asked their mothers and they said yes. They fixed their lunch and took some blankets and each a revolver because they did not know whath might happen.

So at 8 o'clock they started. When they got there everyting was dark so they opened the door and found everything all right and so they went to bed. Soon there was a noise like some men coming upstairs and the boys were very much frightened. They heard a door open and they all went in. The boys got out of bed in a hurry and dressed and got their revolvers. They opened the door to listen. Soon they heard a lot of men planning to rob Harry's place. The boys were scared so they sneaked down the stairs and out the door and ran to tell the police. The police came and the robbers were captured. The boys got the reward but Harry gave his to James to give to his moter because he had money and James did not.

Their mothers were glad to hear that the robbers had been captured and Harry's mother was glad that their house was saved.

THE MYSTERY OF THE TEN ROBBERS

In a little town in Nevada there was a great mystery. Ten robbers had stolen two hundred dollars from an old man. He was about ready to die. He had one son. His name was Dick. Dick was determined to catch these robbers and put them in jail. He told the police and they said that they would catch them. Dick's father's name was Mr. Johnson.

About a week after, Dick was at the beach looking out on the ocean when he saw a boat coming toward him. He watched it until he saw it land. It landed in a little harbor about a block from where he was standing. He saw a man run from the boat to a cave. Dick went to the cave and went in. As soon as he went in, he was hit over the head with a club. The next thing he knew he was at his father's house. He had been found by the police in the cave. The ten robbers were put in jail. Dick got a reward and the two hundred dollars from his father.

DICK AND ROBERT DISCOVER AN OCTOPUS

Dick and Robert were divers. They went down to South Sea Islands. They were young boys of twenty years. Dick said, "I'm going to see an octopus." When they had their diving suits, they were excited. When they got down to the bottom of the sea, they had to lean way over because the pressure of the current was very great. There were all kinds of fish. They came to a cave. A shark was swimming around the cave. He is an awful enemy of the octopus. The octopus came out of the cave sending out ink so its prey cannot see it. The octopus wound its tentacles around Dick and Robert. They took their axes and chopped off the tentacles and got loose. The octopus became mad and started to chase them but did not succeed. When they were out of the sea Dick said, "That was a close one."

THE POOR GIRL

Once upon a time there was a poor girl. She was so poor that she was starving to death.

One day as she was walking slowly a rich man met her and said, "Do you want to work for me?" She said, "What kind of work?" "To keep my house clean." "I'll be delighted, very delighted," she said.

As they were walking a man, who was a crook, got her without the rich man knowing it. He brought her to a cave and bound and gagged and kicked her aside. Somehow she got loose and told the police about it. The police gave her $6000 because he was one of the worst crooks in the world.

WHAT HAPPENED IN AN OLD ENGLISH CASTLE.

(Prize Winner.)

Princess Primrose.
King.
Prince Alfred.
Duke
Sir Edward.
Sir Henry.
Maid.
Prince John.

Time—12 o'clock in the night.

Place—In the garden of an old English castle.

Prince Alfred—"Would'st thou walk a little more, fair Princess? See, 'tis a beautiful night. Hark, what is that?

Princess Primrose—Do not be alarmed, fair Prince. 'Tis naught but a guard walking by, for as you must know, the king my father has appointed a guard to follow me, for fear I wander astray in the woods. See, is he not a faithful guide. He does follow wher'er I go.

What ho—doth his Majesty suspect someone to run off with thee? I prithee send off this guard. Thou needs't not fear. I will be thy guard."

Princess Primose—Guard, go thy way. I need thee not. If the king asketh of me, tell him I be in the way of a worthy guard. Hasten, then—go.

(Guard glances doubtfully at prince and decides it would be best to tell the king with whom he had left the princess, for he knew that the king did not trust the prince any too well).

Prince Alfred—(After guard has been gone for about ten minutes.) Come fair princess, come from this dull castle and enter my gay court, where my father shall set you on the throne. The throne of Spain. Wouldn't thou be a Queen? do say, fair one?

Princess Primrose—Prince—leave! Do not beguile me to leave my home for a far away land. T'would not fare well with thou. Oh, prince thou knowest my father does not trust thee too well and tis scarcely ever I can see thee. Go thou back to thy native land and find a fair maid of thine own country, and gladly will she accept thy offer of a throne no doubt. Farewell—I go back to the castle( nevermore to see thee. So farewell once more."

Both part—each going in a different direcion .

Part 2.

TIME—Next morning.

PLACE—A large hall in the castle.

Duke—How now, Sir George, Princess Primrose loves thee not, none but me, doth she love. Doth she not put herself out to see me? Forsooth! I shall soon ask her hand of her father, our king, and right well shall I have it, thou fool. Thou have no chance—What are all thou common knights to such a fair princess as she. Thou art but of common birth had not some kind deed brought thee to knighthood. (Here he is interrupted by Sir Henry.)

Sir Henry—Thou has been a fool to speak so, Duke. We knights have gained honors by doing deeds. We have worked for them while thou—ha, ha—wouldn't be common folk still had it not been for thy royal ancestors, for as all here know, thou hast ne'er done a kind deed in thy wicked, useless, wasted life!

Duke—(angrily) Hush—thou young vagabound, here comes his majesty the king.

King—What, my fair knight—I prithee, do not hush when I come. I too like to converse tho I do be a king. I am human. (casting a disapproving glance at the duke)—when—(all of a sudden his face lights up with satisfaction.)—I almost forgot. The Princess wouldn't dine all of thou—she wishes thy presence in the garden—thou had'st all better go. Except the Duke. For him she is not euger to see and I find I have a word to say to him. Come thou Duke, out to the garden while I speaketh with thee.

Scene 3.

TIME—Morning.

PLACE—Garden.

King—Duke, I give thee one day and night in which you must leave my kingdom forever. No longer are you a duke. Oh, ungrateful one, thou knowest full well how I took thee in when thou were abandoned from thine own land, and how I kept thee under the pretence of a duke, and you promised never to consider the hand of my daughter, and now thou hast been false to thy promise. Go—ne'er let me see thou again.

(Duke walks slowly away.)

Queen—Coming up to King. Dearest, tis a weighty problem. Our daughter knows not which of those three brave knights to take for a husband. Let us help her solve this great problem. What good marks has the fair Sir Edward? Yes, he was the nephew of your brother, and has a kind and peaceful nature, generous in all ways. So much for him. Good Sir George—his father is an earl, and forsooth he can do wonders with a bow and arrow, far more with a spear. Good Sir Henry, so wondrous in sternth and beauty—by far the greatest in valor—forsooth—the gentlest to the weak. Come, we will give advice to our daughter.

King—for her, Sir Henry would be best.

Scene4.

TIME—8 p. m.

PLACE—In the garden.

Sir Henry—Oh, loved one, this is the happiest moment of my life, for thine gracious father hath given me consent to have thee fair hand. Thou wouldst be mine, no doubt?

Princess Primrose—Oh, fair Sir, none other than thee would I have.

Sir Henry—My love, I knewest what thou wouldst say, and have set the feasting for one day and night beginning this evening.

Princess—Oh, dearest love. I must go don my royal robes. Go, thou put on thy knightly costume. Ah, love—for the last time—and I will meet thee in the royal court. Farewell—I will see thee soon again.

Sir Henry and the Princess part.

Scene 5.

TIME—Night.

PLACE—In the Princess' room.

Primrose—Oh, maid—hurry—thou lazy creature, my royal robes. Think, only think! I am to wed the fair Sir Henry. Do hurry. Hath thee no deftness left in thee? For you see, the feasting doth start this same night and shall last one day and night. Oh, never was there a happier maiden than I! Oh! Duke—how camest thou here? Did not my father banish thee! Ungrateful one, leave—touch me not. How dare thee obey me not—am I not the princess? Help! Help!

(Duke kisses princess, who struggles against him).

Duke—How now, dost thou not love me? Come, come, from this land, into my fair lands across the sea. Do say, wilt thou?

Primrose—Leave—do not touch me, for am I not to wed the good Sir Henry?

Duke—What—wed that rouge? Ho! Come with me, fair one into the land of my ancestors. I die before I leave thee. Say—do I die—or do I take thee, for I have a fine right sword. Ha, ha. If you do not come, first shall it pierce thee in the heart, e'er it strikes me. I shall lie by thy side and die with thee. What is thy choice? Wilt thou come and wed me, or will you die? Speak—will—

(Here he is interrupted by the king).

King—To the dungeon with him men. Did I not banish thee? To the dungeon. And there he shall die of starvation.

Primrose—Oh, father!

(Primrose faints, while guards take Duke away).

Scene 6.

TIME—One month later.

PLACE—In the garden.

Sir Henry—Fair wife, I have just been to the castle to speak with thy father, but—but—none may ever speak to the king more—he—the false wicked Duke escaped—and he—KILLED the gracious king. They are now hunting for the duke and then as the son in law of the king I will have the honor of fighting a duel with him. I shall let him rest, so there will be fair play If he wins (but he is doomed to die, my love) he must die in a dungeon. If I win there will be no need of any other sort of death as he will be dead. So—

Princess Primrose—Interrupting him—Oh—oh—my good father dead. How can I live without him. And mother has vowed to live a lonely life in the forest—she vowed so when they were wed. My husband, protect me! Hark—what is that sound!

Sir Henry draws his sword as there is a rustling in the leaves, but gives a sigh as he sees it is only a guard.

Guard—No longer than on the morrow thou shalt be crowned king for there is a worthy Prince John, a stranger, who would see thee. He awaits thee at the castle—no here he is."

Prince John—(bowing to the Princess) I bring thee sad tidings, fair one, the future Queen, for as thy mother rode through my kingdom a wicked duke threw her from her carriage and pierced a sword through her heart, but she died happy her last words being, 'My little Primrose—she beith happy.' Then she died.

(The princess bows her head.)

Prince John—Farewell. He walks away with bowed head.

Princess Primrose—Ah, tis well my mother died—she canst have rest. If she had lived she wouldst have mourneth the rest of her days.

(Many voices are heard from a distance crying: Long liveth fair King Henry and Good Queen Primrose.)

King Henry—Loved one, no more wicked duke to bother with, no more trouble of any kind. Let us go reign in wisdom and peace, over our goodly people. Come.

Primrose—Yes, come.

Both walk away—arm in arm.

WORK AND YOU WILL SUCCEED.

Well Bill says Jack there is not enough rubber so I will send the messenger boy to go and order some, wat say about that? All right Jack, but don't get over a half ton. I don't think that we are selling out as we did last year. I think there is something wrong, because the people that come to buy tires always come back and complain about that the tires are not being any good. Well it is 5:30. We will fix things up tomorrow morning. Bill was manager of the Jones and Company. Jack was his helper. On their way home they heard someone walking behind them but when they turned around they did not see anyone. They thought that very funny but went right on. Jack and Bill lived right next door to each other. There is a short cut to their houses. They decided to take the short cut. As they were going through the lot Bill noticed something very unusual and went over to see what it was and there before them was a manhole covered with weeds. They had reached there just in time to hear someone say, "We will send green-eyes to puncture the rubber of the Jones and Com. That was enough for them to hear. They went right and got the police and told him what they had seen. They went back and told the police to stay there while they went under and if they needed him they would call for him. They went through a long passageway and then they came to a door and heard men talking and laughing and drinking. They quietly opened the door and said hands up! They were very astonished but they put there hands up. Jack ran back and called the police who came in and handcuffed the leader, whose name was Black Snake. He looked just like he could jump at the police and kill him but the police was used to that so he did not pay any attention to him, but took them all to jail for the rest of their life. Jack and Bill got $4000 a piece. So everything went well after that.

SHINING UP THE BOTTLES.

"Ice cold lemonade!" shouted Billy.

"Oh, Billy, hush!" Betty whispered. "People might begin to come to buy things, and we aren't ready yet." Betty poured some lemon juice in the punch bowl, added several dippers of water, dropped in a big chunk of ice and floated thin circles of lemon on the top. The lemonade looked so good that Betty felt like drinking it every bit herself.

Roger kept himself busy packing the sparkling pin., deep rich red, clear yellow and green-colored bottles close against the ic . They soon were frosted with little beads of cold perspiration.

When everything was all ready, Roger said, "Now you can yell for customers, Billy." And Billy yelled till the lemonade glasses rattled.

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE. All Rights Reserved.

CROOKELOOKIE chased his brother, Humpylumpy, out of the house. So Humpylumpy ran through the deep, deep woods in search of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy and Peter Pelican. "If I find them I will tell them just what mean old Crookelookie intends doing, for I shall never help him chase the Raggedys again! It is wrong for Crookelookie to try and change the Raggedys and Peter Pelican into monkeys and I shall help them!"

Meanwhile Crookelookie sat up in his home at the tip top of the great pine tree and read from his large magic book.

The large magic book told how to magic things and change them from one thing to another.

Humpylumpy ran through the woods until he came to the Raggedys and Peter Pelican.

Just as soon as Humpylumpy came hunning up Raggedy Andy jumped from the ground and started to wrassel him.

"Hold on!" Humpylumpy cried, "I am not trying to capture you, Raggedy Andy!"

"Then why did you come running through the deep, deep woods, lickety split right toward us?" Raggedy Andy wished to know.

"Cause!" Humpylumpy replied, "My brother, Crookelookie, the Magician is up in his house reading his large magical book and he intends changing all of us into monkeys!"

"You too?" Raggedy Ann asked in surprise.

"Yes sir!" Humpylumpy said. "We had a fight, Crookelookie and I and when we stopped fighting to rest awhile and Crookelookie found that you had escaped from the chicken coop, he was very angry and said that if I did not catch you and bring you back to his home, he would change me into a monkey too!"

"What a mean person he must be!" Peter Pelican said.

"I do not know why he should wish to change any one into a monkey!" Humpylumpy said, "So I came to tell you to run as hard as you can, and I will run with you!"

"Then we shall not run a speck!" Raggedy Ann said, "If you are on our side, Humpylumpy, we should not be afraid!"

"I wasn't afraid, Raggedy Ann!" Humpylumpy replied. "But I was scared! I do not care to be a monkey!"

"Neither do we, Humpylumpy!"

RAGGEDY ANDY STARTED TO WRASSEL HIM.

Raggedy Ann said, "So if you are really a friend, just you stay with us and we will help you and you can help us!"

"All right!" Humpylumpy said and he shook hands with everyone to show that he meant just what he said. "I tell you where we can hide!" he added, "We can go down into the rock candy grotto and Crookeleekie won't be able to find us there in sixty-eleven years, I'll bet!"

"So Humpylumpy led the way to the rock candy grotto and down the long flight of steps to where the rock candy hung from the ceilings like giant icicles. "Here we are!" he laughed, "And we can eat all the rock candy we wish!"

Uncle Wiggily by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CHESTNUTS.

Once upon a time Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy said to Uncle Wiggily:

"I wish you would take the parlor rug out on the clothes line and beat it as hard as you can."

"Why," asked the bunny rabbit gentleman. "Has the parlor rug been bad that you want it beaten hard?"

"Nonsense!" squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I want the rug beaten because it is full of dirt that must come out. Beating it is the only way to get dirt out of a rug."

"It shall be done as you desire," answered the rabbit gentleman, speaking like some one in the moving pictures.

So Uncle Wiggily took the parlor rug out on the clothes line and with his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, Mr. Longeare began knocking out the dirt.

Pretty soon along came Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys.

"Wuff! Wuff!" they barked most politely to Uncle Wiggily. "Come with us and have an adventure!" the puppy dog boys called.

"Oh, I can't," said Mr. Longears.

"Oh, come on!" begged Jackie

"I must stay and beat the dust out of the rug."

"Oh, come on! Let the rug stay!" begged Jackie. "We are going after chestnuts and we're going to roast them in a camp fire until they get soft and brown and you can eat them then, Uncle Wiggily."

"I'd like very much to go," spoke the rabbit gentleman, gently twinkling his pink nose, "but I must finish beating this rug."

"We'll help you!" offered Peatie. "Come on, Jackie!" he called to his brother, "let's help Uncle Wiggily beat dust out of the rug and then he will come chestnuting with us."

"How can you puppy dog boys beat dust out of a rug?" asked the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"With our tails," answered Jackie. "We'll stand close to the rug and flap our tails against it. Then you'll see the dust fly."

So the puppy dogs stood close to the rug as it hung on the line. They flipped their tails and they flapped their tails and they flopped their tails—bang—thud—whack.

Out flew the dust and soon the rug was clean.

"Please, Nurse Jane, may I go chestnuting with Jackie and Peetie now?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes," answered the muskrat lady, "since the rug is clean you may go." Uncle Wiggily went chestnuting with the puppy boys.

Over the fields and through the woods they went, and soon they reached some chestnut trees.

"Oh, what a dandy lot of nuts!" barked Jackie, for they had found a jolly good place. Chestnuts do not grow everywhere, and in woods where there used to be many there are now none. But the two puppies and Uncle Wiggily were lucky.

"Now we'll build a fire and roast the chestnuts," said Jackie when he had gathered his pockets full.

"Yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily, "roast chestnuts are best. Johnnie and Billy Bushytail, the squirrels, can eat raw chestnuts, but I like mine roasted."

So the fire was built and on flat stones near the hot coal were laid the brown chestnuts to roast.

"Will you please tell us a bedtime story, Uncle Wiggily, while we are waiting for the chestnuts to roast?" begged Jackie.

"All right," agreed the rabbit gentleman. "Once upon a time—"

And then, all of a sudden, there was a rustling in the bushes behind where the three friends sat, and out popped the Fuzzy Fox.

"I am just in time, I see!" growled the Fox.

"Do you mean in time to hear the bedtime story?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No, I mean I am just in time to nibble your ears!" howled the Fox.

And just as he leaped toward the rabbit gentleman, to nibble his ears, all at once there was a popping, cracking sound in the fire where the chestnuts were roasting. Something brown flew out and hit the Fox on the end of his soft and tender nose.

"Oh, wow!" howled the Fox. "Oh, trolley cars! Zowie! What was that? What hit me on the nose? I guess it must have been a bullet from a gun! I'm going to run home!"

And home he ran as fast as he could go, nibbling no ears that day.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, "Ho! Ho! One of the roasting chestnuts burst and hit the Fox on the nose. That's what frightened him. It wasn't a gun bullet at all, but just a bursting chestnut. It must have been one we forgot to make holes in to let the steam out and it burst and flew over and hit the Fox. Ho! Ho! Good luck for us!"

"Ho! Ho!" laughed Jackie and Peetie. Then the other chestnuts were roasted without bursting and they had a fine feast by the camp fire in the woods.

So it all happened for the best, you see, and if the door knob doesn't turn around so fast that it makes the keyhole dizzy, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the apple dumpling.

A Soldier and a Gentleman

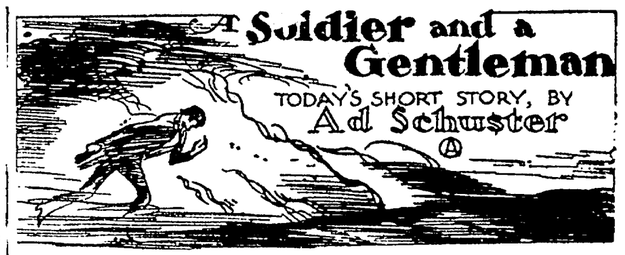
TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster



In his soldier's uniform Robert Hall crossed the campus of the state university on his way to drill. The schedule of study, work, and play was occupying his mind, for there are many difficulties in the way of an active young man who is earning his way through college. His eyes were on the path and he was deep in thought. Then he smelled smoke, looked up at a great cloud moving overhead and was aware of distant shouting.

In a moment he realized what had happened. The grass fire which had been creeping along the ridge back of the campus had been fanned to new life by the brisk north wind and had reached down to the houses.

Robert turned and ran. The attic room he called home during the college year was in the path of these flames. In front of him the student section, the many frame houses packed together, misshapen with wings and additions erected to afford accommodations for the college population, stood out against the background of flame streaked smoke. Behind them, and the side, were some of the finest homes in the city.

This fire was moving at incredible speed. It seemed to drop out of the smoke clouds to claim roofs here and there. Embers were falling and new blazes sprang up. A great roaring and crackling filled the air. Robert saw that the house which held his other clothes, his typewriter and his books was gone. Maybe he could help fight the blaze. From all directions students came; the street was filled with shrieking fire trucks.

Women carrying odds and ends ran by. There was one with a bird cage, another with a cat. A man walked briskly carrying a shaving mug which proclaimed, in ornate letters, the name of the owner. Here was a girl sobbing and wringing her hands.

"My grandmother," she cried, trying to make her voice heard in the noise, "she is bedridden and in that house! The flames are all around!"

"Which house?" Robert asked and the girl pointed.

"Stay here on the campus." And he was gone.

Into the face of the fire the boy ran. This house stood in isolation between two avenues of flames, which at any moment, would meet and surround it. Robert covered his face with his hat and ran into the waves of heat until he reached the door.

Inside the house it was not so hot, but the smoke made the going difficult. Then he found the old woman. Here was another problem. The young man, who was four inches under six feet and light of weight, knew he must carry this woman to safety.

Outside the sound of falling walls and hurrying feet, the endless screaming of sirens and the roar of flames whipping and leaping in the wind. Robert Hall emerged from the house with the woman on his back. He walked slowly, almost weighted down, and carried her in the same way a man carries a child.

A garage faced him and there was an automobile inside. The lad knew he could not carry his burden to safety, that the going would be too slow. Already the flames were attacking the rear of the garage. There was one chance. He put the woman in the automobile, covered her with a blanket and tried to start the engine. Possibly it took him ten seconds. It seemed an hour. Then he felt the vibration of an engine he could not hear, stepped on the gas and knew he was moving.

Through smoke as thick as the densest fog, smoke that was lightened now and then by flares, and speckled with falling embers, he drove. The heat and smoke were making him dizzy. He clung to the wheel and made his way. At last he reached the campus edge. Now he must find the girl.

She was waiting where he had left her, dry eyes now and fearful. The car stopped and he got out. The dazed girl stared at him without recognizing the smudged and blackened man. Then Robert put his last strength into helping his passenger alight. The old woman held out her arms to the girl and the two embraced. Robert Hall felt strange. The fire, the rescue, all the noise was far away. He was a soldier, he remembered, on important duty. Some sort of commission. The women had him by the arms. He understood.

So he saluted weakly and his black and blistered face broke in a wry smile.

"Colonel," he muttered, "beg to report. Your order had been . . ." And he collapsed.

That is the story they tell on the campus. There is another one which Robert and the girl are keeping to themselves. Time enough, they say, to announce an engagement after graduation.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 24.—Railroad trains and autos came together in 26 collisions in Connecticut in the first seven months of the year, the state motor vehicle department announces, killing 3 and injuring 1. Connecticut is lucky, the department believes, for the state has one-eightieth of all the autos of the country, and if it had one-eightieth of all the crossing fatalities—which total 1820 throughout the land each 12 months—the list here would have been 14 deaths in the 7 months.

The 1923 record is 23 motor vehicles hit by trains and 13 trains hit by motor vehicles, while the 1922 record was 22 machines hit by trains and 7 trains hit by machines.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The old "tin hat" which served the Yanks so well in France as a head protector has become a necessary part of the miners' equipment, the department of interior has announced.

Trench shoes also have become very popular in mining centers, the department states. Their durability and thickness affords the miner a cheap shoe and excellent protection for his feet.

U. S. MUST JOIN WORLD'S AFFAIRS, SPEAKER AVERS

'Y' Lecturer Opposes Isolation in Address Before Ad. Club.

"America needs a friendly world," said Harry W. White, International Y. M. C. A. lecturer, in an address Wednesday noon before the Oakland Advertising Club at the Hotel Oakland. "America needs a world that is based on honesty. That's the way they think of us as they look on this country from outside. They are looking to us to lead the way.

"It will pay America many times to be the friend of France. We must lend her our statesmen, our financiers and our scientists. We want the German people and the French people to come back.

"Some day we are going to have a rude awakening unless this country learns that it must join more in the affairs of the rest of the world. American education needs to think itself more into the problems of the other nations. While we can go on without other nations, commercially, we'll never attain the full measure of happiness or prosperity until we have a friendly world."

White is one of 200 International Y. M. C. A. secretaries who are working to interpret American ideals and aims to the people of other countries. White himself has been traveling in this work for 15 years. During the war he served with General Allenby on the Palestine front. He comes to Oakland directly from India, where he has been in charge of departmental work.

Peter J. Crosby, Oakland attorney, speaking in honor of Theodore Roosevelt, whose birthday occurs Saturday, paid a splendid tribute to the American President. He reviewed his early struggles and his life as a rancher, legislator, civil service commissioner, secretary of the navy, governor of New York, vice-president and president, and pointed out that honesty and straightforward American principles had guided him in all his life's work.

STANFORD TO MEET U. S. C. AT PALO ALTO SATURDAY

COACH "SLIP" MADIGAN AND ST. MARY'S COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAM ON WAY TO ARIZONA

CARDINALS-TROJANS LOOKED TO PROVIDE BEST GAME OF YEAR

Outcome of Next Saturday's Contest at Palo Alto Will Go Far Toward Settling of Leading Teams In Pacific Coast Conference Race.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

Greater interest probably centers around the Stanford-Southern California contest, which takes place down "on the farm" next Saturday, than on any other scheduled collegiate contest of the year, with the possible exception of the California-Stanford Big Game.

From a standpoint of what the game actually means the Stanford-California contest will probably not be in it with this Saturday's offering, for by that time the Conference race will undoubtedly be settled, unless it should be that Stanford and California remain the only two undefeated elevens, in which case the race might be settled in a setting, surrounded by a spectacle never before seen in the west, at the dedication of the new California Memorial stadium.

Southern California's Trojans, defeated, hopes of a championship practically ruined in their first important contest at Seattle last week, will be out to partially regain their lost prestige against the Cards.

Stanford, off on the start of what promises to be the most successful season since the return to the American game in 1919, will face the acid test which is apt to either make or break Andy Kerr's eleven.

Victory Will Make Cards Formidable.

A Stanford victory Saturday will mark the Cards as one of the three leaders in the Pacific Coast Conference race with only one hard game, against Idaho the weel before meeting California, remaining on their list before the Big Game.

A defeat will indicate that although the Cardinal has a strong team, far stronger in many respects than any seen on the farm in the last four years, that team has not yet reached championship caliber.

Furthermore the outcome should, at least from a standpoint of dope, settle the question of whether the Stanford-California or California-U. S. C. games is to be the crucial test for the Bears. Never for a minute forgetting that the University of Washington is coming "down from the north" on November 17 to lock horns in a death struggle for supremacy with the Golden Bears on the California football pasture.

Indications Point To Stanford Winning.

Several logical reasons point to Stanford as the favorite in Saturday's game. U. S. C., possessed of what was reckoned to be a formidable team, despite the pessimistic attitude taken by "Gloomy Gus" Henderson, fully expected to hand Washington a wallop last Saturday. No two ways about that.

Yet there was no confidence to back the Southern California expectations. As Leo Calland, who skippered the Trojans outfit last year, said while watching the California-Oregon Aggie game last week, "I hope that U. S. C. gets by Washington today, I can't say that I feel certain they will but should they win up north, then watch out."

As Leo knew before he left on his way home that night U. S. C. met with what practically amounted to disaster. No longer are the boys from the land of oranges and tourists the team to beat.

"Once But Not Twice" Is Trojans Motto.

Having once been defeated will not entirely demoralize U. S. C. Gus Henderson will see to that. In fact one may well expect to see the Trojans take the field next Saturday with a do or die spirit.

The thing that will hurt, however, is the fact that Pythian, Rice, Adams and Le Febvre are reported to be in none too good condition. Injuries to first string men of the caliber of these players is bound to leave the team in a weakened condition while Stanford came through the Oxy game without a scratch.

Stanford, furthermore, had the opportunity to rest up a couple of cripples by leaving them at home and will be far better fortified with reserve material than will the Trojans.

Under these conditions Andy Kerr, assuming that he has been able to break his backfield men of the deadly habit of fumbling during the workouts this week, will be very well set to start an offensive from the jump calculated to give the Trojans a second licking.

And should the U. S. C. contingent go home on the short end of the score the men in charge will be congratulating themselves that the advance sale for the California-U. S. C. game November 10 went so well, for California should be able to do what Washington has already done and what Stanford is more than likely to do.

Bobby Jones Has Unique Record as Consistent Player

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Bobby Jones, youthful Atlanta golf wizard, who shook the jinx that has beset him in title play long enough to bag the national open championship this season at Inwood, is credited with a new record for consistent brilliancy in the national event.

Records of the past four open championships show that Jones has compiled a grand average of 74 and 5-17 strokes per round, leading all rivals, professional and amateur alike, over the span of competition. His nearest rivals are Jim Barnes and Walter Hagen, who over the same stretch has averaged 75 and 1-16 strokes, while Jock Hutchison is next with a mark of 75½.

Jones made his debut in open play in 1920, and finished eighth with 299 strokes. He was tied for fifth in 1921 with 303, and tied for second in 1922, with 289, a stroke behind Geno Sarazen. This year the Georgian tied Bobby Cruickshank with 296, defeating the Shackamaxon "pro," 76 to 78, in the 18-hole playoff for the title.

Excluding his play-off round this year, Jones has taken a total of 1187 strokes in the championship proper, as compared with 1201 for Hagen and Barnes and 1208 for Hutchison.

Goat Island Plans Bouts on Navy Day

Eight bouts head the program of athletic events arranged for the celebration of Navy Day at Goat Island next Saturday, Oct. 27, Sailor Haskell being slated to meet Geo. Gilmore in the main event of the program of boxing which starts at 2 o'clock.

At 1:30 the nine of the Jefferson club of San Francisco will cross bats with the team from the U. S. Receiving Ship San Francisco while a general program of entertainment will be provided for those not athletically inclined.

Can This Giant Put the Trojans to Flight?

Whether or not Stanford succeeds in defeating the University of Southern California Trojans at the farm Saturday depends largely upon the work of Coach Andy Kerr's giant fullback star, ERNIE NEVERS. Rated as one of the best plunging backs on the coast this year, a sweet punter and a general all-around backfield star, Nevers is pronounced by critics as the backbone of the Stanford offense. Local fans will pass inspection on Nevers in action Saturday.

Mission Team Meets Nevada Next Saturday

Coach Kienholz Takes Squad to Reno for Last Early Season Game.

SANTA CLARA, Oct. 25.—Coach Kienholz and a crew of 25 gridders leave this afternoon for Reno, Nevada, to tangle with the University of Nevada in the last intercollegiate game on the Missionite schedule before the little big game between Kienholz' crew and "Slip" Madigan's Saints on November 10.

The Missionites are picked to be on the short end o fthe score in Saturday's game with Coach Courtwright's Sagehens by reason of their inexperience, and also because of the fact that the high altitude in Nevada invariably affects coast players, causing them to show at a disadvantage.

Kienholz has been experimenting with the team by making a few charges. Storm, a former backfield man, is now playing end, paired with Malley. Malley will start in the Nevada game, instead of Sumner.

Casanova, the lad who carried the ball 80 yards for a score against Stanford, has been practising at quarter ,and will alternate wih McKee, who will start the game. Ronsadt has also been trying out as an end, but Kienholz will in all probabilities keep him as one of the centers, he alternating with Springer.

While the collegiants are lining up against the Sagehens, the Santa Clara Preps will be hooking up with their ancient rivals, the Saint Mary's preps a the Santa Clara gridiron. The game was originally scheduled to be held in San Francisco at Ewing Field, but eleventh hour changes brought the game to Santa Clara.

The following men were taken to Nevada today:

Ends—Malley, Strom, Toso and Sumner.

Tackles—Miller, Gallagher, Genter, Leonard and Fosdyke.

Guards—Nolan, Nock, Duff, Sweigart and Shapiro.

Centers—Springer, Ronstadt.

Halfbacks—Rianda, Bundy, Babcock and Abrahamsen.

Quarterbacks—McKee and Casanova.

Crockett To Play Napa on Gridiron

NAPA, Oct. 25.—Manager Bob Brown and Captain Louie Ferrero of the Legion football team state that the local aggregation is in shape to give Crockett a tough battle Sunday. The game will be played at Crockett and will be the opening contest of the season for the Napa representatives. Among the leading candidates for the team who will be taken along Sunday are: Linemen, Sam and Ray Fimby, Del Re, Algeo, Rose, McReynolds, Schutz, "Cook" Parodi, Lanaro, Gought and L. Brown; backs, Cutis, A. Brown, Ferrero, Holderman, Doughty, Wright and Townsend.

Tennis Enthusiasts Will Organize Club

A meeting will be held Sunday at 11 a. m. at the Live Oak courts, orth Berkeley, at which a prospective tennis club will be discussed. Plans for dressing rooms and shower bath will be taken up, and a constitution probably adopted. Membership is open to any one interested in tennis, and the members will e able to enjoy tournament competition among the various local clubs.

All interested in such an organization are urged to attend the meeting.

TO BE MAINSTAY.

Frederick Tootel of Bowdoin College, is reputed to have heaved the hammer 181 feet 6⅛ inches in competition. He will no doubt be America's mainstay in that event at the Olympic games next year.

Spalding League To Be Formed by Class C Players

Wit fifty-six teams already in winter league play, and the Knights of Columbus League scheduled to open its season a week from next Sunday, it was believed tat the limit had been reached in the number of teams playing winter ball, but tonight will see the forming of another league when about a dozen little managers will get together at A. G. Spaldings, 416 Fourteenth street, and form a class C league. The meeting has been called for 7:30 o'clock, and all managers who have not entered teams in leagues as yet are welcome to attend.

Seattle Ball Club May Train at Pomona

POMONA, Cal., Oct. 25.—Pomona is looked on favorably for the spring training camp of the Seattle ball club, according to a letter received by the Pomona chamber of commerce from Wade Killefer, manager of the Indians.

Leading Teams Of Big Ten to Face New Test

Minnesota Prepares for Wisconsin Game; Chicago, Ill., Michigan Undefeated.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Football dopesters anxious for evidence on which to base predictions on the Big Ten football championship, are watching with interest the practice sessions being held at Michigan, Illinois, Chicago, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, the only unbeaten eleven in the western conference. Minnesota and Wisconsin are the only teams of the five to meet Saturday, but the remainder are scheduled with opponents calculated to test their mettle and hard practice has been the order this week.

Michigan's preparation for the game this week with the Michigan Aggies has consisted of light scrimmage.

PREPARES FOR WISCONSIN.

Minnesota, preparing for Wisconsin next Saturday is not giving satisfacion to the coaching staff in the daily workouts. At Wisconsin, the regulars have several times been trounced by the frosh using Gopher plays.

Efforts to serengthen the Illinois line, weakened by vacancies, occupies the attention of Coach Zuppke.

Every regular, unless crippled, is being required to take part in scrimmage at Purdue, which is preparing to put up the fight of its career against Chicago.

Indiana, scheduled to meet Chicago next week, is devoting its time to hard scrimmages with the reserves and freshmen. The Hoosiers will have a layoff this week-end.

Rain held up practice at the Ohio State camp last night, while its scheduled opponent, Iowa, went through hard drill at Iowa City.

INCREASING POPULARITY.

Football not alone is increasing its popularity as a popular sport, but at the same time is proving a boon to other college sports.

This is borne out by western conference universities where receipts from football contests are finding their way into new stadium, athletic fields and gymnasiums.

The University of Wisconsin on Saturday opens the newly completed tier of its stadium built entirely from football gate receipts. This structure, costing approximately $150,000, will seat 36,000 at the home-coming game.

The University of Michigan is building a $300,000 gymnasium, soon to be completed, from earnings of its football contests, while other schools are applying their surplus to athletic fields and stadiums.

PIERCE GIANTS WIN.

The Pierce Colored Giants handed the Standard Oil All Stars a 13 to 2 beating in the second game of the Richmond series. The Giants gathered 17 bits in the contest. The score:

Injured Card Players Again Don Uniforms

Kerr Expected to Have His Regulars in Game With Boys From South.

By TOM IRWIN.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 25.—There will be little difference in the Stanford line that starts against U. S. C. Saturday afternoon and the line that started against that team just a year ago. Baker will be in for DeGroot at center and Thomas will likely have Dole's former position at end. Otherwise, the Cardinal forward wall will be the same. In fact it will be altogether the same as the line used against the University of Washington two weeks later when Dud DeGrott was out with a bad knee and Thomas was just beginning to make a good showing at end. "Tiny" Thornhill has had a year to work his will on this gang since then, and judging by the play so far this season, has not altogether made a mess of it.

Of the backfield that started against the southerners a year ago not one man remains in the regular line-up. Campbell, Cleaveland, Murray, and Dennis got in the game last year, but none of them started or played long. Bud Woodward played quarter last year, but will likely play the bench for the most part Saturday. If he plays, it will be as a substitute halfback. Cuddeback started at fullback in last year's game, but he will play the bench Saturday along with Woodward until he is called upon to relieve Murray or Cleaveland. If Stanford gets within place kick distance of the Trojan goal posts, the chances are that Cuddeback will be sent in to try his luck for three points. And since Murray is not in the best of shape anyway, Cuddeback may at any time be called on to replace him.

KELLY TO RETURN.

Jim Kelley who has been out of the game for almost two weeks as the result of a ruptured blood vessel just above the knee, is back in his suit again this week. Althought his leg is still a little stiff as the result of swelling accompanying the rupture, he seems to be in fair shape. If he is able to get his usual speed by Saturday, Kerr is certain to use him in the latter part of the game when Nevers tires. Kelley is neither so experienced nor so fast as Nevers, but is the best man on the squad as a straight line-plunger. He has lost a little weight and weighs only 194 pounds now.

Dick Lawson, Charlie Johnston, Guy Dennis, Bud Woodward, and all the rest of the injured and psuedo-crippled were out in suits last night, but were not allowed to take any strenuous exercise. Of the four, Johnston is the most needed. Kerr believes that he will be able to start him, but in case the big tackle cannot stand the pace, Fred Ludeke with his 207 pounds will take his place. Ludeke made an unusually good showing against Occidental last week and may be started anyhow as a protection to Johnston for future games.

GOOD IN SCRIMMAGE.

The Cards scrimmaged with "Swede" Righter's College of the Pacific eleven from San Jose last night and showed up even better than was expected. The Cards were for the greater part on the defensive at the request of Kerr who is less worried about fumbling today than he was earlier in the week. For the short time the Redshirts did carry the ball there was the usual snap and precision of machine-like play that has characterized the Cards' offensive since the first of the season. Kerr of course used only one or two of the plays he plans to work against the Trojans for the very obvious reason that several Los Angeles correspondents sat in the stands and viewed the scrimmage with more than ordinary interest. Today and tomorrow the doors are closed again to all except coaches and managers.

CORRESPONDENTS ON JOB.

Correspondents from several southern papers who have come to the campus a week early to pick up local information are considerably surprised at the general feeling of optimism prevailing on the Farm. They had expected to see the team in the doldrums and the entire student body immersed in a sea of gloom at the prospect of the sound beating they were to get. Even Max Stiles, U. S. C. publicity manager, came up Monday and has been trying to get his bearings ever since. He was at Stanford last year for a time and naturally expected to find general conditions the same. Information he sends south will probably be of considerable interest to U. S. C. supporters.

Record Crowd Will See Bears Perform

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 25.—Advance sale of seats thus far indicate that a record crowd for the Multnomah club stadium will gather here next Saturday to witness the football game between the University of California and Washington State College. Four center sections of the stands had been sold out completely by yesterday evening. At present weather prospects are good.

CLEANERS WIN IN NINTH.

With a man on base J. Cunningham stepped into one of Gushback's fast ones, driving it for two bases. Ragen who was on base scored the run that defeated the Felix Shoe Store ball tossers. The score:

Long Beach Is After a Coast League Franchise

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Long Beach is laying plans to break into the Pacific Coast Baseball league in the near future. Organization of a class AA team has already started. Plans are under way to demonstrate that baseball will pay since Long Beach has gone over the 100,000 mark. The influx of oil workers, noted for being a sporting class, will boost attendance, it is said.

Plans are under way to have several exhibition games next spring by big league teams in training in California. It is safe to assume that Long Beach will make a bid for the first Coast League franchise that is for sale, according to baseball men.

Plans are under way to build a large ball park from the receipts of the city's oil wells. The Boston Red Sox will be asked to train there next spring. Even Long Beach's ruling against Sunday baseball will be waived if the Red Sox will come, according to the city manager.

Oakland High Grid Team Is Showing Stuff

Coach Daugherty Looks for His Hopes to Give Card Babes Trouble.

Coach Daugherty's Oakland high gridmen went through their final practice yesterday at Bay View playground. The Oakland boys will be able to enjoy a two-day lay-off before meeting the Stanford Freshmen Saturday at Stanford. Coach Daugherty has been putting his team through stiff work outs, and the lads are in good condition, showing a vast improvement over their former work.

According to old man dope, the down town warriors have an even break with the Cardinal babes. Berkeley high held the Stanfordites to a scoreless tie, and Oakland played Berkeley a 6 all tie, therefore an interesting and close contest is looked for. Barring all accidents, which may occur, the locals should win or at least tie Coach Hunt's Frosh.

The Blue and White gridders have shown in their past performances that they have the talent and spirit, and are one of the strongest contenders for the O. A. L. title.

Last year Tech was the stumbling block for the Oaklandites, who lost the final game to the Broadway aggregation. Tech has an equally good team this year, and the city championship will possibly fall to Oakland or Technical. Coach Daugherty is slowly molding his eleven into shape for the Oakland-Tech struggle on November 20, and by present conditions he will have a squad well able to represent the Twelfth street institution.

Attendance at Grid Games Encouraging

If the early attendance at the football games can be taken as an indication of what is to come, new records are likely to be established. Of the five leading games last Saturday, the total attendance was over 200,000. The Harvard-Holy Cross game drew 50,000; the Michigan-Ohio State contest drew 45,000; the Penn-Columbia game 38,000; the Notre Dame-Princeton game 30,000; and the Syracuse-Pittsburgh game 25,000. Nearly 200 other games were played that same afternoon to capacity crowds.

McTigue and Tunney Post Forfeit Money

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Mike McTigue and Gene Tunney yesterday posted weight and appearance forfeits for their 15-round match at Madison Square Garden December 10 for the world's light heavyweight title. Under the agreement both are to make the class limit, 175 pounds, at 2 p. m. the day of the bout. Both McTigue, whose title will be at stake, and Tunney, who holds the American light heavyweight crown, are preparing to begin training.

BANKERS' BASKET LEAGUE.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 25.—A bankers' basketball league, composed of teams from twelve local banks, will be established in their city for the 1923-24 basketball season, according to an announcement here. The season will start early in December.

Saints Leave On Road Trip To Southwest

Coach Madigan on Way With Squad of 19 to Play Arizona U Saturday.

After putting his squad through a gruelling final workout on their home field yesterday afternoon Coach "Slip" Madigan entrained nineteen St. Mary's footballers at 8 o'clock last night for Los Angeles where the Saints will workout today.

Leaving early, in order to permit his men to have a workout in the southern metropolis today and another upon arrival in Tucson tomorrow, Madigan showed great foresight.

The St. Mary's field presents most difficult problems, being rough and hard to navigate on. The Arizona field at Tucson is reported to likewise be a hard field, even harder in one sense of the word, in that it is a hard packed field.

WORKOUT IN L. A.

The light limbering up workout today in Los Angeles will serve to break the monotony of a long, hurried train ride and will freshen the men up in a gradual tapering off process, for after a hard game last Sunday with the Olympic club, the Saints have been driven at breakneck pace the first three days this week to get them in shape and to enable Madigan to make final decision in several positions among the substitutes.

The first string personnel remains virtually the same as that started against the Olympic club last Sunday. O'Rourke and Collins will hold down the regular end berths with Lawless as a substitute.

Captain Corrigan and Hungerford, the big rangy line star, will care for the tackle jobs with Jackson and Tobin as utility men.

Watson, a regular at guard, together with Knowles, who was shifted from center to guard last Sunday, will be started with McVey and Packer as substitutes.

Lorigan is the only center along, although in a pinch both Knowles and McVey, having had previous experience, could care for the position.

CONLAN AT QUARTER.

Conlan will be at quarter with Grant and Rooney as the halfbacks to start and Strader at fullback.

Farrell has won a job as substitute halfback by steady improvement all season, having developed into a good defensive back.

The last minute change was made in one substitute position when O'Grady was added to the list. Underhill, out of account of injuries, was taken along but may not get into action and King, who has not developed as rapidly as had been hoped for, remained at home when O'Grady, shoved into halfback yesterday, ran wild throughout scrimmage and showed great possibilities.

The squad is due back in Oakland next Monday and chances are more than even that if they maintain the same pace displayed against the Olympic club last Sunday that they will return with Wildcat scalp on their belt.

Teams Bidding For Napa High Title

NAPA, Oct. 25.—Coaches of the Napa high school football eleven look for one of the hardest battles of the season when the purple and orange squad hook up with Petaluma high at that place Saturday. This game will be the last that the local aggregation will play away from home. Because of the fact that Napa high won the championship last season and is apparently well on the road to another championship this season, Petaluma, Santa Rosa and other schools are concentrating their guns on the Napans and they will put forth every effort to stop the local color bearers.

Berkeley Poloists Lose to Infantry

The polo four of the 30th infantry trounced the quartet of the Berkeley club yesterday by a score of 9 to 1 at the Park stadium in San Francisco.

Lieutenant Edgar was the bright individual start of the contest, scoring five of the goals for the winners and repeatedly featuring throughout the game with sensational riding and stellar plays.

Williams scored the only goal registered by the losers.

Sam Shaw, ex-captain of the Washington crew, is to coach the Harvard freshmen this year.

JIMMY DELANEY THRILLS FANS WITH CLASSY BOXING

YOUNG NET STARS WILL BE ENCOURAGED BY OAKLAND'S FIRST CITY TENNIS TOURNAMENT

RAY PELKEY RECEIVES NEAT BOXING LESSON FROM GIBBONS' PUPIL

Pat Lester Drops Decision to Sammy Olsen in Poor Exhibition; Dynamite Murphy Wins at End of First Round; T. Cello Beats J. O'Donnell.

By BOB SHAND.

If Promoter Tommy Simpson can import a few more boxers like Jimmy Delaney the fans will forget about the Midget Smiths, Jack Sharkeys, Young Fishers and the others that arrived in the last crate of lemons from the East. At the Auditorium last night Delaney thrilled a big crowd by giving Ray Pelkey a boxing lesson that will last Raymond quite a time. He hit the local boy with everything but Bert McCloud's silk shirt and there is no telling what might have happened to him had the bout not been stopped in the middle of the fourth round when Pelkey's eye was bleeding profusely. It has been many a year since such a left hand has been placed on exhibition here as the Delaney boy showed last night. He hit Pelkey, not single blows, but series of punches with his left hand and when Ray tried to counter he got cracked with a right.

Pelkey was out-boxed and also out-fought and when they can out-fight the willing lad from the McCloud stable they must have plenty. Pelkey, when he discovered that he was up against a master boxer, tried to get in some work at close range but Delaney beat him to everything and had Ray swinging like an old barn door. Pelkey never quit boring in and trying to do some good for the House of McCloud but on the form Delaney showed last night no middleweight in the country could have whipped him. Jimmy learned the game from Mike Gibbons and Mike must have taught him all he knew and then Jimmy probably stepped out and learned some more. Jimmy O'Hagen, the Albany Flash, was a sensation when he boxed here and was considered the cleverest middleweight to appear at the Audjitorium, but Delaney stole Jimmy's thunder last night and made a home for himself in Oakland.

"Can you wonder at that guy beating me now?" chirped Willie Meehan after the fight. "He's the best in the business."

Delaney and O'Hagan Match Would Be a Card.

Mike Collins, manager of Delaney, expects to keep his stable here for at least two months. O'Hagen promised to come back the first of the year and if he does and they match him with the Collins entry the Auditorium won't be big enough to hold the customers. As Billy Baccus remarked "It's a treat for sore eyes to see a boxer like Delaney after looking over the ordinary run of four-rounders."

The main event was a fitting climax to a wonderful action show.

In the special event Patrick Lester lost to Sammy Olsen, thereby upsetting the well-known hope. When Sammy entered the ring he was advised by the gallery to seek a soft spot and get the agony over with in a hurry. But Sammy had other ideas. When he found that Lester was rusty and out of shape he took a chance and landed all the clean punches that were delivered during the four rounds. Sammy did not really get going until the third, when he landed several hard rights to the chin and he kept up the good work in the fourth and had Pat groggy.

Jack O'Donnell, Delaney's stablemate, dropped a close decision to Tommy Cello. There was little to choose between the pair at the finish and a draw decision would have satisfied most of the clientele. As a fight it did not amount to much both trying to box and neither doing a very good job of it.

Sailor Sid Taylor Wins From Phat Bobby Burns.

Sailor Sid Taylor took the decision from Bobby Burns after four willing rounds. In the third round the sailor fell down the hold but he was on deck in short order and, unlike Jack Dempsey on a certain memorable occasion, he did not need any assistance in climbing back into the ring. Taylor fights typically sailor-like, with a long left and a right-hand swing. Burns walked into a few of the swings and dropped the long end of the decision. The band of the U. S. S. Texas advised Mister Taylor that the gang was all there and that there would be a hot time in the old town tonight. The music before the beginning of the fourth had quite an effect on Taylor as he swarmed all over the phat phighter in the last round. Burns was handicapped because he did not have his band nor rooting section, but he did not lose any friends.

Dynamite Murphy encountered a tall, skinny guy named Danny Martin and took the decision at the end of the first round after opening a bad cut over the visitor's right eye. Murphy is back in his old form and will make any of the banties step. Martin was willing to continue, but Murphy had him whipped and Referee George Brown did the right thing by stopping the fair.

Ritchie Substitutes For Schwab and Is Beaten.

Sailor Schwab, who was billed to meet Minn Minnick, had to schwab the decks or something. Bo'sun Jack Jacobson simply blew his little whistle when he couldn't locate Schwab and a whole raft of sailor fighters came on the run. Sailor Ritchie was picked out of the bunch. Minnick won and as both were sailors the decision was perfectly O. K.

Eddie Jordon took Johnny Lawson into camp in the curtain-raiser.

Cliff Kramer is back in town. He had one fight in New York in which he defeated Jim Herman.

According to Frank Tabor, Sailor Friedman, the prominent eastern lightweight, wants to come to the coast and try his luck in the four-round game.

Too bad Delaney is not about fifteen pounds lighter. What a match he would make with Jimmy Duffy.

When American Horse Defeated British

ZEV, Harry Sinclair's dark brown three-year-old colt, easily defeated Papyrus, the English Derby winner, in the mile and one-half International classic race at Belmont Park, the American colt leaving Papyrus five lengths to the rear early in the race and holding the distance to the finish. Photo shows ZEV at the finish with PAPYRUS five lengths behind. (Each pole on the side lines is one length).

Georgia Tech to Meet Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 25.—A Notre Dame's next opponent will be Georgia Tech, a college with a football reputation behind it. Georgia Tech has one of the best elevens in the south and should give Coach Rockne's men a hard battle Saturday. Both Yale and Harvard have loathe the idea of encountering the southern aggregation. Should Notre Dame emerge the victor in this contest they will have, more than ever, earned the right to be called ono of the great football teams of the United States.

Schaefer Hopes To Regain His Title

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Young Jake Schaefer, who is finishing his training in Chicago, will arrive here Sunday to try to regain the world's 18.2 balkline billiard championship now held by Willie Hoppe, in the third international tournament, which opens here on Monday night. The present champion will appear in the opening match.

Fletcher Did Well With Lowly Phils

Art Fletcher did as much as any game human could accomplish with the Phils, last season. At least he kept them fighting, and that is some job, considering what he had to make fight. Fletcher is a smart manager and he is building. He may not win a pennant, but neither will he remain forever in the cellar.

Management Has Been Cause of Many Slip-Ups

There are many examples, or perhaps more, of boxers who suffered by poor management. Eugene Criqui's case was the most recent. Criqui won the world's featherweight championship and lost it in the short space of two months. No smart American manager would have allowed him to take on a dangerous challenger in his first fight as a champion.

True, Criqui was forced to post a forfeit of $10,000 that he would meet Dundee in his next fight before he was allowed to fight Kilbane, but he could have gone back to France and forfeited his money. He was blackjacked by unfair methods into the agreement and it would not have been a breach of faith to demand a fair chance as the champion.

He would have made money even if he did have to pass up $10,000 and thereby get the opportunity for a number of matches, but he would never have lost the forfeit, as the New York Boxing Commission could not legally claim the money and Dundee did not have a case to take it into court.

Idaho Eleven to Oppose Oregon U.

MOSCOW, Ida., Oct. 25.—The Idaho eleven will oppose the University of Oregon in its first conference game of the year Saturday. Idaho's team enters the favorite and expects little trouble from their opponent. Idaho has built up a fast and formidable team, one of the best in the northwest.

Boxing Arranged For Show Navy Day

VALLEJO, Oct. 25.—So far there have been five boxing bouts and one wrestling match arranged for the Navy Day show at the yard Saturday. Sailor Alcade will meet Sailor McCarry; Sailor Gentry will box Young Stopper; Sailor Joe Gans will meet Sailor Taroley; Sailor Hoyt is to swap punches with Sailor Blackie and Marine Huggins will meet Sailor Boris. The wrestling match will be between Sailor Brown and Sailor Schaffer. Two of the boxing bouts will also be arranged before Saturday afternoon.

Firpo Unwise to Act as Own Manager

Luis Angel Firpo is trying to act as his own manager, and he has come very close to killing himself several times. Firpo can talk dollars and cents better than any manager could do it for him, but he has made political errors, natural for a stranger in a strange company, that would not have befallen him if he had taken the counsel of a wise manager.

Creighton Halfback Out for the Season

OMAHA, Oct. 25. — Paul Fitzgibbon, star halfback of Creighton University's football team, suffered an injured leg in last Saturday's game with South Dakota State at Brookings, S. D., and will be unable to play for the remainder of the season.

Three Managers Are Certain of Position

John McGraw, Branch Rickey and Tris Speaker, as part owners of their clubs, are certain of their jobs as long as they want to remain. Certainly no change for the better could be made with the Giants and the Indians.

Home Clubs Have Hard Sledding in County League

The San Leandro team is the only home one to meet with any success thus far in the games played in the Alameda County Midwinter league. The cherry pickers won their first two games, while Hayward and Alameda Elks, a couple of strong favorites, lost their first ones. The coming Sunday may bring some joy to the Hayward fans—their team, known as the Verasic Bakers; is to meet the San Leandro club. Hayward will be bolstered by the addition of "Pop" Arlett, "Chick" Autrey, "Buzz" Arlett and Gussie Smith. If the Hayward boys win everybody will be happy, but things will be quite gloomy if they lose after adding four stars to the lineup. "Biff" Schaller will do the umpiring behind the plate, with Eddie (Tuxedo) Ryan working on the bases.

The Alameda Elks will leave their home lot to play the California Cotton Millers at San Leandro. The Elks have been playing good ball, but not getting the right breaks. Clyde Borba will be the umpire. At Lincoln Park in Alameda the Halcyon Natives will tangle with the J. J. Kriegs. The Kriegs have won their only two games, while the Natives came out fifty-fifty on theirs.

Moonlight Golf Is New Sport in East

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—Moonlight golf is the latest sport innovation here.

Several members of the North Hills Country club, who have been playing at night, said the only requirement was to stand still after hitting the ball, so as to hear it drop. Midirons are used on all shots. The other night three moonlight players turned in scores of 53, 55 and 56 respectively for nine holes and only one ball was lost.

Tabloid SPORTS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Construction work on the $3,000,000 Southern California Athletic and Country Club home started here yesterday when excavation work on the Wilshire Boulevard site was begun. The club now lists 2631 members.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Frank Chance, of Boston arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and declined to comment on his future plans other than to say:

"I expect to be either in or out of baseball after the Major League convention next December."

VALLEJO, Oct. 25.—Wop Manoleum, who is now in the east on a visit, will return to Vallejo in November. Manoleum boxed in several fistic shows held here early this year.

California On Way to Tackle W.S.C. Eleven

Don Perry Only Regular Not in Top Shape as Bruins Leave for Northwest.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Oct. 25.—Coach Andy Smith, with a squad of twenty-five California Bears, left Berkeley last night bound for Portland, where California will meet Washington State College next Saturday in the second conference game of the year for the Bruins.

A lengthy signal practice with light scrimmage featured the final workout of the Bruins on California field until after dark yesterday afternoon. Coach Smith taking no chances with his Bears forgetting any of the foundamentals of offense or defense he has been busy drilling into them during the last three days since their game with the Oregon Aggies here last Saturday.

OUT FOR BLOOD.

While Washington State is not regarded as one of the most formidable teams of the conference and not, in any sense of the word, a championship contender, nevertheless the Cougars are out for blood and would like nothing better than to wreck California's record, now going on to four years of undefeated football, particularly when one remembers the severe beating dealt out to the W. S. C. squad a year ago on California field.

The last indication from Coach Smith last night was to the effect that the California line-up would be substantially the same next Saturday as it was last week.

Don Perry, still out of scrimmage on account of his injured knee, may not start at guard, Art Best having been groomed as a suitable substitute for the star California lineman. Best has improved greatly this year and is an able substitute.

REGULAR LINE-UP.

Last night in practice the Bears lined up with Hufford and Mell at ends, Beam and Newmeyer tackles, Carey and Best guards, Horrell at center, practically the veteran first-string line.

Hoggy Evans still had the call at quarterback, with Captain Don Nichols and Bill Blewett at halfbacks, with Witter at full.

"Spud" Spalding, practically recovered from his injured shoulder, but still wearing ample padding, appears to have chased Jimmy Dixon down onto the second string and is more than likely to have the call as first-string substitute halfback against Washington State.

GOOD TURNOUT.

Seventy-two oarsmen and fourteen coxwains turned out for the first crew practice of the freshmen at Washington.

All Local Net Players Have a Chance for Cup

Oakland City Tourney Will Give Beginners a Real Opportunity.

The Oakland City tennis tournament, which will be played at the Oakland tennis club, starting November 3, has all the signs of being a successful affair. Entries are being received in bunches, and a large list of players is being looked for. The principal reason for having this tournament was made clear by George H. Hudson, who is chairman of the tournament committee. Hudson is a strong believer in the development of players who have not been noticed in the larger tournaments where noted stars compete, and has arranged this event to give the lesser lights a chance to display their ability. The tournament committee will use every effort to see that no other than Oaklanders will participate, and that qualification is that a person must reside in Oakland for at least a period of six months, before the opening date. Therefore, tennis enthusiasts are urged to supply themselves with entry blanks, which may be secured at Spaulding's, or at the Oakland tennis club, located at Twelfth street and Fifth avenue.

The tournament will be played under the auspices of the California lawn tennis association, and handsome trophies will be awarded to the winners and runners up in the various divisions. Two special silver cups will be donated to the committee by The TRIBUNE, for the winners.

All entries must be turned in not later than 8 p. m. November 1. The drawings will be published the following day.

Women's Golf Ass'n. Will Elect Officers

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Officers of the Woman's Western Golf Association were slated to be re-elected today at the annual meeting, which received reports on 1923 tournaments, the largest in the history of the organization and planned meets for next year.

The regular ticket, which had no opposition, is headed by Mrs. Farlin H. Ball, Chicago, president; Mrs. J. W. Douglass and Mrs. B. C. Hardenbrook, Chicago, vice-presidents; Mrs. Robert Cutting and Mrs. E. E. Harwood, Chicago, secretaries. The directors are widely distributed geographically and also include such noted players as Mrs. Dave Gaut of Memphis, Miss Doreen Kavanaugh of Los Angeles and Miss Florence Halloran of Salt Lake City, Utah.

PANAMA PACIFIC LINER MAKING A FAST COAST RUN

Kroonland, First of Fleet, Nearing Panama Canal From New York.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 25.—The liner Kroonland, the inaugural ship for the Panama-Pacific line's intercoastal freight and passenger service, is making a speedy passage on her initial voyage from New York to Pacific Coast ports, according to advices received here today. The giant liner has passed Havana, Cuba, and is now on the way to the Panama canal, it was stated.

Much interest is being manifested in the arrival of the Kroonland owing to the fact that she is inaugurating a service which has been discontinued since the start of the world war.

Oakland will have two offices to take care of the operations of the Panama-Pacific service. Crabtree's Travel Bureau will handle the passenger service, while the Admiral offices will handle freight and cargo consignments.

Approximately a dozen oil tankers are due here tomorrow.

Announcement was made today of the appointment of Ralph Bennett, for several years connected with shipping activities here, as assistant superintendent of the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company.

EIGHT BOATS ON DIRECT SERVICE TO BRITISH PORTS

Furness, Withy and Company Put Big Fleet on Run From Bay to England.

Oakland shippers and business men are being served with a direct delivery to English ports by a strong fleet of refrigerator carriers under the direction of Furness, Withy & Co. The fleet consists of eight vessels, of which five are fan cooled while three have the cool air space system in addition to the fan system. Two new ships of the highest type are soon to be added to the fleet.

All the vessels of this service that are operating from this port to Europe are British built and the London Shipper, London Merchant and Dominion Miller are the last word in this type of ship construction. The last named vessel is the next departure from this port, sailing next Tuesday with a full cargo of Pacific Coast products. The London Shipper will follow her a little later.

Two new motorships are under construction and in honor of the service to which they will be put have been named Pacific Shipper and Pacific Trader. The first named ship will arrive in the bay in December on her maiden run. The other will not be completed and in service until early in 1924.

According to T. A. Lee, Pacific Coast manager of the Furness, Withy & Co., the line is endeavoring to make Oakland one of the regular ports of call and efforts will be made to give a complete carrying service to European ports.

Wreck of Liner Is Fast Disappearing

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—The Pacific Mail liner Cuba, which went on a reef off the west end of San Miguel island last month, broke in two last night and is rapidly being dashed to pieces by heavy seas, according to advices received here today. It is believed no more salvage work will be done.

Two Disagreeing Unions Tie Up Port

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 25.—Work was resumed on the docks yesterday after a strike of 12 days. There was no activity, however, on the dock owned by the railroad company. The controversy between the Maritime Workers' union and the railway employees led to the strike which had virtually tied up the port. The dispute between the two unions has not been settled.

Steamship Line Makes Drastic Cut in Its Fares

Rates to Portland Are Reduced on New Electra Liner Cuba.

Drastic reductions in the coastwise passenger fares between San Francisco and Portland, to go into effect immediately, were announced here yesterday by Richard Prosser, traffic manager of the new Electra line, which operates the electrically driven passenger liner Cuba between the two ports in a weekly service. The new rates, which are the lowest offered the traveling public by a first-class steamer line in many years, are made with the object of stimulating travel by water during the coming months, which are traditionally dull from a passenger standpoint every year.

The new low rates apply on the Cuba, leaving Portland Saturday, October 27, and from San Francisco northbound next Tuesday, October 30. It is expected that they will create a heavy volume of passenger travel by water, both to and from San Francisco throughout the winter. Heretofore coastwise steamers operating north of San Francisco have usually enjoyed a capacity business from May to November, while the remaining months have been light. The Cuba's new minimum rate is less than half the cost of the trip by rail when berth and meals are included.

Dollar Company to Serve in Canada

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 24. — An arrangement is being made whereby the Canadian Robert Dollar Company will act hereafter as sole agents in British Columbia for the Admiral Line, the Blue Star and Nawsco Line. At a meeting between the interested parties in Seattle tomorrow it is expected that final details will be settled and the offices of the Admiral Line here will be merged with that of the Dollar Line.

The steel steamer Lady Evelyn, owned by the Hood Sound Navigation Company, has been purchased by the Union Steamship Company to be operated on a run from Vancouver to Powell river, according to an announcement here today.

The steamers Giyenchy and Thiefpal will be put in service by the government at Barclay sound to aid ships in distress along the west coast of Vancouver island during the coming winter, according to an announcement today. Both ships will be equipped with powerful life saving apparatus.

Matsonia With Big Passenger List Makes Port

Liner Has Trouble to Make Berth; Varied Cargo Is Aboard.

Beause of the strong north wind and the heavy current which was running, the Matson Navigation liner Matsonia experienced considerable difficulty in docking at Pier 30 yesterday. After coming up to the wharf, the unfavorable conditions made it necessary for Captain Chas. Peterson, the liner's commander, to leave the dock and circle around in the stream for a new start, which was successful.

Prominent passengers arriving from Honolulu among the Matsonia's 92 cabin travelers included I. C. Spier, member of the Chicago board of trade, returning with his bride from a honeymoon trip to Hawaii; Princess Elizabeth Kalanianaole, widow of Prince J. Kuhio Kalanianaole, who was Hawaii's delegate to Congress for more than twenty years; James A. Kennedy, president of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., of Honolulu, here for a vacation of several weeks; T. H. Petrie, secretary of Castle & Cooke, Honolulu agency of the Matson line; Mr. and Mrs. A. Ettlinger, prominent Chicagoans and others.

Cargo brought from Honolulu yesterday morning by the Matsonia included 64,520 cases of canned pineapples, 51,744 bags of raw sugar for Crockett refinery, 4146 bunches of Hawaiian bananas, three passengers' autos, 214 tons of plunder and 293 bags of mail.

Today at noon (Wednesday) the Matson Navigation steamer Wilhelmina, Captain A. L. Soule, sailed for Honolulu, taking 125 passengers, a list close to capacity, and a good sized cargo.

The steamer Lurline, Captain E. H. Sandelin, will arrive on Thursday from Honolulu with 35 cabin passengers, 61,685 cases of canned pines, 1064 bunches of bananas, 15 tons of plunder and 30 bags of mail. For Seattle there are 2360 cases of pines, 84 bunches of bananas and 97 tons of plunder.

Oregon Calls for Harbor Jetty Bid

COOS BAY, Oct. 25. — Captain George Mayo of the Oregon coast government engineering office said today that the government would call for bids on soft rock within two weeks amounting to 886,000 tons and that the contract price would probably exceed $1,000,000. The rock is part that will be used in the construction of the two Coos Bay jetties. Harder rock from Powers will be used for outside finishings on the jetties.

The steamer F. A. Warner arrived from San Francisco this morning and is taking a lumber cargo at the Coos Bay Lumber Company dock. The Warner left San Francisco towing the steamer Johanna Smith but broke here tow line and the Johanna was adrift all night before being picked up. The tow was taken back to San Francisco bay and will be brought up the coast by the steamer C. A. Smith.

Several vessels from the Orient are due here by November 4, including the Norwegian steamers Fragestan and Dicto and the Japanese steamer Milan Maru.

UNCLE SAM HOLDS GREATEST JUNK SALE IN HISTORY

Battleship Discarded Under to Go on Auction Block Today.

One of the greatest auction sales of discarded battleships that the United States has ever held will start at various navy yards throughout the country today. At the Mare Island Navy Yard, the old Montana and the Indiana will be put on the auction block and knoocked down to the highest bidder. At the Brooklyn Navy Yard the South Dakota will be treated likewise while at Norfolk the North Carolina will be sold. The battle cruisers Constitution and United States will also be sold at Brooklyn Navy Yard.

On November 1 the sale will be continued with the disposal of the Georgia and Rhode Island at Mare Island and the New Hampshire and Louisiana at Philadelphia Navy Yard. The Connecticut will be sold at Bremerton Navy Yard.

The Vermont and the Nebraska will be sold at Mare Island on November 30. Others of the old batters to go to the scrap pile will be the Iowa, Massachusetts, Constellation, Ranger, Michigan, Kansas, Minnesota and Delaware.

The vessels are all being sold in accordance with the agreement of the treaty limiting naval armament. One of the conditions which the purchaser has to agree to is that the boats secured will be broken up for scrap and not be turned to either commercial or naval purposes. This is to prevent the vessels falling into foreign hands.

Several of the craft are practically obsolete but many are in first class condition. Wreckers are expecting, however, to pick up some excellent bargains.

French Floating Weather Bureau Will Be Visitor

THE floating weather bureau of the French government checked on Lloyd's list as the steamer Jacques Cartier, is soon to arrive in San Francisco bay. The vessel is one of the most unique ships at present afloat on the Seven Seas as she is a thoroughly equipped meteorological station maintained by the French government to cruise about the world making important weather and meteorological observations. The United States government is co-operating with the French authorities and several American weather scientists are aboard the craft which has just concluded taking a series of observations in the Atlantic.

After calling here the Jacques Cartier will proceed to the central portion of the Pacific to continue the work on this side of the globe. A complete weather chart of the Pacific is to be made from the observations obtained.

During the voyage the steamer will broadcast daily weather reports and will act in every way as a floating weather bureau.

INGRAM STATES PUBLIC HAS NO RAIL PROBLEM

S. P. Official Declares Common Carriers Can Solve Difficulties Alone.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 25—"Talk is heard frequently of the railroad problem, but there is no railroad problem, in a public sense," W. F. Ingram of San Francisco, assistant treasurer of the Southern Pacific Company, told the members of the Railway Treasury Officers' Association, of which he is president, at the opening of the association convention here today.

"If the railroads are allowed to go undisturbed, under the transportation act, in its present form, they will continue to improve their plants and to give the public the service that it needs," he said.

"The public has no railroad problems, but the railroads, of course, have their own problem—problems of how to improve their plants, of how to increase their efficiency, of how to get greater team work within their own organizations. These problems they will solve if let alone."

Ingram reviewed the accomplishment of the railroads this year in handling a record-breaking amount of traffic and in turning a car shortage into a car surplus through a campaign for greater efficiency, and took an optimistic view of the future for the roads. He said, however, that to make further improvements in plants and increase their service, the roads should not be hampered with more adverse legislation or further restrictive regulation.

"If the railroads are to go on building up their plants and buying equipment which they must have in order to transport the country's industrial and agricultural products without delays or car shortages, their earnings must be steady and sufficiently large to attract investors to railroad securities. Improvements and additions to equipment are always requiring new capital and railroad investments must be comparable with other investments in order to attract new capital. The act of investment is a voluntary one and if the credit of the railroads is impaired the investor will go elsewhere with his money.

TRANSPORTATION BETTER.

"In dealing with the railroads some seem to take the attitude that the railroads will go on and on providing service no matter what is done to them. Transportation costs are as real as production costs in any industry. Distances between terminals, geographical barriers such as mountain ranges, costs of cars, locomotives and other equipment, labor costs, prices for materials and supplies, are all factors that cannot be disregarded. To catch up with and keep abreast of the development of the country, it is conservatively estimated that the railroads ought to spend for years to come not less than a billion dollars a year. If freight rates are reduced so that railroad earnings are too small to attract new capital, these expenditures cannot be made, the public will not be able to get the service that it needs and shippers will lose from car shortages and delays through lack of facilities, far more than they could ever hope to obtain through decreased freight rates."

Ingram said that agitation is to be found in some quarters for revision or repealing of the Transportation Act of 1920, under which the railroads have been operating. He praised the act as a piece of constructive legislation and said that attacks on the act are based on misunderstanding of its provisions, especially in regard to the earnings the railroads shall be permitted to obtain, and valuation of their properties, on which the amount of return is based.

"There is no guarantee to the railroads in any way," said Ingram. "The railroads are merely limited to 5¾ per cent on the valuation of their properties devoted to public use, and at no time since the Transportation Act was passed have they made that return. If the railroads' return should exceed the return fixed, one-half of the excess has to be turned over to the Government to be used for the benefit of the railroads as a whole, and the other half has to be set aside as a reserve fund, itself limited, to be drawn on by the individual road when its earnings fall short of the return permitted. If a guarantee has been made it would provide that if the fixed return is not realized from original sources, it will be made good from some other source. Nothing of the kind is contemplated or provided in the Transportation Act.

FIXING OF VALUE.

"The value of the transportation property on which a fair return is sought, must, under the Transportation Act, be fixed by a government commission, based on the physical value of the property using pre-war costs.

"The railroads are paying out in operation expenses and taxes about 85 per cent of all earnings they derive from the rates they charge. Out of the 15 per cent remaining must come equipment and joint facility rents, fixed charges and dividends. As long as present operating costs continue and the present high taxes are maintained, the roads will have to collect from the public at least 85 per cent of the present rates merely to pay operating expenses and taxes regardless of what valuation is fixed on their properties. The valuation finally made will affect only that part of the rates and earnings that constitute a net return to the railroads. An increase or a reduction of one billion dollars in the valuation would effect the total passenger and freight rates the railways are allowed to charge by less than 1 per cent.

"But while the valuation finally made will have relatively little effect upon the total rates, it will have a most important effect on the net return the railways will be allowed to earn, and therefore on the interest and dividends they will be allowed to pay, on the extent of improvements they will be able to make, and on the number of cars and locomotives they will be able to provide in hauling the country's traffic."

AUTOMOBILES.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—Automobile accessories are moving at a fairly good rate throughout the Southwest. Dealers report an excellent demand for radiator covers and top and side curtains.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

While there was some irregularity in the initial prices of today's New York stock market, changes were mostly downward with a resumption of pressure against several of the stocks which were conspicuous in yesterday's selling movement, notable the coppers. Some of the high-priced specialties continued upward, Kress umping 5, to 150, a new high for the year.

Absence of support for the coppers and low-priced railroad shares encouraged more general ventures on the shot side of the maket and prices accordingly sagged rather steadily during the forenoon. Dividend paying railroad stocks were included in the drop, Chicago & Northwestern, Great Northern preferred and Lehigh Valley losing 1 to 2 points. Losses among many industrials ranged from 1 to 3 points, with American Sugar, American Ice, Foundation Company, Woolworth and American Zinc preferred the weakest. A total of 24 stocks, including ten coppers, touched new lows for the year. TheTobacco Product shares, however, were strong, bith the A and the preferred establishing new top prices for the year. Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

SCHOOL FARE HEARING REOPENED.

The Railroad Commission has reopened for further hearing the cases of the Cities of Oakland and Berkeley against San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways in which the elimination of alleged discrimination against Oakland and Berkeley is being shown by defendant company in the cities of Richmond and Alameda, where school children fares of 2½ cents are in effect, as against the full fare of 6 cents for school children in Oakland and Berkeley. The commission in its previous order ordered the railway company to eliminate this discrimination, which the company alleges it is unable to obviate as the 2½ cent fare provision is a franchise requirement in the cities of Richmond and Alameda. The hearing will be held before Commissioner Martin in the city hall at Oakland Thursday, November 1, 1923, at 10 a. m.

• • •

AUTO BUS TRANSFER PERMIT SOUGHT.

Pacific Election Land Company has applied to the Railroad Commission for permission to transfer to Pacific Electric Railway Company the auto busses and operative rights therefor now owned and operated by the Pacific Electric Land Company in the cities of San Bernardino, Redlands, Glendale, Santa Ana, Beverly, Alhambra, South Pasadena, Los Angeles and Pasadena.

S. P. TO PAY PART OF GRADE SEPARATION COST.

Southern Pacific Company will be required to pay 62½ per cent of the cost of the separation of grades as a condition under which permission is granted to construct its new line of tracks through the city of San Jose in a supplemental order of the Railroad Commission. This order revising a previous order issued in 1916, and which provided for the construction of a subway carrying eighteen tracks over the Alameda and assessing the city of San Jose 37½ per cent of the cost of separating the grades. The new plan ordered by the Railroad Commission calls for a subway carrying but five tracks over the Alameda, and requires the city of San Jose and the State Highway Commission respectively to pay 18.75 per cent of the cost, and the Southern Pacific Company the remainder of 62.5 per cent. Substitution of gates for the protection of the San Carlos street crossing instead of a human flagman is also offered. Permission to construct two main line tracks at grade across the following streets is granted:

Lenzen, Cinnabar, Autumn, Montgomery, Julian, San Augustine, San Fernando, Park, Pine, San Carlos, San Salvador, Naglee, Homes, Harrison, Bird, Fuller, Delmas, Hall, Chapin, Atlanta, Memphis, Willow, LeLong, Bartlett, Goodyear, Sunnyside, Linn, Floyd, Palm, Almaden, Almaden Road and Stone avenue.

BASIC CONDITION SEEM MUCH SOUNDER.

Under the title "Looking Backwards," Strassburger and Company's bulletin, "The Review" has this to say:

"Although the economic situation seems still slightly clouded, those who are best qualified to judge are unanimous in their opinion that basic conditions are very much sounder than they were a year ago. The economic and financial atmosphere was at that time highly charged with potentialities of danger that were the more serious because unappreciated. In every department of business things were going merrily, unfilled orders mounting up, factories working near capacity, unduly low inventories promising a continued period of feverish activity. Little heed was paid to the few who centured to sound warning notes. It was not until early in the Spring that a halt was called, and it was not any too soon. Heading for inflation, it looked as if we were determined to travel the cycle at an accelerated pace.

"Fortunately, those who control the situation intervened to steady the pace, and after a few months of healthy depression, we are in smooth water again—the situation satisfactory from almost every point of view.

"The slowing down of industry, that caused so much anxiety in uninformed quarters, has been the best thing that could have happened, and the spirit of caution that has developed has had a stabilizing effect all round. We are now able to realize the fundamental soundness of the whole position. The customary seasonal slackness of the summer months has been less aggravated than usual, the railroads have been busier than in the corresponding months of any previous year, and there is evidence from every district that stocks of merchandise, though they have been steadily replenished, are as steadily being depleted, ensuring a continuance of necessary purchasing on the part of retailers. The farmers are buying well, more than 70 per cent of them receiving today better prices for their produce than last year.

"The general outlook is for steady business, production and consumption evenly balanced, employment well sustained at good wages. Less speculative activity is indicated. In short, we have overcome finally the effects of the war upheaval, and have regained normality."

More Electricity Used by Italians

Consumption of electric current in Italy during the ten months' period, July, 1922, to April, 1923, was $389,650,393 kilowatt hours, according to statistics recorded by the Italian Ministry of Finance and transmitted to the Department of Commerce by Trade Commissioner A. B. Osborne, Rome. For this same period the year previous, it was 340,103,202 kilowatt hours. Widely diffused prosperity among all classes is evidenced by this increase in the consumption of electric current. During the same periods, the number of electric light bulbs consumed increased from 1,376,323 to 4,332,159.

Textile Business Is Big in Yucatan

The textile business rangs second in importance among the mercantile enterprises of Yucatan, and by far the greater portion of the trade has to do with the importation and sale of cotton piece goods. Practically all of the cloth similar to palm beach and all crepe de chine is imported from the United States. America also furnished about 90 per cent of the collars, 75 per cent of the georgette, 60 per cent of the neckties, 45 per cent of the socks and stockings and varying amounts of other commodities, says Consul C. Gaylord Marsh, Progresso, in a report to the Department of Commerce.

Conditions in Finland Better

European cables to the Department of Commerce report better conditions in Finland and Denmark and continued dullness in Poland, Norway, Hollad, and Rumania. Crops are excellent in Denmark, Rumania, and Poland, but their influence is minimized in Rumania by transport and currency difficulties and n Poland by continued depreciation of the mark, though Poland is expected to return this season to the ranks of wheat exporting countries. Harvests are unsatisfactory in Finland and Norway, but Finland's favorable foreign trade balance, firm exchange, and other factors make the outlook in that country relatively bright. Unemployment is increasing in Norway and Holland.

BROOM CORN.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24.—Broom corn buying is at a standstill in many districts. This is attributed to the low price offered and to the fact that the crop is not of the best quality.

Production Drops In Steel and Iron

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 25.—Steel and iron production in the Pittsburgh district has fallen off slightly but not to the extent expected. New orders are runing lighter than shipments but there is encouragement in the fact that the spread between the two is being reduced. The rate of production is about 18 per cent under the peak level of the year but prices are unchanged.

In lines such as groceries, drugs, hardware and coal, business is active. Distributors of foodstuffs expect trade will increase from now to the end of the year. There is still a shortage of labor in the building trades.

Power Prospect in East Is Brighter

HACKENSACK, N. J., Oct. 25.—Today's rains are expected to improve materially the situation of the industrial plants of northern New Jersey, which have been suffering from a shortage of water although a three-inch fall is needed.

St. Paul Outlook Reported Bright

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 25.—Buyers and jobbers of the northwest here for the annual merchandise display and purchasing week, forecast steady business the remainder of the year. Officials of the Northwest Buyers and Jobbers, Inc., predicted that $1,000,000 worth of goods will be sold in the next four days. Retail trade in the rural districts has improved but is quiet here due to warm weather. Building operations have increased since October 1, involving $1,200,000 for the three weeks.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE, tell them so.

Boston Conditions Under Discussion

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 25.—Despite indications that busines sactivity is holding up in other sections, distinct signs of contraction are shown in New England. Business men complain primarily about the steadily narrowing margin of profit. Rising labor costs, stiff prices for raw materials and the difficulty of disposing of goods on a basis equivalent to the cost of production, constitute the problems of the moment.

Retail trade here is good, running not more than 10 per cent behind that of last fall. This is attributed to the fact that labor is well employed at high wages. This is an effect not a cause. Manufacturers of cottons are handicapped by high costs of materials. Woolen manufacturers are meeting an unwillingness of buyers to pay prices which will cover the 12½ per cent wage advance of last spring.

Slight Decline In Productive Activity Seen

Early Reports on September Business Said to Show Small Drop.

Early reports on September business, received by the Bureau of the Census Department of Commerce, generally show a slight decline in productive activity from the August mark, but with the level still above September, 1922. Merchant pig iron production at 455,589 long tons compares with 500,122 in August and 220,882 in September, 1923. The number of active cotton spindles increased from 33,709,000 in August to 33,930,000 in September, and compares with 33,316,000 in September, 1922. The cut of Douglas fir increased over August this year and September, 1923, while northern pine declined from August but shows an increase over September, 1922. Production of Portland cement increased from 12,967,000 barrels in August to 13,109,000 barrels in September and compares with 11,424,000 for September, 1922.

Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation at 5,036,000 long tons compare with 5,415,000 for last month and 6,692,000 a year ago. Unfilled orders for oak flooring increased from 27,355,000 board feet in August to 32,873,000 board feet in September, and compare with 35,957,000 board feet in September, 1922. Total sales of life insurance declined from $590,408,000 for last month to $544,829,000 for September and compares with $452,831,000 last year.

Bank clearings and debits to individual accounts increased from August but are below September last year. Prices of cotton yarns and print cloth increased from last month and a year ago, as did tin and lead. The price of crude petroleum declined but remains above the September, 1922, quotation.

Still On Stand In Teapot Dome Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Former Secretary Fall of the Interior Department, who, in his opening testimony vigorously defended the lease of the Teapot Dome, Wyoming, naval oil reserve to the Sinclair interests, continued as the witness today before the Senate public lands committee in its investigation of the lease. Other members of the committee were prepared to question Fall today as to the circumstances of the lease, which he declared under questioning yesterday by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, to be the beneficial arrangement the government could have made to protect itself from increasing loss through oil darinage from the field.

By giving the Sinclair interests the lease on Teapot Dome, Fall told the committee today, the government hoped to break "the monopoly of the Mid-West Oil Company in the central oil fields." The Pioneer Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Mid-West, had located four wells upon the apex of Teapot Dome before the land had been set aside as a naval reserve, he said, constituting a serious menace toth e government's title. The Sinclair interests as a part of the bargain obtained quit claims from the Pioneer Company and other claimants at the cost of $1,000,000.

It will be necessary to import approximately 6,300,000 pounds of fine wool and 7,700,000 pounds of semi-fine, according to "Economic Life," Moscow.

TURKEYS TO BE PLENTIFUL FOR HOLIDAY TABLES

Abundant Supply of Thanksgiving Dinner Birds Predicted for This Year.

By J. C. ROYLE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Requests for a second helping at the Thanksgiving dinner table this year need not cause undue alarm so far as the turkey supply is concerned. Practically every turkey raising district will have a good year and some states will have the largest crops ever. There will be plenty of birds to go around for those who can afford to buy them and indications point to generally lower prices than in 1922 according to large dealers.

There has been an unusually favorable growing season in many parts of the country. Many growers who had the market break under them late last season carried over a goodly portion of their birds for breeding purposes. As a result, Texas, one of the largest producers, will have the largest crop ever known, estimated by many experts at double that of last year. The birds have been aided materially by the prevalence of insect pests, particularly grasshoppers.

Oklahoma, Kentucky, Minnesota, Michigan, Oregon, Washington and the New England states will have fine large crops. In Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Tennessee, Arkansas, Alabama and Wisconsin, the production will be well up to normal while smaller production is expected in Iowa, Indiana, Nebraska and Colorado. The middle and southern Atlantic states will produce more turkeys than in 1922.

BIRDS WELL DEVELOPED.

The supply for Thanksgiving is dependent largely on the number of birds, breeders determine to withhold for Christmas and New Years but the weather has been so propitious that the birds are well developed and it is likely that large numbers will be tagged for November shipment.

Prices probably will be lower than last year both at wholesale and retail, according to Charles E. McNeill, of Chicago, one of the largest wholesale poultry men of the middle west. Prices at Thanksgiving time last year ranged from 50 to 60 cents wholesale and from 60 to 75 cents retail in most sections. This year Mr. McNeill and other poultry dealers forecast 40 cents at wholesale and 50 cents retail as the prevailing figures. These figures were confirmed by poultry prognosticators of Thomas E. Wilson & Company and other large packers.

Prices, however, are a matter of weather and transportation. If there is an unusually long spell of warm weather just before Thanksgiving many birds will arrive at market in bad condition and prices for fine birds will be higher. If a railroad tie-up should delay shipments, it would affect the market similarly. On the other hand large shipments to any one center would break the prices there.

TURKEYS IN COLD STORAGE.

In addition to turkeys now "on the hoof," the season started with 7,377,000 pounds of turkey in cold storage, the largest ever known at this time of the year comparing with 3,204,000 pounds last year and a five-year average of 2,523,000 pounds. Most of these birds in storage will have to be sold before January 1, and probably many will be withdrawn from refrigerators for the Thanksgiving trade. This means that fresh turkeys will have more competition than ever. Then, too, about 500 packages of dressed birds are now arriving weekly from the Argentine and some birds are being shipped to Pacific coast ports from Australia.

It is extremely likely that few birds will be shipped to reach markets earlier than a week before Thanksgiving as raisers will utilize all the time possible to mature and fatten their birds.

The bitter feud between producers and and poultry commission men again is raising its head, the former charging that their cars sent on consignment have been held in outlying yards and kept off the market until after the holiday so that prices could be maintained and the latter declaring that the producers are guilty in some places of "stuffing" their birds with sand and gravel to increase their weight.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Fear of frost in Argentina led to a new upturn in wheat prices today shortly after the market opened. The fact that the wheat crop in Argentina is at a critical stage of development made news of cold weather a distinct bullish influence. Besides, leading commission houses here continued to give attention to chances of United States government measures likely to help prices upward. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅛c lower, with December $1.06⅝ to $1.06½ and May $1.11 to $1.11⅛, was followed by a material upturn all around.

Corn and oats derived strength to the action of the wheat market. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, December 72⅛ to 72⅛c, corn scored a little and then scored moderate general gains.

Oats started ⅛@¼c up, December 1⅛ to 1⅜c, and continued to advance.

Provisions were steady in line with the hog market.

Damascus Is Rug Clearing House

Damascus, Syria, does not, as is generally supposed, produce a large quantity of Oriental carpets. In fact only six square meters is the estimated daily production at this time, and this is of inferior quality. Damascus is more of a clearing house and selling market for Persian and Anatolian carpets. Imports from Bagdad during 1922 were estimated at 50,000 Turkish gold pounds (at current exchange Turkish gold pound—approximately $0.66). Exports to Europe and other places for the same period were estimated at 25,000 to 30,000 gold pounds, Vice Consul J. H. Keeley Jr., Damascus, Syria, informs the Department of Commerce.

Power Plant for Alsace-Lorraine

In connection with a canal which is to parallel the Rhine, a hydro-electric station, which will furnish approximately 100,000 horsepower will be erected between the towns of Rosenau and Kembs, Vice Consul Leslie E. Woods, Strasbourg, informs the Department of Commerce.

Blomfontein Will Get Power Station

Decision of Blomfontein, S. A., town council to erect a new power station is reported to the Department of Commerce by Consul C. K. Donall, Johannesburg. It is planned to spend 180,000 pounds, of which 80,000 pounds is available. The rest will be raised by a loan.

AUTO OUTPUT TO BE HEAVY

A total output of roughly 3,000,000 cars and trucks during the year 1924 is forecasted by Standard Daily Trade Service. This will be about 25 per cent below this year's output, and more than 25 per cent below the industry's productive capacity. It will be five times the volume of the peak year before the war; 60 per cent greater than 1917, the peak year of the war period; 50 per cent greater than 1919; 36 per cent greater than 1920; 80 per cent greater than the sag year of 1921; and even 13 per cent in the lead of the recovery year of 1922. This Service states that: "The present trend of prices in the auto field is unmistakably downward. Next year is likely to be a period of intense competition in prices on narrow margins and of extreme suffering of those producers who lack the advantages either of quantity production or of a well-established, high-priced and exclusive clientele.

"The expansion of demand will almost certainly be in the middle and lower-priced cars.

"The year 1924 will probably witness not a few insolvencies, absorptions and amalgamations in the automobile industry. Thus, even if an up-swing in general prices should serve to protect industrial margins in general (as is in no sense incredible), the automobile industry will be likely to fall sharply away from this year's level of earnings.

"In other words, next year, from the automobile industry's standpoint, is more promising in its purely industrial aspects than its profit aspects."

THREE ARRESTED IN TAXICAB WAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Yesterday's resumption of the taxi war resulting in the robbery of two chauffeurs and the burning of a Yellow cab had an aftermath today when three men were arrested for carrying concealed weapons in violation of the recent statute.

Policeman Charles Fry, becoming suspicious of the actions of three employees of the Yellow Taxi company, searched a machine at Gough and Haight streets and found arms and ammunition. He then arrested Ward Skuse, of 702 Haight street, superintendent; Joseph H. McGuire, 1716-A Polk street, starter, and Myron Blanchard, 1105 Geary street, a chauffeur. All of them were booked at the city prison.

The recent outbreak of violent crime will be placed by the police before the grand jury for investigation in an effort to bring to an end what appears to be a deadly feud between the taxicab drivers.

This announcement was made by Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson. If evidence warrants, the grand jury will be asked to bring in indictments against the responsible parties and the police commission will be asked to suspend licenses on a wholesale plan.

Wife Forgives 20 Love Affairs, But Then Drops Mate

Raymond Boyd boasted of his conquests of other women, said he preferred blondes and considered himself quite attractive to women, testified Mrs. Jane Lanktree, 951 Pacific avenue, Alameda, wife of J. B. Lanktree, bond broker, in supporting the testimony of Mrs. Chrissie Boyd in her suit for divorce. Mrs. Boyd was granted a decree by Judge Dudley Kinsell, with custody of a son and $25 a month alimony. Mrs. Boyd resides at 1821 Derby street, Berkeley.

I could name 15 or 20 women he associated with," testified Mrs. Boyd. "In 1920 he took the last money he had and went to Sacramento. I heard he was running around with women, and just figured it was no use. I had had a kind of idealistic theory at first that we could just forget and kept forgiving and forgetting too much, I guess. Finally I figured that if there was any future for the boy I would have to make it."

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

First Reasonable Offer Above the Mortgage Will Be Accepted

Re-enforced concrete construction throughout—patent hollow wall construction assures warmth in winter and coolness in summer—only home in Oakland constructed in this manner. Patentee went broke building this magnificent home; his idea was all right, but the cost of construction too great. In Europe they build with stone to last for centuries. This splendid residence, built of re-enforced concrete, is fireproof, quakeproof, and also will last for centuries. It is located in the Lake district on Excelsior Boulevard, on a broad, sunny 90-foot corner lot, convenient to Key Route transportation. Originally it was offered for sale at $30,000—make us an offer above the $15,000 mortgage. This is a genuine foreclosure sale and no reasonable offer above the mortgage will be turned down.

HOWARD USED CARS
Who pays the automobile factory its profit?

Who pays the dealer his profit?

Who pays the government the automobile war tax?

Who pays the freight charges on a car?

These are the four big "tacked on" extras that every new automobile must carry before you get it. But who pays it? The new car buyer, of course. Who saves this heavy burden? The USED CAR buyer. We sell USED CARS not for profit but as a means of increasing our new car business. The more used cars we sell the more new cars we sell. Good, high-grade used cars are more dependable than cheap new ones; first, because they cost no more to build, and next—because they carry no extras, no profits, no "water." We claim it is economy to buy a good USED CAR—FROM US.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

First Reasonable Offer Above the Mortgage Will Be Accepted

Re-enforced concrete construction throughout—patent hollow wall construction assures warmth in winter and coolness in summer—only home in Oakland constructed in this manner. Patentee went broke building this magnificent home; his idea was all right, but the cost of construction too great. In Europe they build with stone to last for centuries. This splendid residence, built of re-enforced concrete, is fireproof, quakeproof, and also will last for centuries. It is located in the Lake district on Excelsior Boulevard, on a broad, sunny 90-foot corner lot, convenient to Key Route transportation. Originally it was offered for sale at $30,000—make us an offer above the $15,000 mortgage. This is a genuine foreclosure sale and no reasonable offer above the mortgage will be turned down.

HOWARD USED CARS

Who pays the automobile factory its profit?

Who pays the dealer his profit?

Who pays the government the automobile war tax?

Who pays the freight charges on a car?

These are the four big "tacked on" extras that every new automobile must carry before you get it. But who pays it? The new car buyer, of course. Who saves this heavy burden? The USED CAR buyer. We sell USED CARS not for profit but as a means of increasing our new car business. The more used cars we sell the more new cars we sell. Good, high-grade used cars are more dependable than cheap new ones; first, because they cost no more to build, and next—because they carry no extras, no profits, no "water." We claim it is economy to buy a good USED CAR—FROM US.

Under this triangle of satin lining

lies the real foundation of your F&C overcoat!

Foreman & Clark have offset the rise in clothing costs, not by increasing retail prices or decreasing factory standards, but by winning and holding the confidence of the public, by gaining 100,000 new customers in 1922, and 200,000 in 1923, by opening new stores in St. Paul and Des Moines, by opening a great new factory at Troy, New York, by multiplying retail volume, multiplying factory output, cutting down overhead and absorbing the advance in clothing costs.

A—Pliable Belgian canvas coat body, instead of stiff cotton canvas.

C—One-eighth inch lock-stitch lapel, three fine rows of parallel threads, instead of one or two.
D—Hand-shaped, hand-felled, one-piece collar.
E—Inverted V-curve coat skeleton supporting lower area of skirt, as human muscles support the body.
F—Duo-stitched, triple-braced pocket flap, double strength against sagging and tearing.

We build them by hand in our factories—we sell them direct to you in our own upstairs stores.

Trade Upstairs and Save $10

Find the Foreman & Clark label in an overcoat and you find Foreman & Clark quality through and through the garment. Not only fine woolens. Not only smart style. Not only clean fit and smooth drape and good looks. Open up the coat and examine the inside. Note the beautiful finish and handsome inner style. Both front edges double faced with four full inches of the overcoat material. Every seam double piped in pure silk satin. Both sleeves satin lined. Button holes stitched by hand. Big outside buttons anchored to little inside buttons. Note all that. Ask any merchant tailor what it means. Then note the most important thing of all—the yoke and quarter lining of pure silk satin, stitched by hand into the upper half of the garment, as shown in the triangle above. That triangle of satin covers the heart of your overcoat.

The vital inner front is underneath it. This is the famous human-muscle inner framework, designed for Foreman & Clark suits, transplanted into Foreman & Clark overcoats. It anchors the style, retains the shape, lengthens the life, doubles the value. It is built by hand from the purest linen canvas, the softest silver Hymo, the finest Belgian haircloth. It is the big Foreman & Clark improvement in overcoat construction. It is one more thing we do which others don't. Most makers have dropped even ordinary inner construction and lining from overcoats again this season, in a frantic desire to offset rising costs.
